In Brief...

Belleville's annual bicycle race is scheduled

Regardless of your age, if you think you are or could be a champion bicyclist, you will have the chance to prove it on Saturday, July 18, in Belleville's annual race.

On that day, youngsters and oldsters alike, will assemble in the parking lot of the old National Bank of Detroit building at 12:30 p.m. in preparation for their respective class races.

The race course will begin in front of the old City Hall, down to Roys Street, on to Church Street, then on to Third Street and back again to old Township Hall on Main Street.

Several divisions will be run, including ages 8-9, 10-11, 12-13, 14-15, 16-17, adult, and senior citizens. Trophies will be awarded to all winners and all participants will receive a prize.

The registration for entrants requires a signature which excludes the City of Belleville from any liability or responsibility for any harm resulting to competitors in the bicycle race.

New traffic light due for casualty corner

Ecorse and Haggerty roads, long the scene of many traffic accidents, including several fatalities, soon will have a new traffic control signal installed, according to word received by Supervisor Patricia Cullin.

A copy of a letter from the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners instructed The Detroit Edison Co. to erect a signal light of 2,100 watts at the corner.

Heavy traffic at the two-way stop has increased recently due to the entry and exit ramps of the new I-275 Expressway a few hundred feet east of the intersection.

Previously, motorists on Haggerty Road stopped for through traffic on Ecorse Road.

Low water levels prompt almost a hundred phone inquires

Nearly a hundred telephone calls to the clerk's office over the low level of water in Belleville Lake high lighted an otherwise routine week, according to Van Buren Township Clerk Doreen Craven.

Since April, 58 new voter registrations have been received as a direct result of citizens signing up at Secretary of State office on Main St., Belleville. During this same period, 13 cancellations were recorded, she said.

In other activities, employment applications increased, three Boy Scouts are performing various chores at township hall to earn a good citizenship badge and a girl student was hired on a part-time basis with the on-the-job training co-op program at Belleville High School.

Sumpter Twp. home repair grants

Grants for the repair of houses for single-family residents and senior citizens soon will become available under a Housing Rehabilitation Program being sponsored jointly by Sumpter Township and Wayne County.

Current plans call for Sumpter Township to commit about $50,000 in grants by midsummer of this year to residents in four areas. Area one is bounded by Lohr, Bemis, Harris and Elwell. Area two is the northeast corner of Harris and Sumpter. Area three is bounded roughly by Willis, Elwell, Judd and Sumpter Roads and Karr, Willow, Martinsville and Dunn comprise Area four.

Objective of the program is to provide funds for such home improvements necessary to bring houses up to building code requirements, including new roofs, furnace replacement or repair, porch repair, electrical or plumbing installation and other improvements.

All families living in these four areas are scheduled to receive an information handout from Sumpter Township Supervisor Robert Demski explaining eligibility requirements of the program. Additional information can be obtained by calling the supervisor's office at 697-0900.

Special needs help program labeled educational success

Keeping one step ahead of most school districts when it comes to providing special education, the Romulus Community Schools' "Special Needs Program" has been labeled a "success."

The "Special Needs Program", initiated to help and assist students whose grade level averages "D", has been in operation for more than two years.

"The program fills a variety of services for the student," said Henry L. McQueen, director of the program. "It provides supportive counseling, tutors, group leaders, oversees crews and individual in learning laboratories, technical demonstrations, reviews materials with students and follows up student problems."

McQueen pointed out that the Department of Education will, in the nearest future mandate all school districts to provide individual planning for these students.

"However, Romulus is ahead of this mandate," McQueen said. "Romulus is already screening students each year to find those who may need special assistance.

And, in order to catch a student in need earlier, Romulus is looking to the junior high schools in hopes of beginning such programs on those levels.

"We are anticipating the day when similar students in junior high may be given special assistance in personal adjustment and prevocational education," McQueen said. "This would provide disadvantaged and handicapped students with more academic and personal adjustments skills to make it through those difficult years of ninth and 10th grades.

"Furthermore, this program would strive to prevent students from getting turned off to the pace of secondary education," McQueen added.

Over the two year period, the Special Needs Program has served 228 students.

Although handicapped students receive Special Educational support, the Special Needs Program also provides assistance to the mentally and emotionally impaired, the crippled, the learning disabled, the hearing, speech and visually impaired and other health impaired students who, by reason of their handicapped condition, can't succeed in programs designed for students without such handicaps.

"It has been proven that students with low grade points, poor attitudes, and troublemakers, can be taught a skill and acquire jobs if we keep our goals student oriented," McQueen said.

At Romulus, the disadvantaged and handicapped are trained in the regular vocational education programs. They are not separated.

"We feel that these students, upon graduation, or dropping out, must also compete in the world, as normal people would, becoming responsible citizens, but must have marketable skills and should not enter the welfare lines, "McQueen said, "therefore, to separate them from the regular students would only set them further back in their academic growth and development of their vocational skills."

White Cane Fund Drive starts

Group will help identify development problems

By BOB AMEEN
ANP STAFF WRITER

If you have reason to believe that your child is not developing normally, free help is as close as your telephone.

Currently, the Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children (MSCCA) and Communities United for Action (CUFA) have combined forces in seeking out families of children from birth through 16 years of age who may have various types of physical and mental disorders.

Romulus and Sumpter Township are included in eight communities in which free evaluation, diagnosis, treatment and follow-up are provided at the MSCCA clinic, 17330 Schaefer, Detroit.

The two groups are faced with a two-fold task. First, identification of children with developmental disabilities, and second, beginning of comprehensive treatment for the child in his or her family.

Both organizations are seeking assistance from every available quarter in their search for afflicted youngsters.

Clues to abnormal child development are explained by Frank Lendzion, public health consultant for MSCCA.

"If your three-month-old child has problems following a moving object with his eyes, if he does not have good head control at six months old, if he is unable to say even the simplest word by the time he is about a year old, he may be exhibiting some early signs of a developmental lag that may denote a more serious problem.

"Many physical, mental and psychological deficits are not easily recognized. However, if the problem is identified soon enough, the result is often complete recovery. Most parents fail to realize the seriousness of developmental problems and their children suffer needlessly."

A pamphlet entitled, "Guide to the Developing Child," is available to families in the eight communities. Interested families are urged to call MSCCA and CUFA offices at 341-4900 and 292-2110, respectively.

To further assist parents who suspect their child is not developing normally, the MSCCA professional staff has scheduled a series of meetings with parents in the eight communities. In Romulus, the meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. July 12 at the City Hall, community room, 11111 Wayne Rd., and in Sumpter Township at 1 p.m. July 19 at the Pres-Cad Clinic, annex building, 24101 Sumpter Rd.

Cox gets cold shoulder

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP STaff Writer

Donald Cox, who wants to build a $200 million theme park, arena and convention center in Romulus feels he's getting a negative response from city officials.

The Milford developer appeared before the City Council last week even though he wasn't on the agenda. He wanted to show papers which purportedly show he has options or ownership of 600 acres north of I-94, where the complex is scheduled to be built.

But he didn't get the chance.

When it came to the Chairman's report, Mayor pro-tem Gerry Canejo turned the floor over to Councilwoman Beverly McAnally, who in turn introduced Cox. He proceeded to produce documents validating his claim to control of the 600 acres.

When Cox walked over to city attorney Robert Reese's table, Mrs. McAnally was overheard to say, "Do you want him (Cox) to get down on his knees?" When the papers were shown to Reese, the city attorney gave the opinion that it was neither the time nor place to review documents of this nature.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry then asked who recommended that Cox present the documents. Cox answered that Mrs. McAnally had invited him because of alleged negative comments against the Cox development quoted in local newspapers. Cox said he was seriously offended by the printed remarks and that he was "here in Romulus to stay." He then took his papers and left.

City Council took no action on Cox's presentation, but a citizen criticized what she called "adverse criticism and comments by certain administration officials. Mrs. Jean Voight, speaking during open discussion time, commented that she was concerned about the adverse criticism by certain administration officials, privately and publicly, in the news media against the Cox development.

City Clerk Leonard Folmar responded that comments, public or private, were made by honest officials who may be conservative or liberal in their views.

"This is natural and the city is just taking a wait and see attitutde about the development," said Folmar. "Everyone is optimistic about such a development."

Later in the meeting, City Council approved unanimously the second reading of Chapter XIII, Article I, an ordinance approving the formation of the Economic Development Corporation of the City of Romulus.

The application will be sent to Lansing for approval and then Mayor James Stewart, with City Council's approval, will name the nine members to the EDC.

ANP names Wertz

ANP owner publisher, David J. Willett, has announced the appointment of Mr. Eugene Wertz to the newly created position of Director of Circulation.

Wertz comes to Associated from the News Herald of Wyandotte, Michigan, where he has spent the last 20 years keeping a watchful eye on the youngsters who are the backbone of any newspaper.

Prior to joining the News Herald, Wertz had spent four years with the Wayne Eagle as Circulation Manager between 1953, and 1957.

Associated Newspapers is proud to re-establish a close working relationship with Gene, a man who is held in high regard by both his carriers and his fellow workers.

Morris to quit board

Two four-year seats on the Romulus School Board will be up for grabs in the June 13 election, with three candidates officially in the race.

Not running for the first time in 30 years, except for a two year lapse, is Carl Morris, prominent Romulus businessman long active in civic functions.

Candidates for the two board slots are: Gloria Chandler, incumbent, 9261 Ozga; William Kent, 15605 Harriet; and Wayne Avery, 9660 Essex, all of Romulus.

"It's time to retire," explained Morris, when questioned as to his reasons for giving up the long-held board post.

The 61-year-old businessman is chairman of the board of the Huron Valley Oil Co., a corporation he formed with his son and a business partner. He has been associated with the oil business for 26 years.

Morris' other civic responsibilities include: continuous 20 years of service with the Wayne County Intermediate School Board; one of two people's representative for five years from Romulus to the People Community Hospital Authority; co-chairman for eight years of the federal legislative committee of the Michigan Association of School Boards.

In state-wide campaign

FOP tells children: Don't go with strangers

A massive personal safety educational program aimed at elementary school children across the state has been established by the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police (FOP).

Armed with one simple direct message — "Kids, Don't Go With Strangers!" — FOP members are intent on distributing hundreds of thousands of bumper stickers and copies of a 16-page story booklet and an 8-page coloring book in schools throughout Michigan.

"While the bumper stickers will call attention to the effort, these booklets should go a long way toward helping parents impress their children with the inherent dangers in going with a stranger," said Jack Brown, past president of the State FOP. He is a lieutenant with the Ferndale police force and also serves on the Board of Directors of the National FOP.

Brown explained that the two booklets are designed to make a lasting impression upon a child without arousing undue anxiety by dealing with the question of the stranger in a clear, open, intelligent and non-sexual way.

While the concern of parents is at a high level because of the recent violent crimes against children, the experience of the FOP, according to Brown, is that they oftentime deal with the topic ineffectively.

"They do want to warn their youngsters, but fear it will frighten them. That's where these professionally-created materials really help," he added. "It was that fear that convinced us to give this needed community service project our best effort now.

"If we can help save one youngster's life, then the time, effort and cost will certainly be worthwhile."

He explained that there are more than 450,000 kindergarten through sixth grade youngsters in the Metropolitan Detroit area along with nearly another 700,000 statewide.

"The cost incurred in launching a program of this magnitude so as to reach each and every child in the state is a tremendous task," he said. "The FOP is especially appreciative and would like to recognize the support of the Michigan National Banks and the Marathon Oil Co. who are underwriting much of the initial funding of this program.

"But the total project can only be accomplished through the help of additional community-minded businesses across the state, who we will be seeking out."

The first booklet, intended for the 3-6 grade level, will be available at all branches of the Michigan National Bank in the metropolitan area. It is a 16-page full color illustrated story book, entitled "Don't Go With Strangers." Written by Birmingham attorney Arthur Greenstone, it was favorably publicized recently on the Walter Cronkite national television news show.

Marathon Oil Co. is providing the 8-page coloring and game book, entitled "The Riddle of the Friendly Stranger", which is intended for the lower elementary grades, K-3.

The FOP also will distribute bumper stickers with the message "Kids — Don't Go With Strangers" along with one of the two booklets to all elementary school youngsters. Once the tri-county distribution has begun, the program will swing state-wide to be handled by the more than 60 FOP lodges in the state.

The Michigan Fraternal Order of Police is a statewide association of some 8,000 law enforcement officers dedicated to greater police professionalism. The organization was founded in the state in 1942.

Edgemont has own 'service'

A new program at Edgemont Elementary School is meeting with such success that more than half of all fifth graders are volunteering.

Called Edgemont's Service Club, the group assists teachers each Friday afternoon in such diverse activities as helping with bulletin boards, reading to and listening to students, helping with school lessons and teaching group games during recess.

Currently, all of Edgemont's teachers from kindergarten to fifth grade, have one or two helpers.

Helpers are encouraged to be independent and to exercise responsibility in fulfilling assigned jobs. After four weeks of working with their teacher, students have a choice of remaining as helpers or to take part in either volleyball or study hall activities under other instructors.

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The Arabs call it "Beledi"; the Americans know it as "belly dancing".

But, whatever it is called and in any language when one sees the exotic Middle Eastern dancers, one is bound to stop and watch.

The young and attractive dancer will instruct classes in technique and choreography for six weeks, beginning tomorrow.

"There is much more to this dance than just wiggling your belly," said Hahleemah, who is of Arabic descent. "Most people don't appreciate the skill that is required to master this art."

Hahleemah, who had been performing since she was 5 years old, noted that "the Beledi dancer must isolate and control every part of her body — hips, arms, hands, shoulders, head — and every part must respond perfectly at just the right moment and in time to the music.

"It's really very subtle, and the belly is just one small part of a very complex whole," Hahleemah added.

Hahleemah is trained and has performed extensively not only in Middle Eastern dance, but also in ballet, gymnastics, modern dance and theatre before her first public performance of Beledi in 1973 at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit.

Registration will be accepted for the classes at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road, or by mail. More information is available by calling the recreation department at 699-2001 or the instructor at 697-7415.

Classes will be held in the cafeteria of North Junior High School, located at 47097 McBride, north of I-94, between Quirk Road and Beck Road. Each 6-week session is $24. Non-residents within the Van Buren School District must pay $1 extra and all other non-residents will have an additional $5.

Come dance with me

The curvaceous Hahleemah believes that there is more to "belly dancing" that meets the eye — and she'll get no argument from these parts. Anyway, Hahleemah will be instructing classes in the Middle Eastern dance and persons interested should register at the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Sheriff arraigns man on charge of assault

A Belleville man is being held under $25,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to murder following his arraignment Monday in 34th District Court in Romulus.

John Ray Corbin, 19, Belleville, was accused of stabbing Robert Earl Darnell, also of Romulus, at an amusement arcade near Goddard and Olive streets early Friday morning, according to Sgt. Ron Brown of the Wayne County Sheriffs Department.

The officer said police investigation discovered the two men apparently had argued in the arcade and Corbin left. However, he returned later and allegedly stabbed Darnell in the stomach.

Darnell was taken to Wayne County General Hospital for treatment. Brown said he had been taken out of the intensive care unit Monday and is expected to recover.

The officer said Corbin fled after the stabbing, however, police arrested him at a bar a few miles away where they had staked out his car. Witnesses reportedly told police Corbin had taken the license plates off his car after the incident and drove off.

Officers found the car, watched it and nabbed Corbin when he came out of the bar.

Following his arraignment before Judge John Seiler, he was remanded to custody of the Wayne County Sheriff in lieu of bond.

Bonnie Bunny

Making a perfect Easter bunny for the children's party recently at Sheraton Motel Inn is Bonnie Lozier, secretary of Romulus Mayor James Stewart. Approximately 150 youngsters were treated to entertainment, excitement and refreshment in the 2-hour event, which was sponsored by Herb Singerman, manager of International Clam Shops, which operates the banquet room at the Inn. Here Bonnie, her bunny, shows her Easter basket to Tracy McGraw (left) and Kimberly Fernandez, two 9-year-olds who attend St. Aloysius School in Romulus. — ANP photo.

More than 150 Romulus school children were treated to an "exciting" Easter party recently with all kinds of treats, including a visit from the Easter bunny.

Sponsored by Herb Singerman, manager of International Clam Shops, the party was held at Sheraton Motor Inn and provided hot dogs, hamburgers, pop and potato chips for the youngsters, which ranged in age from 5 to 12 years.

In addition to the eats, several other "goodies' were handed out to the children. MacDonald's donated a bag to each youngster, containing stationary, cookies and several other items. The Wayne County Sheriff's Department, which bused the children to the Sheraton from St. Aloysius Elementary School, gave away pens, American flag pins and a 5-star badge with the words: "Sheriff Lucas" on it.

Musical entertainment was provided by The Woodman's, an entertainment duo, who kept the children laughing and singing, and by The Fernandez Girls, eight students from Romulus, led by Frances Fernandez, who refer to themselves as old-fashioned religion singers.

Several others spoke to the kids. Wayne County Sheriff Sr. Insp. Richard Novak reminded them to obey their parents and teachers. Frankie Jean Clemens of Van Buren Township, gave each child a cellophane wrapped giant bean seed from the Pacific island of New Guinea. She described how the seed, which is larger than a pumpkin seed, should be planted and how big it grows.

Romulus Mayor James Stewart attended the festivities, along with some other city hall employees who helped oversee the event. Bonnie Lozier, the mayor's secretary, made a perfect bunny, dressed in a floppy-eared, white outfit.

Helping serve were Insps. Richard Winder and Robert Sullivan of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. They were assisted by Romulus Police Reserves Sgt. Ron Brown, Laurence Allcorn, Gertrude Noeyack and Julie Nordstrom.

Singerman also thanked Al Selick, a candy manufacturer representative, who donated candy for everyone when he read of the party in a metropolitan daily newspaper.

Looking out over the full banquet room, jammed with excited, chattering children, Singerman said: "It gives me a big thrill to do something for these kids. They really mean a lot to me."

Most of the children were from Romulus' St. Aloysius School, with others coming from a few of the public schools in the city.

Blood drive head says

Roll up your sleeve, give

There is a serious need for people to donate blood.

Due to the shortage, a Red Cross Bloodmobile will be set up from 1 to 7 p.m. Monday at St. Aloysius School Hall, 37200 Neville, Romulus.

Helping Hand, a Romulus non-profit group under the direction of Florence Klein, is sponsoring the bloodmobile along with the Red Cross.

"We encourage everyone to participate in the area-wide blood donor program," said Mrs. Klein, area-wide chairperson. She is co-ordinating every company, agency and group in Romulus in an effort to get the much-needed blood.

Romulus groups that already have set up a contact person and phone number include: Header's Products, Marilyn Cummer, 941-2220; Romulus city employees, Gail Youtsey, 941-0666; Wesleyan Church, Grace Chamberlain, 697-7300; Romulus Education Association, Robert Broch, 941-2170; St. Aloysius Catholic Church, Florence Klein, 941-5323; Romulus school administrators, Doreen McEvily, 941-1600; 34th District Court, Jody, 941-4462; Help Center, Linda Moring, 941-7970; Romulus Fire Department, Chief Wilhide, 941-0666; Helping Hand Inc., Lois M. Sweet, 941-5329; Church of God, The Rev. Lawson, 729-7243; Romulus Schools AFSCME No. 64, Mrs. Moody, 941-1600; and St. Aloysius, Beverly, 941-1788.

Mrs. Klein said: "We hope that everyone who is eligible will donate so that all employees or members will be able to get blood for the following: 1) All group members; 2) their spouses; 3) their children under 18; 4) children over 18 unable to donate; 5) parents and parents-in-law; 6) grandparents and grandparents-in-law; and 7) brothers and sisters of single members."

Mrs. Klein added that persons unable to donate blood at this time may donate any time during the year and have their donation credited to their particular blood donor program.

Another urgent project of Helping Hand is to assist the unfortunate flood victims of eastern Kentucky by sending them personal items, household goods and furnishings, including appliances. Other needy items are toiletries, blankets, sheets, pillow cases and canned food.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hatcher of Romulus have just returned from the flood-stricken area and said: "It is a pitiful sight to see. All the people's homes are messed up and some are torn up and washed away. Food prices have almost doubled since the flood. We need to help them very much."

Richard Goode, principal of Merriman E'ementary School, is chairman for the Romulus schools as they participate in the drive to help the Kentucky residents. Drop-off point in Romulus is 35257 Goddard Road, by the Romulus Dog Pound.

'We the People' seeks more citizen involvement

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Some 200 years ago a group of Rebel Americans sat down and wrote a proclamation which began, "We the People" and from it was born a new nation, the United States.

Now, a group of Romulus residents have banded together in hopes of bringing about some positive change in the city. They have drafted the name "We the People" as their rallying point.

"We feel that there is a need for citizen involvement in the problems of our city," said Midge Prybyla, who along with Grace Boc, is the spokesperson for the group. "This interest and involvement should come from the citizen himself rather than the politicians and the direction of our destiny should concern all of us."

Mrs. Boc pointed out: "We are not a political group and we will not, as a group, back any political candidate, however, we have formed this organization to help each other to be informed and to better understand the issues."

After studying the issues, the group then will work together in hopes of finding better solutions to "our problems and realistic answers to the many questions puzzling most of us now."

The "We the People" group plans to meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow night in the Romulus Public library, 11111 S. Wayne Road.

Some of the problems that the group hopes to get involved in will be clarification of the Romulus water and sewer rates, property assessments, Cogswell Park, the proposed sports arena and the rates for the sheriff's patrol.

More information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Prybyla 941-2356 or Mrs. Boc at 941-3891.

Who's the oldest in City of Romulus?

Who is the oldest senior citizen living in Romulus?

A committee of senior citizens will attempt to find the answer to that question so the city's oldest inhabitant can be honored during opening day festivities of Michigan Week, May 14-21.

Senior citizens will hold their program on Community Pride Day, May 14, and currently are soliciting help from city residents in their search for the oldest person living in Romulus.

Residents with helpful information are asked to send the name, address, telephone number and age of who they belive is the oldest resident to: Romulus Senior Citizen, care of Recreation Department, 36515 Bibbins St., Romulus 48174.

A contest for the best 500-word or less essay on "Why I'm proud to live in Romulus" also is being sponsored by the senior citizen committee. Entries which are open to persons af all ages, may also be sent to the recreation department.

6 persons arrested in narcotics raid

Six persons were arrested and 35 bags of suspected street-prepared heroin confiscated following a mid-afternoon raid last Tuesday by police at a private residence in Romulus.

About 10 members of the Metro Narcotics Squad of the Wayne County Sheriffs Department conducted the raid, following a stakeout of the house on Colorado Street, according to Sgt. Ron Brown.

He said two persons were arrested as they came out of the house. A search turned up 35 bags of the suspected heroin on both subjects and $1,200 in cash on one of the duo.

Officers obtained a search warrant and went into the dwelling where they arrested four more persons and found an additional $1,000 worth of suspected heroin, Brown said.

Police would not release the names of those arrested pending their arraignment in the 34th District Court in Romulus. Brown said two would be charged with possession with intent to deliver; while the remaining four persons were to be charged with possession of heroin.

However, Brown did disclose that one of the six persons arrested is reputed to be one of the biggest dope dealers in Romulus and now is awaiting trial on another drug charge.

Lions clubs ready for annual drive

Lions Club members will hit the streets of Belleville and Romulus in large numbers Monday to May 1 to collect money for their annual White Cane Week drive to aid the visually handicapped.

In Belleville, the local 4-H Club will turn out en masse to cooperate with Lions in covering all shopping areas and downtown streets, according to Chalmers "Chum" Stockwell, spokesman for the Belleville Lions Club.

"We're hoping to make this a banner year in collection, because of rising inflation and high costs," he said.

He explained that it now costs between $3,500 and $4,000 to provide the training and leader dog for one visually handicapped person.

In conjunction with the Belleville drive, a Sightmobile, parked near the Area Chamber of Commerce on Main Street will offer free eye examinations during the entire week.

In Romulus, Lions not only are conducting fund drives on city streets, but currently are engaged in a mailing campaign asking for funds from every household in the city, Stockwell said.

Explaining that Michigan was the first state in the Union to pass legislation permitting fund drives to aid the visually handicapped, Stockwell listed purchase of white canes themselves as the first priority of the annual drive.

Secondly, he noted, funds are earmarked for the Leader Dog School in Rochester, Welcome Home for the Blind in Grand Rapids, and the Penricton Nursery School for blind and handicapped children, ages 5 to 12, in Taylor.

State-wide, more than 30,000 Lions, from 500 clubs will participate in the annual white cane fund drive.

In the armed forces

Carter garners corporal's rank

Marine Lance Cpl. James C. Carter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Carter of 27608 New Castle, and whose wife, Dollie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Farr of 6189 Cordell, all of Romulus, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank while serving with the First Marine Division at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

He received the accelerated promotion in recognition of outstanding performance, duty proficiency and demonstrated professional abilitites.

A 1972 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, he joined the Marine Corps in February 1976.

Also in the armed forces:

Army Spec. 4 Peter J. Dunkley, whose wife, Sharon, lives at 13071 Homefield St., Romulus, recently participated in the Army Training and Evaluation Program at Hohenfels Air Training Center, Germany.

He and other members of the 1st Armoured Division were evaluated in combat readiness, maneuvers, airlift capability and operability of equipment and techniques.

The specialist entered the Army in April 1976.

Navy Chief Boatswain's Mate Lawrence G. Kangas, whose wife, Diana, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bush of Van Horn Road, New Boston, participated in the Sixth Fleet operation "National Week XXII".

"National Week XXII" was an 80-day exercise involving more than 30 Sixth Fleet ships, 18 aircraft squadrons and a Marine battalion landing team. The exercise included simulated combat operations, emphasizing antisubmarine and air defense, amphibious warefare and logistics support elements at seat.

He joined the Navy in April 1964.

Airman Curtis A. Greca, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Greca of 46912 Bemis Road, Belleville, has been asigned to Randolph Air Force Base, Tex., for duty in the U.S. Air Force transportation field.

The airman who recently completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of that training earned him credits toward an associate of applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Navy Machinist's Mate 3.c. Alexander T. Koppert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Koppert of 11084 Quirk Road, Belleville, has completed the Basic Machinist's Mate Course.

During the course at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill., he received instruction on the use of hand tools and machine shop equipment. In addition he studied the basic operation, maintenance and repair of ships' propulsion equipment, evaporators and generators. Koppert also was introduced to the types of duty watches that machinist's mates stand aboard ships.

A 1976 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Navy in October 1976.

And for you....

Everybody had an exciting time last Thursday when Herb Singerman, manager of International Clam Shops at Sheraton Motor Inn, Romulus, treated approximately 150 elementary school students in the banquet room. Several visiting guests entertained the youngsters, including The Woodman's, a musical duet which had the kids laughing and singing along with them. In addition to some Wayne County Sheriff's Romulus Reserves helped serve the youngsters. Handing out gifts to the eager kids was Romulus Reserve Officer Julie Nordstrom.—ANP photo.

'Garden doctor' has tips on fertilizing shade trees

Q: How can I fertilize the shade tree in my yard?

A: Use any high-nitrogen lawn-type fertilizer (24-8-8, 20-10-5 or 16-8-8). Don't use one containing a herbicide. Use 3 lbs. of a 10 percent nitrogen fertilizer or 1½ lbs. of a 20 percent nitrogen fertilizer for each inch of trunk diameter, measured at chest height, if the tree is 6 inches or larger. For trees under 6 inches use half of the above amount.

Make a circle of holes around the tree two feet away from the trunk. These holes should be 15 inches deep and 2 feet apart. Then make a concentric circle of holes 2 feet farther away from the trunk. Continue making concentric circles of 15-inch deep holes until they extend a foot or two beyond the branch spread. Divide the predetermined amount of fertilizer among these holes.

Q: Should I lime my garden soil each year as I'm working in the fertilizer?

A: Don't lime any soil here in Wayne County unless you have soil tests results that show an acid condition. Most soils in this area already are alkaline and adding lime may cause alkalinity to the degree that nutrients would become chemically unavailable to the plants.

Q: When can I plant strawberries?

A: Plant strawberries in the spring as soon as the soil can be properly prepared. Choose a well-drained site that has full sun. Spread organic matter over the bed. Spade the soil deeply and work the soil until it's thorougly pulverized. Set plants so the crown is level with the soil surface. Firm the soil around the roots and water throughly.

Q: Our juniper shrubs have been diagnosed as having juniper scale. Can a dormant spray be used for this:

A: Yes, a dormant oil spray or a lime sulfur spray can be used before any new growth begins. Apply according to label directions.

Q: The citrus plants we grew from orange and grapefruit seeds have brown blister-like bumps on the leaves and they feel sticky. Is this an insect?

A: Yes, this sounds like scales. which are a common problem on citrus. Wash the plant with soapy water, dislodging as many of the scales as you can. Repat the washing if new scales appear. If these are large plants, too cumbersome for washing, a malathion spray may be used.

Artists at work

At the very end of the production line, when constructing sailboats, is the careful job of painting the crafts in seaworthy colors. County restructures public works board

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has restructured the County Board of Public Works, changing it from a 3-member body controlled by the Road Commission to a 7-member group under direct authority of the county commissioners.

Since 1968 by resolution of the former Board of Supervisors from which the Board of Commissioners evolved, the Public Works Board has consisted of the same members serving concurrently on the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC).

The new arrangement, approved April 12, provides for only one road commissioner, the county drain commissioner, and five members of the governing County Board of Commissioners.

It also requires that four of the members must reside in the proposed wastewater control districts under the planned Huron Valley Wastewater Control System, — basically, Western Wayne County — and that the remaining three will be appointed to represent the county at-large.

The Board of Public Works is responsible for sewer and water systems and garbage disposal in the county and has been authorized by the Board of Commissioners to seek federal and state funds for design and construction of the Huron Valley system.

County Commissioners on the new public works board are Chester Wozniak from Hamtramck, Richard E. Manning of Redford and William Sullivan of Wyandotte, all appointed for 3-year terms.

Appointed for 2-year terms are County Commissioners George F. Killeen of Detroit and Clarence R. Young, representing southwest Detroit, Ecorse and River Rouge.

The continuing WCRC member, Freddie G. Burton, was appointed for a 1-year term. Charles N. Youngblood, county drain commissioner, will serve indefinitely since state statute requires restructured public works boards to include the current drain commissioner.

According to most members of the County Board of Commissioners, the new structue of the public works board will attract more federal dollars, and because elected officials are involved, will be more responsive to citizen needs.

In approving the new structure, the commissioners at the same meeting also authorized the Public Works Board to file applications with the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency and the State Water Resources Commission for funds to design, construct and operate the Huron Valley Wastewater Treatment System.

It is expected that the project will reduce sewage rates in certain area, improve water quality and increase land values.

Also at the meeting the County Commissioners decided not to discuss a report from the new jail construction subcommittee, regarding proposed relocation of the site planned for a new jail in downtown Detroit.

The report, in which the County Board of Auditors opposed change from the present site planned near Greektown, was referred to the Ways and Means Committee for more study and recommendation.

County Board Chairman John Barr of Dearborn Heights after the meeting said the commissioners would continue with present plans already approved by the board and would not consider a possible change until the next Wayns and Means meeting tomorrow.

Barr said by then he expects that the committee will be able to study decisions by Detroit City Council, the Detroit Planning Commission and City Board of Zoning Appeals, which also have the relocation proposal under study.

He emphasized that the commissioners do not have to make further decisions for the present plan to proceed and he implemented. If present plans continue, construction will begin this month, he pointed out.

Getting it straight

Cutting wood is a precise business, especially is you're only one part of a production line that depends on each individual's work to get the total product done. Fifth grader Sam Wallace and his class at Merriman Elementary School in Romulus worked on the production line system as part of a career education program recently. Sam was in charge of cutting wood for sailboats, and he took his job quite seriously. — ANP photo.

Red Cross Youth Programs has begun recruiting young people for summer volunteer programs in the Dearborn area.

Students 14 years or older may choose summer assignments from a variety of Red Cross services which include volunteer work in hospitals; convalescent, rehabilitation and medical centers; health department clinics; Head Start; Easter Seal Day Camp; Red Cross Youth blood units; and special blood needs calling.

Volunteer assignments are made on a first come — first serve basis, and interested young people should apply in person at the Red Cross West Regional office, Village Plaza Shopping Center, 23400 Michigan Avenue, Dearborn.

Volunteers and staff will be available to answer questions and assist students with a selection of assignments from 2-4:30 p.m. May 25 and 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. June 8.

Responsive public officials—a possibility

Action taken this week by the Westland City Council provides a view of elected officials that has been sadly missing from our communities for quite awhile.

On the agenda for that council meeting was the report from the Westland Local Officers Compensation Commission, concerning their1977 recommendations of salaries for elected officials.

The pay board's report included a proposed increase for the mayor, from his current $28,000 to $31,000, and proposed increases for the council members from their current $3,600 to $3,800, with the council president reciving an additional $200 per year also.

Unlike many of their colleagues in surrounding communities, The Westland council made the decision to vote on the pay raises itself rather than hide behind the protective cover of the compensation commission, and in the words of one councilman, "Allow the citizens of the community to identify the position of each of the council members."

Our hat is off to those Westland officials who had the courage to let the buck stop where it should, in their laps. We are fully aware of the fact that during the course of normal business there are many tough decision that our elected officials must make, but none of them can be as difficult as taking a public position on an issue as volatile as pay increases.

It is to the credit of those Westland officials that they chose not the easy way to handle that issue, but the right way.

At a time in this country's history when the very word politician has become synonymous with dirty tricks and special interests, it is particularly satisfying for the citizens to be able to look with some pride on the actions of their own elected officials and rest in the knowledge that those officials have not forgotten from whom their real power has been derived.

While the fact that the Westland officials did not hide behind the skirts of the pay board on this occasion is certainly gratifying to their hard-pressed constituents, the fact that the pay board exists at all is cause for some concern.

If council's action of this week is truly an indication of their regard for the principle of representative government, maybe their next move should be to throw out the pay board concept entirely.

With the clear-cut evidence of insiduous decay occuring at the roots of our democracy, it becomes vitally important for anyone given the 'public trust' to make every effort to avoid the slightest appearance of being unresponsive to the wishes of those who have elected them to office. Pay boards provide one of the best examples of an attempt to circumvent public opinion.

A compensation commission or pay board is never necessary when public officials are doing the job they were elected to do. It is only when those officials have lost sight of their real responsibility to their community that it then becomes necessary for them to erect a shield between them and the citizens.

Abe Lincoln once said, "The world will little note nor long remember what we do here....," but the world did remember. And any move by elected officials to narrow the widening chasm between themselves and the citizens will also be remembered.

If it is is true that one has a responsibility to be missed after he is gone, and we believe it is true, then one must accept the responsibility of doing the job the right way, not just the quickest or selfishly — motivated way.

'Bald Eagle' speaks

By BOB AMEEN

Having experienced a recent traumatic divorce under Michigan's no-fault divorce statutes,, I feel qualified to expound, in layman's terms, on America's latest concept of severing marital ties.

Prior to my divorce, I had heard the term no-fault applied to both divorce and to car insurance. I also knew, from newspapers, that both were new to the Michigan scene.

I was in for a rude awakening! Part way through my own case, my eyes opened to several facts that were downright shocking!

For example, a defendant under no-fault divorce has no recourse in the court of civil law, to stop the divorce from being granted, save for a change of heart by the plaintiff.

In other words, anyone can get a divorce simply by asking for it, and the other party in the action is absolutely helpless to stop it, nor has he or she been granted anything in the state statutues to fall back on for support.

I was stunned to say the least! The opposite is true in a court of criminal law where everything favors the defendant, from all sort of legal dodges and maneuvers to a guilty verdict hinging upon the prosecution providing its case "beyond a reasonable doubt" or by "preponderance of evidence," etc.

Unfortunately, that is not the case in the civil courts handling no-fault divorces. All the plaintiff has to allege in his or her suit and swear to before a circuit court judge, is that the marriage relationship has broken down and that there is no hope of it being mended. It's just that simple! Take my word for it!

Getting a divorce in Michigan is as easy as buying a box of popcorn at the movie theater, the only difference being that divorce costs more. In my own case, not wanting the divorce in the first place, I felt frustrated and cheated. Here, I lived in the freest and greatest society in the world and I was as helpless as a newborn babe to do anything to fight my wife's divorce suit.

I could not understand why the various religious denominations did not fight no-fault tooth and nail. From what I had been taught in school and in the few times I attended Sunday school and church, the concept of handing out divorces in such a cut and dry manner goes against the very moral fibre of what Christianity teaches about the sanctity and permanance of the marriage vows. Possibly, the churches did put up some kind of battle, but I do not recall any big hue and cry over no-fault on the page of Michigan newspapers or in the editorial opinions expressed by major television stations.

On the converse side, the young lawyer who I retained, along with many of his peers, favor the new concept because it prevents "someone from being forced to live with another person against their will."

Since my divorce, I've felt, maybe selfishly, that some lawyers like no-fault because it makes legal proceedings so much simpler and quicker. Quite simply, it's an easier way to make a buck than under the older statutes.

A saving grace under no-fault is that the suit can be stalled if one wants to spend the money. I was informed I could delay granting of the divorce by six months, possibly a year, if I wanted to lay out $1,500! Having lived previously on two incomes, I was in no financial position to afford such a large expenditure.

Also, if child custody and property settlement is involved, divorce cases under no-fault can be stretched out to a year, even longer, I was told.

In my own situation, my wife was granted a divorce only six and a half weeks after she filed suit in Oakland County! I discovered later that she moved there from Wayne County to take advantage of Oakland's even faster disposition of divorce cases. In Wayne County, normal minimum time for getting a divorce is six months, if the defendant does not answer the complaint, and if no children or property is involved. In Oakland County, a two-month delay is the minimum under similar circumstances. However, in Oakland County, a divorce can be obtained in 20 days if the divorce complaint is not answered!

Although he had handled many divorce cases, my lawyer told me afterwards that my divorce case was the shortest he had encountered. Even he was amazed at how swiftly it had taken place!

In reflecting on my divorce and others I knew first hand, one glaring obvious fault of no-fault quickly came to mind — that of persons filing for divorce who are not thinking rationally because of a mental disorder or from over-wrought due to a physical ailment.

What about women who have had a recent hysterectomy, some of who change so drastically in attitude and behavior that even close friends hardly know them? What about husbands or wives who suffer from a brain tumor, often resulting in marked irrational thinking and behavior? The list could go on and on.

No-fault divorce should be wiped from the state statutes and should be replaced by a more ethical and fair way of determining if husband and wife should be parted forever. Rather than leave it entirely in the hands of legislators.

The Governor should appoint a committee of persons representing a broad spectrum of society. Possibly, they could come up with recommendations for a solution to this age-old dilemma more in line with the thinking of our churches.

On the brighter side

The 'Woodshed' revisited

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

I read in a nearby weekly newspaper about a father's avid interest in his teenage son's quickly compiled collection of lumber and other material used in the building of new homes. He watched in amazement as the youth slipped into homes under construction and carried home armloads of material.

He confronted his son with the evidence and drove him to the police station. The police chief praised the parent for such integrity and fortitude and released the youth in his father's care. Reading that story made my day.

"The rod and reproof give wisdom: but a child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame. Correct thy son, and he shall give thee rest; yea, he shall give delight unto thy soul."
(Proverbs 29:15, 17).

The great need of America today is to straighten out the parents. Most of the delinquency committed by teenagers is attributable to unstable fathers and mothers. Father has abdicated his throne of authority in the home and has been demoted to a flabby figurehead who lets mother hand out the punishment as well as most of the training and upbringing.

Alternately ignored, pampered, petted, and left to roam, the children of today grow up in the nebulous quagmire of indecision.

The double standard, moral looseness and just plain ungodliness and slothfulness fill the void left by the vacuum of vacated values. Where is the old fashioned teaching of initiative, responsibility, hard work, pride of accomplishment, respect for another's property and views, and especially, a love for God?

No child will ever truly respect authority, whether it be vested in parents, police teachers, or government until they have first learned reverence for the highest authority — God.

Our pseudo-psychologists who teach that children should be allowed to bent their emotions in any way they choose — even if destructive — have holes in their heads. Not too long ago, a news story told of a visiting English schoolmaster who said that parents who spank their children are vicious malcontents, displaying their life's anger and frustrations by beating their offspring. Hogwash!

My father spanked me when I was a child and I'm glad he did— now! Not then. But those "trips to the woodshed", while thinning the skin on my posterior, added respect for authority. And it has lasted with me to this day. A good spanking never hurt anything but a little pride.

Now, I'm not talking about so-called parents who in a drunken rage beat their children senseless, or those so controlled by anger they brutally whip cowering offspring into raw-red bloody pulps. The trouble with much of the correction today is that tired, irritable parents who stayed up too late, had too much to drink, or have been fighting between themselves yell incoherently and demand obedience when actually they deserve none.

Very few people ever mature. The vast majority of adults, as far as I am concerned, are but older children. They've never passed the stage of adolescence and their only claim of parental qualification is their long experience in the trial-and-error method.

Our high schools, colleges and universities are beseiged today by young men and women who want to rule rather than learn. They want to dictate policy and they slander anyone who raised a qualified and judicious hand to guide them without their "approval".

No one is ready to give instructions and orders until he has first felt the sweat beads form on his brow in labor dictated by a superior. In other words, to be qualified to lead you must first bear the yoke of answered orders yourself.

America rose to greatness because each succeeding generation was taught the dignity of individualism and the rewards of hard work. Fathers and mothers raised their children in former days with a Bible in one hand and the rod of authority in the other.

And how God blessed!

Can ayone, in complete candor, look at the unrestrained freedom given today's younger generation and say they are better off because of it? I pray that we will, as a nation, restore father to his rightful place as head of the home, honor mother as she should be honored, and see that children are in subjection to their parents and authority.

When will we learn that truly, "the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world." (William Ross Wallace).

People working together

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

During those dreary days of 1941 to 1945 which marked the time of American participation in World War II, an interesting social phenomenon was taking place: people were leaving the City of Detroit, and new residents by the thousands were being imported to work in the war effort.

An entire community was constructed in Nankin Township — now called the City of Westland — which was thought originally to be a temporary arrangement to house people working at the bomber plant in Ypsilanti and other war production facilities.

Some 1900 units were constructed and were almost immediately filled with residents. The area began to grow faster than any had anticipated, and it soon became obvious that some system of delivering health care services was needed.

In those days, once you crossed Telegraph Road coming west, the only hospitals available — until you came to Ann Arbor — were the old Wyandotte General and Wayne County (called Eloise). There did exist a very few small, privately owned facilities; but these were simply too small to handle the influx of people invading the, until then, sleepy little townships and villages dotting the landscape.

A group of businessmen soon recognized that potential catastrophe was being courted and that some serious consideration must be given to providing health care facilities.

Hence, this group established a non-profit corporation which they called the People Community Hospital, Inc. — a group which obviously was the precursor of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA).

The PCH businessmen were originally approached by the US Department of Public Health — it was actually the Chamber of Commerce in the Village of Wayne which was approached — and were told that if a proper group of citizens was formed, the Public Health people would attempt to secure a Federal grant to assist in constructing a hospital.

As a result of Public Health's interest, the physicians practicing in the area were each asked to attend a special meeting and bring with them a layman to discuss the formation of the non-profit organization. This meeting was held in Wayne on January 6, 1943 and the People Community Hospital, Inc. was incorporated.

A grant was obtained from the Federal Works Agency, and Building 'B' — next to Seymour Hospital on the grounds of Eloise — was remodelled and equipped to serve as a hospital. The building was opened on December 10, 1944.

This temporary hospital was continued until February 1, 1946. During that time, better than 2500 patients received services, 439 babies were born, and over 700 surgical procedures were performed. The temporary hospital shared services with Seymour Hospital (no longer standing) by using Seymour's operating room, delivery service, kitchen facilities, and laundry. Perhaps the concept of shared services which we hear so much of today is not really all that new!

When it became apparent that the 71-bed hospital in 'B' building was not adequate to support the communities, one of the original incorporators and board members, Charles B. Cozadd, went to Lansing and proposed a State law which would create an authority-type statute for the construction and operation of hospitals. Cozadd, who remains today as legal counsel for PCHA, reasoned that as long as water works, electrical facilities, power plants, and rubbish disposal authorities existed, why not a hospital authority?

Cozadd's arguments were persuasive, and he in fact wrote the statute in 1945 — it is properly known as Public Act 47 which is enabling legislation allowing "... two or more cities, townships, and incorporated villages ... to incorporate a hospital authority ... for operating one or more community hospitals..."

Public Act 47 became law in 1945. Thus, the board of the original PCH group, in a meeting on July 10, 1945, passed a resolution inviting the governing bodies of the Western Wayne County communities to pass the necessary resolutions to create the hospital authority now allowed under Michigan law.

A month later (August 7, 1945) the Village Commission of Wayne passed a resolution to initiate the procedures to form an authority. The Village Commission of Inkster and the Nankin Township Board quickly followed Wayne's lead and passed similar resolutions. Next, the Townships of Dearborn, Romulus, Taylor, Sumpter, and Huron and the Village of Flat Rock moved in the same fashion and the PCHA was assured of its first nine charter members.

The final organization meeting was held on November 8, 1945, and PCHA became an official State entity.

The PCHA has grown from those first 71 beds in 'B' building to 1240 beds including a mental health service. These 1240 beds are found in five modern, short-term, acute-care, hospitals from Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti, to Annapolis in Wayne, to Outer Drive in Lincoln Park, to Heritage in Taylor, to Seaway in Trenton.

To the Editor:

I have been disturbed and saddened by the recent personal attack by the Belleville Enterprise on the elected officials of Van Buren Township. I fully recognize the responsibility of any newspaper to speak out on any subject which they feel are important to the citizens of the communities they service, no matter what the topic or whom it may effect. But in turn any newspaper which assumes a "crusading attitude" has a moral responsibility to look at all circumstances surrounding the situation and to assure themselves, through personal investigation, that every thing printed in their paper is as close to actual fact as it can humanly be possible to ascertain.

Before the Special Van Buren Township Board meeting of March 31, 1977, the Belleville Enterprise ran articles pointing out the importance of the decisions to be made at this meeting and exhorted the citizens of Van Buren to make their voice heard. In spite of this "call to arms" the Belleville Enterprise failed to have representation at that meeting. Consequently the total article, on the front page, of April 6, 1977 newspaper, by their own admission, was a collection of second hand statements, which they admit, in the article, were of a conflicting nature. Had the Belleville Enterprise attended the meeting they would have known that there were a total of 52 residents attending the meeting, not 100 as reported. Of this number at least ¼ were there as a result of the main purpose of the special meeting; that is the awarding of the contract to begin the construction of the new Fire Hall, addition to the Township Hall and the Department of Public Works.

What concerns me even more about this article was its total emphasis on the approximate $9,808.00 slated for salary increases, and just one paragraph reporting the $274,000.00 Federal grant. The Township Board had worked very hard to receive this money from the Federal Government to construct facilities to better serve the citizens of the Township without spending Township monies. It is unfortunate to me that this accomplishment by the elected officials of the Township received more publicity in a local Shopping News than from the newspaper which supposedly was the "official newspaper" of the Township.

I do not believe it is necessary to debate at this time the State Act under which the Compensation Commission was appointed. There are enough people, both on the State and Federal level, doing this and I believe if any changes are due for that Law they will be made at these levels.

I do resent the attack on the Township Board, and myself personally, because we chose to obey the law and follow the procedures "legally" set up by the State under this Public Act. If the Belleville Enterprise had disagreed with our use of this Act, it had full opportunity between the time on December 8, 1976 when the Ordinance was published, in its own newspaper, and the time the Commissions determinations were fully read at a regular public meeting on March 8, 1977. As it was, they waited until the very last moment and then chose to personally attack elected officials of Van Buren Township, in order to cover up its own failure to properly report to the people, because of their unconcern and neglect.

As I mentioned at the beginning of this letter I am both disturbed and saddened by this unfortunate incident. I feel that the citizens of Van Buren Township deserve more from its "official newspaper" than absentee journalism, and an uncaring attitude about what is really happening in our community.

PATRICIA CULLIN, Supervisor
Van Buren Township

Editors note:

It is apparent from the foregoing letter from Pat Cullin, that she and her colleagues on the Van Buren Board of Trustees have entirely missed the point that this newspaper was attempting to make.

She speaks of our attack on her and the board of trustees, when in fact it was the principle of pay boards and compensation commissions that we have the argument with.

She spoke of our poor coverage of the township meetings when we have made every attempt to provide the citizens with the best possible news coverage of their township. The proof of our ability to cover the Van Buren scene lies with the recent decision by the township board to designate another newspaper as the 'Official Township Newspaper'.

We feel that the sharp attack on this newspaper by the elected officials of Van Buren Township raises more questions than it settles. Is it possible that those officials have been having trouble with their conscience?

This newspaper has accepted its obligation to the community, not the communities' elected officials. We will continue to provide the citizens of Van Buren Township with all of the news, whether it pleases those 'Public Servants' or not.

We would direct Pat Cullin's attention to this week's 'Editorial opinion'. It is possible for elected officials to be responsive to the wishes of the citizens.

And by the way Supervisor Cullin, would that other newspaper have published you lengthly letter, unedited, just as you submitted it?

Sneaky harrassment charged

Dear Editor:

It is about time the sneaky underhanded harrassment of the elected officials of Van Buren Township is terminated.

The citizens of Van Buren certainly showed extremely good judgment in electing the officials that we presently have. They do not have any ulterior, motives such as land development schemes or other devious reasons for the offices they have. The poor losers of the last campaign should smarten up.

They have tried to make the elected officials look stupid and crooked ever since they were elected. But under every investigation or alleged wrong doing, they have been found to be honest and above reproach.

The elected officials are among the most open and honest ever put in office by the people of Van Buren Township. Any records of correspondence, wages, bills, etc., are open to the public at any time. And anyone is welcome to look at anything they may suspect of being unjust at anytime and will find nothing hidden.

They deserve their present wages just for putting up with the harrassment and twisted articles in the paper, plus the insinuation of the poor losers.

Let's give them our support in their honest open quest for a decent government and let's hope they are allowed to get the wages they deserve that are certainly not out of line with other surrounding communities.

'Human Services' revolution

By Senate Majority Leader
WILLIAM FAUST
State Senator, 13th District

The quality of human services provided by charitable organizations has been raised and the public has been afforded greater protection from fly-by-night fund-raisers as the result of a subtle revolution which has taken place in Michigan over the last decade.

About 10 years ago, charitable organizations in the state were spending on the average about 50 percent of their budgets to provide services in one form or another, ranging from direct social assistance to pure research for fighting cancer, lung disease and other health problems. Now, according to the Consumer Protection and Charitable Trusts Division of the Attorney General's office. the state's charitable agencies, on the whole, spend closer to 80 percent of their budgets to provide programs.

A few years ago, the public was being more frequently ripped off by those few under-handed organizations and slick fund-raisers who solicited funds for their own benefit without any intentions of providing services. Now, the public has more protection from unscrupulous soliciting because of a law passed in 1975 which requires organizations and professional fund-raisers to obtain licenses before they can solicit donations and provides penalties for violators. The Consumer Protection and Charitable Trusts Division indicates that since the law's passage, the incidence of illegal solicitation has declined.

The net result has been increased public confidence in philanthropic organizations because those groups are spending more money to provide the programs for which they campaign for dollars. And because of the increase in confidence, persons have been more willing to give to charity, resulting in increased donations and more comprehensive programs.

Since 1916, state government has regulated the fund-raising activities of charitable organizations. The Legislature's intent then, as it is now, was to protect from fraud persons who were being solicited for donations.

"The Consumer Protection and Charitable Trusts Division indicates that since the law's passage, the incidence of illegal solicitation has declined."

After the attorney general was given regulatory authority over charitable organizations in 1965, the department adopted a financial guideline used to determine whether charitable organizations have been eligible to be licensed to solicit funds from the public. The attorney general has required charitable organizations to spend at least 70 percent of their budgets on services, a figure which both ensures that the public is getting its money's worth and allows philanthropic agencies sufficient funds with which to operate.

That 70 percent requirement, which the attorney general adopted to ensure efficiency in management, has stood the test of time: charitable organizations have been able to operate smoothly, and, indeed, have expanded programs to provide higher levels of service than they ever have before. Charities now are enriching more lives through additional research, undertaking more comprehensive efforts to help the mentally and physically handicapped, the less fortunate, and generally making this a better world in which to live.

In 1975, the legislature enacted The Charitable Organizations and Solicitation ct. This legislation was an effort to control unscrupulous organizations posing as charities and to regulate fly-by-night professionals which often bilked the reputable charities for whom they were supposedly working. While charitable organizations previously had been required o obtain solicitations licenses, the 1975 law for the first time required professional fund-raisers to be licensed and bonded.

Too many instances in which solicited funds were being either misused or were being outrightly stolen were giving philanthropy a tainted reputation; the public was growing mistrustful and less willing to give.

For example, the Grand Haven Firefighters Association, which started a fund-raising campaign to raise money for widows and orphans was left holding an empty bag by an unscrupulous promoter who skipped town with $45,000 in solicited funds.

The 1975 law, however, contains strict requirements regarding the filing of charitable organizations' financial statements, which allows the attorney general to see where funds are going. In addition, the $10,000 bonding requirement for professional fund-raisers allows the public some recourse to recover money in the event of a rip-off. And the law provides that violators can be punished by a $500 fine and six months in jail, plus they can be prosecuted under criminal statutes.

Compared to the laws in the more than 30 states which also regulate the activities of charitable organizations and professional fund-raisers, Michigan has one of the best because of its flexibility and the high quality of philanthropic services it promotes.

It is essential that government boost the practice of philanthropy, which is symbolic of the compassion and benevolence of man. We need more of it. But it also needs more from us.

In addition, if philanthropy is to survive, it is highly important that managers of charitable organizations always bear in mind they have a sacred duty to perform, because they are not spending their own money, but that which is unselfishly contributed by others.

Workmen's Compensation

What it is and what it isn't

By THOMAS H. BROWN
State Representative 37th District

Administration and Delivery of Services

Administration of the act in Michigan is not up to the standards one would expect in a program that has been estimated to cost Michigan employers $510 million. This is more understandable when one realizes that the 1976 budget for the Workmen's Compensation Bureau was $2.5 million or about one-half of 1 percent of the estimated system cost.

In a 1977 budget evaluation, the Department of Labor noted four areas where Bureau performance in administering the law was deficient: 1) the 34,000 case backlog and 400 day wait in the settlement of contested claims through hearings; 2) the insufficient data base precludes sound administrative and legislative policy decisions; 3) the inability of the Bureau to monitor functions related to workers' compensation such as vocational rehabilitation and insurance; and 4) the inability of the Bureau to educate the public about rights and responsibilities under workers' compensation.

Focusing on the backlog problem, it should also be noted that there is an additional delay as many cases are appealed after the hearing decision is rendered.

The Appeal Board had about a 2100 case backlog in January, 1977, and it has taken from 12 to 18 months to decide appeals once they are made. Such delays are basically unjust in that they affect the basic rights of both parties to due process and prompt resolution of a dispute.

There are a number of reasons for the dramatic growth of the backlog at both levels in the last few years.

The complexity of the law and lack of public information creates confusion as to rights and responsibilities which in turn results in increased litigation.

The tight economic situation in the last few years has encouraged people to pursue their rights, including a growing number of retirees.

There is more litigation involving only questions of liability between employers-funds. The consideration of medical examinations and testimony also consumes a great deal of time.

Disputes generally are not settled without a formal hearing and decision because parties are hot brought together early enough and there is very little opportunity for informal resolution.

"The tight economic situation in the last few years has encouraged people to pursue their rights, including a growing number of retirees."

Finally, a large number (about 75 percent) of hearing decisions are appealed and much time at the hearing stage is spent establishing a record in anticipation of an appeal.

In short, the major factor in the size of the backlog is the number of new disputed or appealed cases received at both levels.

The National Commission addressed the resolution of administrative problems b recommending that Workers' Compensation programs be funded via an assessment on insurance carriers and self-insurers. The revenues thus received would be used for all costs arising out of proper administration of the act.

RETIREE COMPENSATION

One of the most controversial issues in Workers' Compensation in Michigan in recent years has been the question of retiree eligibility. The National Commission Report did not address this issue, because it is a problem limited to a few states.

Opponents of compensation payments to retirees point out that on the basis of estimates (again, no exact figures are known) the cost of retiree claims accounted for about one-fourth of the non-medical benefits paid in 1973.

An expanding number of retiree claims, coupled with an existing backlog of adjudication, has made a bad situation worse, and led to an increase of what many feel is an abuse of the system.

Because of the delays, many workers (both retirees and non-retirees) without financial resources find that they almost have to accept what is termed a "redemption" in compensation parlance, otherwise known as a compromise settlement, no matter how legitimate the original claim.

The tragedy of these redemptions is twofold; they often go to workers with questionable claims, because employers and insurance carriers find that this is less expensive than going the whole route and possibly losing; secondly, workers with legitimate claims, troubled by a lack of financial resources, grab at a straw that seems substantial when expressed as a lump sum payment, but does not begin to meet their needs for future income support.

Their future medical expenses, even if due to an aggravated work-related injury, are not covered.

The complexity of the retiree issue is enormous, and one that is quite basic to our modern, civilized industrial society.

Workers often argue, for example, that in most industrial plants, it is impossible to work a lifetime without developing a job-related debilitating disease.

Employers, on the other hand, often argue that these diseases are the normal consequence of aging, and should not be compensable under the system, leaving open the question of how compensation should be handled.

Michigan's traditional role as the purest of the "wage-loss" theory states leads employers to criticize payment of claims to retirees on the grounds that they have voluntarily left the labor market, and thus have no wages to lose.

Workers respond that merely meeting the contractual requirements for obtaining a pension from one employer does not mean they may not seek work.

Unfortunately, this is complicated by virtue of the subtle societal discriminations against older workers, and the very real difficulties encountered by a worker with a health problem in obtaining other employment.

This first part has dealt briefly with the major compensation issues in Michigan against a background of federal and state action. In the second part, we will focus on the specifics of the current law and what they mean for business as well as workers and their families.

Full-size car tax may meet with resistance from buyers

A federal government proposal to put a special tax on full-sized cars to force motorists into smaller, more fuel-efficient new models could be met with stiff resistance on the showroom floor, according to a pair of recent surveys conducted by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

That is one of the conclusions Auto Club has drawn from a total of 3,700 members who responded to a 1-page questionnaire in the November Motor News magazine and a Member Advisory Survey, mailed to a random selection of Auto Club members in December.

The surveys were designed to determine the feelings, attitudes, opinions and intent of Auto Club members on a variety of topics, including car buying, the energy situation, automobile legislation, public transportation. driving safety and vacation plans.

Seventy-two percent of the respondents to the Motor News survey who said they intended to buy a 1977 car preferred either a full- or intermediate-size vehicle, with 18- to 29-year-olds most receptive to smaller cars.

Small cars for saving fuel were viewed as tolerable, but undesirable, by half of the respondents. Sixty-two percent said they favored legislation which would allow continued production of Granada- and Volare-class cars.

Sixty-four percent of the 3,000 respondents to the Motor News survey said the family automobile would remain its transportation choice, even if improved bus transportation was available.

When asked what was the most-sought feature on a new car, fuel economy was rated most important. Other features desired, in order of preference, were safety, handling, ride, price, passenger space, maneuverability, acceleration, ease of passenger entry and exit and luggage capacity.

Asked about fuel conservation, 78 percent of the members responding said they were making an effort to conserve. Fifty-three percent said they drove less, and 76 percent said the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit had reduced their highway speeds.

Fifty-four percent of respondents to the Motor News survey said they would like bus transportation improved, but 75 percent added they did not want additional taxes imposed on motorists to pay for it.

Three of four said that if more money is needed to improve public transportation, they would prefer to let voters decide on the method to get it rather than allow legislators to decide.

An annual transportation lottery was the most favored financing means for public transportation in both surveys. Of nine alternate financing methods presented, respondents rated an increased state income tax and taxes on motorists the two least desirable.

Both member surveys showed support for raising the legal drinking age as a driving safety measure. The Motor News survey showed that 86 percent want the drinking age raised. The Member Advisory Survey results showed 69 percent favoring a minimum drinking age of 21.

Of those planning vacation trips, 71 percent of the Motor News survey respondents said they will travel by motor vehicle, 28 percent by plane, 3 percent by train, 2 percent by boat and 1 percent by bus.

Michigan delegation fights to keep Weekend College

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has co-sponsored legislation, which is designed to increase the efficient production and use of electric power and curb rising rates to consumers.

The proposal is known as the Electric Utility Act of 1977.

Among the primary goals of the legislation, Congressman Ford said, are to guarantee reasonable electricity rates to consumers, to increase the efficiency of power generators and transmission lines, to establish regional planning for new facilities, and to provide for greater consumer representation in the regulation of electric power.

Principal sponsor of the bill is Congressman John Dingell, who represents Congressman Ford's neighboring 16th District of Michigan, and who is chairman of the House Subcommittee on Energy and Power.

Congressman Ford noted that the subcommittee held lengthy hearings on similar legislation last year, and that the 1977 legislation represents the results of these hearings and other recent studies.

"Electric power represents a key elements in our efforts to solve the nation's energy problems during the rest of this century," Congressman Ford said. "This legislation is designed to make certain that this great power potential is utilized with the maximum efficiency, with the lowest possible cost to the consumer, and with the wisest possible conservation safeguards."

"The bill stipulates that utilities base their rates on the actual cost of production and prohibits companies from charging consumers for certain types of advertising.

"The legislation also authorizes rate schedules based on time-of-day usage, in an effort to encourage both businesses and homeowners to use electric power during hours of non-peak demand," Congressman Ford noted.

Another provision of the bill amends the Federal Power Act to put new restrictions on interlocking directorates of utility firms.

County joins battle over utility hikes

For the second time in less than a month, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has authorized its lawyers to intervene against public utility proposals before the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC).

Acting on a recommendation of the Public Works Committee, the Board April 14 voted to allow its Office of Corporation Counsel to participate in public hearings, scheduled by the MPSC, to investigate the integration of utility construction costs in establishing rates charged to customers.

The committee charged that this present factor in the ratemaking process is unjustified because it still is applied even when proposed facilities are not yet in use, and results in higher charges for gas, telephone and electric service.

"Not only is the practice unwarranted, but it offends traditional ratemaking principles pertaining to regulated utilities and constitutes an undue burden on ratepayers which will further compound the serious economic plight of the Detroit-Wayne County area," the committee declared in its report.

The board approved the intervention with only one vote in opposition, and asked that both direct and indirect constructions costs be examined for unfair application in the ratemaking process.

Last month the board approved legal intervention against the Detroit Edison Co., which is seeking a steam rate increase that would affect several thousand homes and offices in Detroit.

TOWNSHIP OF SUMPTER
Ordinance No. 5-D
AMENDMENT TO DOG ORDINANCE

An Ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 5 - of the Township of Sumpter entitled:

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE POSSESSING, HARBORING, OWNERSHIP AND RUNNING AT LARGE OF DOGS, TO PROVIDE FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF DOGS IN CERTAIN CASES; TO PROVIDE FOR AND PRESCRIBE THE MANNER OF THE ISSUANCE OF DOG LICENSES; TO ESTABLISH AND PROVIDE FOR THE ADMINISTRATION AND MAINTENANCE OF A DOG POUND; TO PROVIDE FOR THE PAYMENT FROM THE GENERAL FUND OF THE TOWNSHIP CLAIMS ARISING FROM DAMAGES BY DOGS TO LIVESTOCK AND POULTRY; TO IMPOSE DUTIES UPON CERTAIN TOWNSHIP OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES; TO PROVIDE FOR AND PRESCRIBE THE MANNER OF THE ENFORCEMENT OF THIS ORDINANCE, AND TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF ANY OF THE PROVISIONS OF THIS ORDINANCE.

IT IS HEREBY ORDAINED by the Township Board of the Township of Sumpter, Wayne County, Michigan:

ARTICLE 1. That Article 1 of Ordinance 5 - be amended to read as follows:

All applications for a license or renewal thereof, made on or before March 31st of each year shall be accompanied by a license fee of $3.00 for each male or unsexed dog, and the sum of $5.00 for each female dog, provided however that all applications for renewals thereof made after March 31st of each year shall be accompanied by a license fee of $6.00 for each male or unsexed dog and $10.00 for each female dog.

Said license fee shall not be considered as any part of any fine or sentence imposed by Court for any violation of this Ordinance, but shall be the fee for cost of administration of this Ordinance.

ARTICLE II. That Article VII of the Ordinance entitled Kennel License, Fees, Tags be amended to read as follows:

Whenever a dog kennel shall be lawfully established, the keeper or operator thereof, may in lieu of the individual license required under this Ordinance, supply to the Township Clerk, or such other Officer as the Township Clerk or Township Board shall from time to time designate as herein provided, for a kennel license entitling him to keep or operate such kennel. Such license shall be issued by the Township Clerk, or such other Officer as the Township Clerk or Township Board shall from time to time designate as herein provided, and shall entitle the licensee to keep any number of dogs, four (4) months old or over, not at any time exceeding twenty-five (25). The fee to be paid for each kennel license shall be Twenty ($20.00) Dollars for ten (10) dogs or less, and Thirty (30.00) Dollars for eleven (11) to twenty-five (25) dogs. With each kennel license the Township Clerk or such other Officer as the Township Clerk or Township Board shall from time to time designate as herein provided, shall issue a number of metal tags equal to the number of dogs authorized to be kept in the kennel. All such tags shall have duly stamped or engraved thereon the serial number thereof and the words: "Kennel License, Township of Sumpter, Wayne County, Michigan", provided, however, that prior to the issuance of such license, approval shall be secured from the Township Board as to location, area and neighborhood of such kennel.

ARTICLE III. This Ordinance is hereby declared to have been adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Sumpter, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, at a regular meeting duly called and held on the 12th day of April, 1977, and ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV. This Ordinance is hereby declared to be necessary for the preservation of the public health, safety, and welfare of the people of the Township of Sumpter and shall take effect ten (10) days after publication.

UF's Healthoramas return

'Healthorama is not a medical treatment program...

Tri-county residents again will have an opportunity to benefit from free health tests at three United Foundation Healthoramas to be held this spring.

Sponsored by United Health Organization, a Torch Drive service, and Women for the United Foundation, testing will be available at the Southland Shopping Center, 23000 Eureka Road, Taylor, Monday through April 28, and at the Tel-Twelve Mall, Southfield, May 9 - 12.

A third Healthorama is scheduled in the Delray Community Health Center, 2401 20th Street, Detroit, May 18 - 21. Appointments will be required for the Delray Center only and can be made beginning Monday by calling 842-6010.

According to Coordinator William Harsen Healthorama has served nearly 50,000 people in the past nine years.

"Healthorama is not a medical treatment program," Harsen said. "It is a medical screening program designed to detect early disease in persons who may be unaware of any health problem."

The tests detect signs of high blood pressure, cervical cancer, anemia, heart disease, kidney disease, hearing and vision loss. Tests for sickle cell anemia also will be given at the Delray site. The battery of free health tests is valued at more than $100, if taken privately.

More than 700 volunteer workers will help with the series of tests along with medical and paramedical personnel, hospital volunteers and student nurses.

In addition to the health tests, there will be educational exhibits focusing on health and social problems from Community Information Service, another Torch Drive-supported agency. These exhibits will include information on alcoholism, the aged, speech and hearing difficulties, money management, legal aid, camps and recreation services.

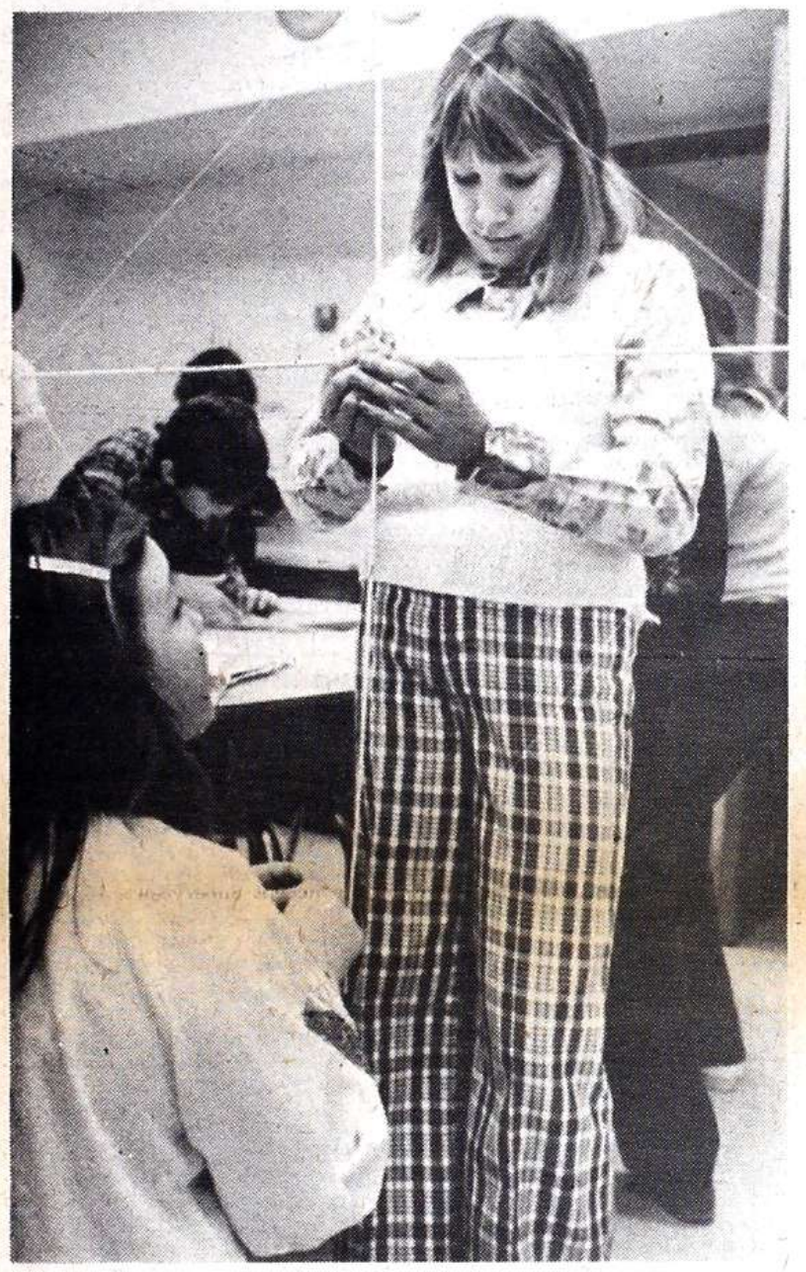
County seeks $3.6 million for block grant's 3rd year

An application for $3.6 million in federal Community Development Block Grant funds has been authorized by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners in behalf of 25 outcounty communities.



The board on April 14 authorized an application to the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) which last year provided the county $2,065,100 under the program that then included 22 members in the coalition of communities.

The funds expected this year are planned for projects such as sewer and storm drainage improvements, street resurfacing, sidewalk construction and the development and improvement of park and fire protection facilities.

This year, the county's third year of application, the funds expected are significantly more because three new communities have been added to the group, said Commissioner Edgar L. Harris, chairman of the Public Works Committee.

With two years of past experience, the program also is better organized in the county this year, Harris said.

He explained that, under the block grant program, the county organized willing communities with less than 50,000 population and asks the federal government for funds on behalf of the entire group.

The grant application is prepared and filed by the County Office of Program Development and Coordination, which also oversees distribution of the funds received.

In administering the grant funds, two county commissioners serve in a direct advisory capacity to the Office of Program Development and Coordination, he noted. The commissioners are Royce E. Smith from Belleville and Jackie L. Currie from Detroit, respective chairman and vice-chairman of the County Manpower Advisory Planning Council which helps guide functions in the Office of Program Development and Coordination.

Local communities participating again in the block grant program this year are Wyandotte, Allen Park, Southgate, Trenton, Ecorse, Plymouth Township, Grosse Pointe Park, Melvindale, Van Buren Township, Plymouth, Riverview, Canton Township, Northville Township, Grosse Ile Township, Sumpter Township, Huron Township, Brownstown Township, Grosse Pointe, Flat Rock, Gibraltar, Woodhaven and Northville.

Poet, 63 captivates students

Students at Elwell Elementary School were captivated by Max Ellison, a 63-year-old self-styled poet, who read his literary works to the first, second and third grades recently.

Ellison recited from his two books of poems — "The Underbark" and "The Happenstance" — as well as from "Horton Hatches the Egg " by Dr. Seuss.

A veteran of appearances at more than 1,000 high schools, colleges and universities, the poet resided in Plymouth for many years before he fled suburbia to live in a self-constructed log cabin in Bellaire, Mich. In his earlier years, he was a farmer.

Kite season is here

Just as kite season is arriving, some classes at Merriman Elementary School in Romulus recently went to work making the light flying objects. They were working on a "production line" system as part of a career education class. Here, sixth grader Susie Boltz was busy tying string together to make the kite sturdy, as Liz Miller assisted. — ANP photo.

Preparing soil is first step in growing successful garden

Begin by clearing away any cans, sticks, rocks, or other trash. Before cultivating the area, test the soil for wetness. Take a handful and squeeze. If the soil falls out in pieces, it is dry enough to dig. If it stays in a mud ball, it's too wet. Try again another day.

"When the soil is dry enough to work, turn it over with a shovel or rototiller to a depth of 8 inches and break up any lumps. This will let air and moisture pass through easily," noted Paul Bridgewater, extension agent and coordinator of the "Growing Roots" gardening program, designed to teach limited income Detroiters how to grow, use and preserve their own vegetables.

Next, work in organic material such as grass clippings, peat, leaves and wood chips. Also mix in fertilizer. Use 2 lbs. of 5-10-5 or 1 lb. of 10-20-10 fertilizer per 100 square feet of garden area. Rake until smooth.

If you're also adding manure, figure 1 lb. per square foot and use half the recommended amount of fertilizer. If you're adding peat, work in 1 to 2 inches into the top 8 inches of soil.

When adding compost and fertilizer spread half the total amount (2-inch layer) over the garden and turn over to a depth of 8 inches. Then spread the remainder and work into the soil 6 to 8 inches deep. Rake the soil until smooth and free of large stones.

See the world and earn --college credit, that is

See the world this summer — or at least parts of it — earn university credit from Wayne State University through its College of Lifelong Learning (CLL). Nine travel-study programs are scheduled for Summer 1977.

Two programs in Italty will afford the opportunity to pursue Italian archeology in the Etruscan areas or study language and culture in Bologna.

The French language and civilization are the focus in Wayne at Gordes. A study program at the University of Paris is limited to persons in CLL's Weekend College program.

Outdoor lovers can choose between Travel Camping in the National Parks of the East Coast or Backpacking in Isle Royale National Park. Both are offered through the Division of Health and Physical Education.

Studying educational sociology touring Europe and North Africa, or the sociology of institutional care in Scandinavia, or studying education and curriculum development in the British Isles complete the list.

For specific details on each program and for registration information, telephone Thomas Hagerty, coordinator of Travel-Study Programs, at (313) 577-4682.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP REGULAR BOARD MEETING MINUTES,

APRIL 12, 1977 (1)

Meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Supervisor Cullin called the meeting to order at 7:30 P.M. Members present were Supervisor Cullin, Clerk Craven, and Trustees Domen, Kelly, Maton, and Thetford. Absent, Treasurer York. Also present were Att'y James, Engs. Levine and Wilhelmi, and Sec'y Ryznar. Audience approximately 15.

The minutes of the regular meeting of March 22, 1977, were submitted. Motion by Kelly, to amend the minutes to include his statement that the salary determinations of the Compensation Commission were too high. Support Craven to accept the amended minutes. CARRIED.

The Minutes of the Special Meeting of March 31, 1977, were submitted. Motion Thetford, support Kelly, to accept minutes with the correction that "deletions' be amended to "alternates" in regard to the LPW Title I project. CARRIED.

Clerk Craven read a letter from Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, commending the fire department for quickly extinguishing a fire in their home, in spite of bad weather, with minimum water damage. Correspondence from Taylor Ambulance commending Sgt. Gary Holloway and Officer Richard Waddell for their outstanding and professional assistance with an accident victim, was read. Motion Kelly, support Thetford, to send letters from the board to those performing in these instances. CARRIED.

Motion Kelly, support Maton, to approve opening a bank account in the name of Van Buren Township Recreation Special Bingo Account, at the Bank of the Commonwealth. CARRIED.

Motion Thetford, support Kelly to establish a $350.00 Petty Cash Bingo Fund. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Kelly, to approve the mailing of park permits to residents on post cards, to be validated at Van Buren Park, as recommended by J. Clark, Recreation Director. CARRIED.

Motion Thetford, support Maton, to send Dave Barber, to an Aquatics Seminar at the Kellogg Center. CARRIED. (registration $20.00)

Motion Kelly, support Thetford, to approve Recreation Commission's recommendation that Senior Citizens Club be given due consideration in scheduling use of the proposed new Recreation Building. CARRIED.

Motion Kelly, support Thetford, to decline offer by the Mich. Hwy. & Trans. Dept. to sell excess property (Part 13, Parcel A., Tyler Rd. — I-275) to include 1.) recommendation that said property be offered to Wayne County Community College, and 2.) that if declined by college, to return offer to Van Buren Township for re-consideration. Original motion with amendments CARRIED.

Motion Kelly, support Craven, to accept Police Mutual Aid Agreement (between Belleville, Sumpter, Van Buren, Huron, & Canton.) CARRIED.

Lengthy discussion concerning a one year committment and cost of an agreement to participate in Western Metropolitan Communication Network followed. Motion Kelly, support Domen to adopt said agreement, deleting Paragraph 6. CARRIED, but rescinded, as agreement was found to have no provisions for amending. Att'y James recommended that said agreement could be adopted with amendments by deleting sections regarding amendments. Motion Kelly, support Craven, to adopt Agreement to Participate in Western Metropolitan Communication Network by deleting the following portion of the last sentence on page 1, "and shall not be amended or changed except as provided herinafter. "And deleting paragraph 6, entitled the "RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL." CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Kelly, to forward the request to increase the police chief's salary to the Public Safety Commission for recommendation. CARRIED.

Cindy Taubitz, requested that the lake level be reduced no more than two feet in the winter season, to prevent damage to sea walls, etc. Signed petitions of 72 citizens had been presented to the board. Motion Kelly, support Domen, to form an ad hoc committee to study effects of the lake level, with Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May as professional consultants. CARRIED.

Motion Kelly, support Thetford, to purchase twelve OSHA approved fireman's hard hats at the best possible price, for Fire Station No. 2. CARRIED.

Motion Kelly, support Thetford to appoint Pat Callahan, as a member to the Public Safety Commission. CARRIED.

Distribution of local newspapers were discussed; Ypsilanti Press circulates 2,000 DAILY copies to the Belleville-Van Buren area. Belleville-Enterprise approx. 5,000 WEEKLY copies to the Belleville-Van Buren - Sumpter area with 1,000 by carrier; 1,700 by mail; 1,600 stores, 1,000 free copies to Lemon Tree Apartment residents. Motion Thetford, support Kelly, to designate the Ypsilanti Press as the primary official legal township newspaper for publications, and the Belleville-Enterprise as its secondary newspaper for publications. CARRIED.

To conform with the "open Meetings Act", Att'y James presented a resolution to be posted in the township building stating the rights and procedures for audience participation. Motion Thetford, support Craven, to adopt resolution as presented. CARRIED.

Supervisor Cullin stated that many citizens requested to be heard before major items and decisions took place. Present agenda form has audience participation at the end of meetings. Motion Kelly, support Craven, to revise the form of the agenda, placing audience participation between "Minutes" and "Correspondence". CARRIED.

Motion Maton, support Kelly, to accept reports as presented. CARRIED.

Motion Thetford, support Kelly, to approve voucher list as presented. CARRIED.

The results of the elections of Fire Depts. No. 1 and No. 2 were announced. Motion Thetford, support Craven, to acknowledge the elected officials of both fire departments. CARRIED.

A study meeting with representation from Michigan Bell Telephone Company was scheduled for April 18, 1977 at 7:00 P.M., to discuss the present and future needs of handling the increasing number of phone calls, and supplying phone connections to the new buildings under construction.

Landon Garrett, spoke from the audience, suggesting private companies be researched for their recommendations on new telephone switchboards.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP BOARD MINUTES

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP SPECIAL BOARD MEETING MINUTES, MARCH 31, 1977

Meeting opened with Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Supervisor Cullin called the meeting to order at 7:05 P.M. Members present were Supervisor Cullin, Clerk Craven, Treasurer York, Trustees Domen, and Thetford. Trustee Kelley arrived at 7:25 P.M. Trustee Maton, absent due to hospitalization. Also present were Att'y Witthoff, Engs. Levine & Wilhelmi and Sec'y Ryznar. Approximately 60 interested citizens attended.

Joe DiDia, Community Developer, presented the results of the bid opening for the LPW Title I Project. He presented the architect's recommendations and the deletions of the bid to fulfill the amount of grant money. Motion Thetford, support Domen, to award contracting bid to Hillyer Construction in the amount of $229,331.00 for the construction of a fire station, DPW addition and the town hall addition; and Allied, Inc., for the automatic hoist for $4,231.00 under the Title I Public Works Grant. CARRIED.

Super Cullin submitted a letter from the township to E. Mickels & Associates stating the opinion that zoning and a tax abatement plan could be favorably considered by the board, in regard to the Senior Citizen's Lakewood Tower Project.

Replacement of a police car, and a DPW pick-up were discussed. Motion Domen, support Thetford to purchase the 1977 Plymouth Fury Police Car for $4,530., and a 1977 Chevrolet Pickup for $4,040. through the State of Michigan Purchasing Department. CARRIED.

Supervisor Cullin stated that the Ordinance of 11-23-76, creating an Official's Compensation Commission was written, in error, under Public Act 175, instead of Public Act 176. Motion Craven, support York, to declare the ordinance invalid as it applies to a charter township, and not a general township, as is the case of Van Buren Township. CARRIED. All actions in regard to the Ordinance were considered invalid.

The meeting was opened to the audience. James Elias, stated he felt board meetings received little publicity; that the "Pay Board" did not represent a cross-section of citizens. Supervisor Cullin stated that the salary determinations were announced at the public meeting of March 8, 1977, that the agenda and other information was available to the press prior to meeting; that the ordinance creating the commission was published as required by law in the local newspapers; that requests were made of the public at board meetings for people to serve on the commission and that the Pay Board did represent a cross section of age groups, occupations, and citizens of Van Buren Township.

Glenn Barker and Mr. Elias questioned the use of the township car. Trustee Domen stated that the township had authorized the use of the car in the past and was in great use for meetings, Lansing trips, outlying area business trips. He felt the use for minor personal use on the way to and from township functions was incidental. Harry Martin felt a township car was an honor and good advertisement for the township.

Carl Johnson stated he felt officials were knowledgeable of the salary at the time of the elections and the amount of pay increases was out of order, and any further increases should be brought before the public. Trustee Kelly felt increases at the rate of the cost of living were in order.

Peggy Ferline felt increases, but not as much as determined by the Pay Board, were in order.

George Craven stated that as an active member of the Democratic Club for many years, it was difficult to find people who would serve for office with the reason stated as "they couldn't afford the job."

Newspaper coverage of meetings and opinions concerning information given to them regarding township business was discussed. Clerk Craven stated that the "Open Meetings Act" becomes effective April 1, 1977, and all meetings and notices must conform to law. Jack Johnson stated that most people in the area subscribed to the Belleville Enterprise and it should be used for public information. Several citizens voiced their disapproval of salary increases.

Harry Martin related his experience with the township concerning a problem with livestock and dogs, and felt it was handled properly. Mr. Elias stated he had a problem with his dog, and did not receive consideration from the township.

Mrs. Gramlett asked how many positions Trustee Domen held for the township. He stated he served as Police Commissioner, and a member of the Recreation, Safety, and Labor Negotiating committees, and others in the past. Trustee Kelly stated each commission had a board member serve as a representative.

Whitey Gauthier stated that his experience with using a company car proved to be less expensive than charging mileage on a personal car. Treasurer York stated that due to the increase of gas prices, she has eliminated using her personal car for bank runs, and has turned the job over to the township police car.

Discussion regarding reading water meters, fire department procedures, cost of full time fire and police protection followed. Mrs. Kuszak questioned a fire she had witnessed. Fire Chief Memering stated that the township had the best equipment and trained personnel that money available could buy.

Hank Adams stated that he witnessed a fire and complimented the fireman on how hard they worked in view of risking their lives, and was proud to live in the township.

Landon Garret stated, as president of Van Buren Estate Assoc., he has approached many people from his subdivision to serve on township commissions, but has had no positive responses.

A citizen asked for assurance that if salaries are to come before the board, it would be fully publicized previous to the meeting. Supervisor Cullin stated that the press would be notified of that agenda.

Mr. Barker asked if board meetings could be changed to conform with the township newspaper. Helen Patke felt rearranging the township routine for the paper was not necessary. Mr. Elias asked if salary increases could be brought to a vote of the citizens.

Pat Callahan asked how volunteer firemen were scheduled. Fire Chief Eugene Miller stated that men were scheduled in the best possible way to coincide with their private work shifts. Police Chief Willet stated he often worked with the fireman in emergency situations and felt their response and operation was the best around.

Motion Domen, support Thetford, to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 8:35 P.M.

Approved: with amendment
Date: 4-12-77

Respectfully submitted,
Doreen J. Craven, Clerk

Looks at present, future needs

Meet state's the proposed Health Code

(This column is the first in a series to explain the new Public Health Code, which was unanimously passed out of the Michigan House Public Health Committee on March 8 and soon will be on the House floor. Encompassing a broad range of health care services in Michigan, the code looks to present and future health needs. Forthcoming columns will deal with guaranteed basic health services, cost-sharing between state and county, and the consumers' role in Michigan health.)

Most of us are aware of the growing complexity of taking care of ourselves. Sometimes we may even think we know too much. We can't eat, smoke, drink coffee, or even worry without someone telling us it's bad for our health.

We are concerned with food additivies, water and air pollution, the threat of cancer or heart trouble — things our forbears either didn't know about or couldn't prevent.

Despite our greater knowledge of good health care and more routine use of health professionals than our grandparents had, many of us are unaware of the services that our own local health departments offer, even though we pay for them and are helped by them.

Michigan has 47 local public health departments, one for each county or district. These health departments provide personal, preventive and environmental health programs.

When you put a coin in a vending machine to buy a sandwich or go to your local quick service restaurant, when you drink a glass of water from your well or swim in a public pool, when you vacation at a swank Michigan resort or a rustic campground, public health service has been there first, to check out safety and sanitation. "Public health" can mean free child immunizations, prenatal and infant care, and program for substance abuse.

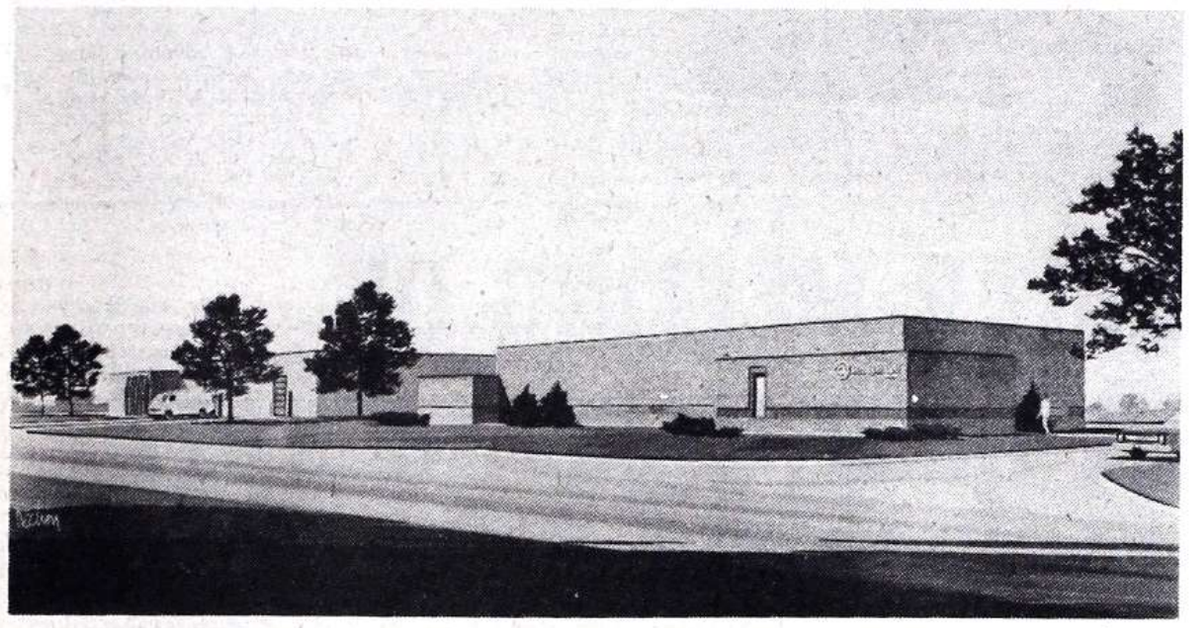
While Michigan state law mandates these many services, the county has to find the funds to pay for them. For each public health dollar spent by our county, the state contributes only 6 cents. Several studies during the past few years have urged that a greater share of local public health care funds be paid by state funds.

Part of the diffuclty is that Michigan has come a long way from 1873 when the Department of Public Health was established. Laws were passed as they were needed until a patchwork of hundreds of statutes was scattered throughout the books. Today we have eight times as many people living in Michigan as we did 100 years ago, and funding never has kept pace with increased services or population.

In 1974 a Public Health Statute Revision Project — immediately nicknamed "PHSRP" — was established to collect the laws into one code and modernize them for present and future health needs.

A committee of bipartisian legislators and a governor's commission of 12 appointed citizens betan this enormous task. They represented all areas of Michigan, from Monroe County to the Upper Peninsula, from city to small town to farmland. It took 16 months of work to write the code. More than 100,000 hours of volunteer and staff time was spent in a unique "open process" series of hearings at which anyone — consumer, health provider, or association— could give their views.

The code doesn't look like the latest best seller. It is more than 440 pages of unexciting black type on white paper and it's called House Bill No. 4070. But it has been praised as a "landmark bill" not only because it was formulated in open process, but because it offers important changes in Michigan's health care. These changes include a guarantee of basic health services, a fair cost-sharing systemof providing them, and a bigger voice for the health care consumer. You as a Michigan resident should be aware of them.



Construction planned

Sumpter Township will be served by a new $2.5 million electronic central office of Michigan Bell by the spring of 1978, Michigan Bell has announced. The telephone service center will be built at the corner of Judd and Rawsonville roads and will house an electronic switching system. Located in Willis, the building will service some 2,500 telephone customers in Augusta and Sumpter Township.

Romulus says no to SST

Romulus City Council has hung a big "Not Wanted" sign on the grounds of Detroit Metropolitan Airport when it comes to the huge new super sonic aircraft.

Michael Berry, vice-chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) which operates the airport, has announced a policy which would allow use of the airport by the large SST aircraft, but the council is ready to take necessary court action to prevent that from being done.

Council members feel the aircraft is excessively noisy and emits a far greater amount of fumes than any of the conventional airplanes. They said it their belief the SST would be hazardous to the health, safety and welfare of the citizens living in Romulus.

And they have passed a resolution to that effect. Councilman Jimmie Raspberry, supported by William Oakley, moved that the resolution be adopted. Council members Beverly McAnally, Joan Lee, Fred Block and Gerry Canejo voted yes and Robert Martin abstained.

They notified the WCRC of their objections and also sent copies of the resolution to President Jimmy Carter, U.S. Sens. Robert P. Griffin and Donald W. Riegle, Congressman William Ford, Gov. William Milliken, State Sen. William Faust, State Reps. Gary Owen and Edward Mahalak, Wayne County Board of Commissioners and all surrounding communities.

They urged the strong support of neighboring cities and townships to join them in objecting to the use of the large new aircraft at Metro Airport.

Opening festivities planned

Grand opening festivities will be held May 2-6 for the new gymnasium and renovation of Renton Junior High School and the new auditorium, pool and additional vocational facilitites of Huron High School.

Voters of the Huron School District approved a bond issue last February for renovation and construction at the two schools.

A few other projects remain to be completed, including tennis courts and a bus facility.

Schedule of events for the 5-day celebration is:

—Monday, May 2, presentations from all elementary schools at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium:

—Tuesday, May 3, joint presentation of senior and junior high school bands and choirs of "Another Opening - Another Show".

—Wednesday, May 4, open house for new gym and new facilities from 7 to 9 p.m., including square dancing at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium;

—Thursday, May 5, diving and swimming exhibitions at 7:15 and 8:15 p.m. at the high school pool; and —Friday, May 6, open swimming from 6 to 10 p.m. at the high school pool.

Austin introduces measures to reform state election laws

In endorsing in principle President Jimmy Carter's new federal elections proposal as "The most far-reaching, voter-oriented federal legislation in history", Michigan Secretary of State Richard H. Austin has outlined a package of measures which would further reform the state's election laws.

Austin, the state's chief elections official, said the Carter election-day voter registration proposal, if extended to local as well as national elections, "will provide voting privileges to the largest number of persons in the nation's history".

However, it is important to preserve present pre-election voter registration opportunities so it will not become necessary to register all voters on election day, Austin added. He also is pleased that President Carter has promised federal financing to reimburse local governments for election-day registration costs and for pre-election registration activities.

Among the chief proposals in Austin's legislative reform package for Michigan are:

(1) Establishment of a Fair Campaign Practices Commission;

(2) Provide for the preparation and distribution of a voter information pamphlet on each even-year primary or general election where there is a statewide ballot proposal;

(3) Provide a procedure for appealing decisions of county boards of canvassers;

(4) Provide for making the county clerk the chief election officer for each county;

(5) Amend the Michigan Constitution to provide for automatic extension of an incumbent judge's term in office when he has no opponent for his judicial seat;

(6) Abolish the refunding of the $100 candidate filing fee;

(7) Authorize recounts of close votes in congressional elections;

(8) Repeal the present Michigan presidential primary law to open the way for passage of a more equitable and practical primary election;

(9) Deputize each clerk as a depty of every other clerk in the same county for voter registration purposes.

Austin said passage of his legislative program together with implementation of the new Campaign Reform Act which now is gearing up for a June 1 start, should "promote a more open system for the public to place added trust and confidence" in the election process.

Registration continues at WC community college

Registration for the spring term at Wayne County Community College (WCCC) will continue through next Wednesday at 10 registration sites throughout Wayne County. Classes are slated to begin May 2.

The 1977 spring term will be 12 weeks long. Previously, the college had both 8-week and 16-week terms running concurrently in the spring and an 8-week summer term. This year there will be only the 12-week spring term, which ends July 25.

Tuitition is $14 per credit hour for residents of the WCCC service district which includes most of Wayne County. Senior Citizens 60 years of age and older may enroll tuition-free.

Any person 18 years of age or older may enroll without a high school diploma.

The second largest of Michigan's 29 community colleges, WCCC presently has some 17,000 full - and part-time students.

Courses are available in general college transfer and career training programs leading to an associate degree or a certificate. Classes will be held at 15 locations in the county during the spring term.

—C-G, today; H-L, Friday; M-R, Monday; S-Z next Wednesday.

Persons who miss their assigned day may register April 30.

Locations and times for registration through April 27 are:

Project makes arsonists' 'work' more risky

Arsonists in Michigan are finding their "work" more risky these days thanks to a program called Arson Control, funded by private industry and managed by the Michigan State Police.

In a report issued by Capt. William Rucinski, commanding officer of the State Police Fire Marshall's Division, Arson Control, since its inception in late 1975, has accounted for some 66 tips, 11 arrests and two tips that prevented fires. Property burned in these related cases was valued at more than $665,000.

The Michigan Arson Committee, a group comprised of public and private sector officials, developed Arson Control to offer rewards of up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and-or conviction of arsonists.

"The purpose of the program is to encourage reports from anyone with information which could prevent an incendiary fire or aid in catching a person who sets one," Rucinski said. "The information may be given anonymously and the identity of the caller as well as information received is given full protection."

So far, the program has paid 11 rewards ranging from $200 to $1,000 for a total of nearly $6,000. The amount of an individual award is based on the degree of assistance provided, and is determined by a panel of specialists in arson crime cases.

Arson Control is funded through a grant from the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies.

Rucinski pointed out that personal involvement has been responsible for the success of the program.

"This is a way a citizen can do something about the state's fastest growing crime," he said. "We have asked for and are receiving tips about suspected arson fires. It's an encouraging step that is a big help to fire investigators."

Tips and information on suspected arsons can be called collect to (517) 322-0469. Letters can be addressed to Arson Control, Box 23, Holt, Mich., 48842.

Riegle urges review of lunch foods

In a letter released recently, freshman Sen. Donald W. Riegle Jr. urged the Food and Nutrition Service to "take the necessary administrative action" to improve "the extremely poor quality of food that is prepared and distributed" under the Food for Friendship Program, a hot lunch program for senior citizens.

The letter, written to Assistant Secretary on Food and Consumer Affairs of the Department of Agriculture, Carol Foreman, requests that the Food and Nutrition Service revise the USDA specifications for food being distributed to senior citizen projects under Title VII of the Older Americans Act.

Riegle said he has received numerous complaints from individuals and agencies about the quality of food that is being served.

"Many people have written to me to complain that the food is stringy, has a high salt content, and generally is unappetizing," he said. "While I understand the limitations imposed on a program that must utilize farm surplus — I believe that we have a responsibility to insure that high quality food is provided to America's elderly."

Provisions of the act state that the food program must "provide special menus, where feasible and appropriate, to meet the particular dietary needs arising from the health requirements, religious requirements, or ethnic backgrounds of eligible individuals".

"Unfortunately, the Food and Nutrition Service processing program does not allow for these dietary needs," Riegle said.

Riegle added that he and his staff have been working with Wayne County Board of Commissioners Vice-Chairman Jarette Simmons and Commissioner Jackie L. Currie in an effort to solve this problem. In addition, Riegle's staff has conducted an on-site inspection of a senior citizens center to determine the exact nature and scope of the problem.

VA changes procedures for GI Bill payments

A change in GI Bill payment procedures, effective June 1, will bring checks at the end of the month rather than at the beginning to 1.5 million veterans, dependents and service members enrolled in Veterans Administration education programs. These and other changes are explained in a "stuffer" to be sent with April and May checks, a VA spokesman said.

Another June 1 change, brought about by law, modifies an arrangement which in the past automatically gave trainees a 2-month money advance at the start of school.

Ending of the prepayment system will have the most noticeable effect on veteran-students continuously enrolled this summer. They will receive their last VA check under the prepayment system on May 1, covering enrollment for May.

The next check, covering June enrollment, will be issued July 1. Subsequent VA checks will follow each additional month of enrollment. A student whose enrollment ends in June will receive the payment for June on July 1.

The modified advance payment procedure permits advance payment at the beginning of a school term for the first month or partial month, plus the following month only if the student makes a written request and the school agrees to process the advance payment.Prior to this new legislation, all students got advance payments automatically.

Students under the GI Bill or the dependents educational assistance program who wish an advance payment should contact their school, because the student's written request for advance payment must be included on the school enrollment certification submitted to VA.

The VA spokesman emphasized the enrollment certification containing the advance payment request must be received at least 30 days before the start of regular registration. Disabled veterans, under VA rehabilitation programs, should contact their VA rehabilitation specialist for further information.

Eligible veteran-students requesting advance payment for the fall school session should be aware that no additional check will be forthcoming from the VA for approximately three months, the VA spokesman said.

For example, a veteran receiving an advance payment check in September, covering September and October, would not receive an education payment for November until Dec. 1, because of the elimination of the prepayment provision.

Students with questions concerning VA educational checks are urged to contact the veterans representative on campus or their local VA regional office.

Red Cross sets safety school

Red Cross Safety Programs will sponsor its third annual Michigan Safety School June 11-19 at Camp Copneconic in Fenton.

The safety school is designed to train individual instructors in water safety, first aid, small craft safety. Students also may be trained in basic canoeing and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

"We hope to make this year's school better than ever before. The classes will emphasize both training and leadership skills. We are placing particular emphasis on our water safety program this year," said Kevin Killeen, director of the Red Cross Safety Programs, Southeastern Michigan Chapter.

Students choose a major and a minor area of study for the 8-day program. Red Cross will furnish all necessary equipment; a charge of $107 will cover all room, board and textbook fees.

Eligible persons who are in good health, at least 17 years old and plan to use the training to teach others may obtain more information and register for the school by calling Red Cross Safety Programs at 833-4440, ext. 264.

Due to limited enrollment, early registration is suggested.

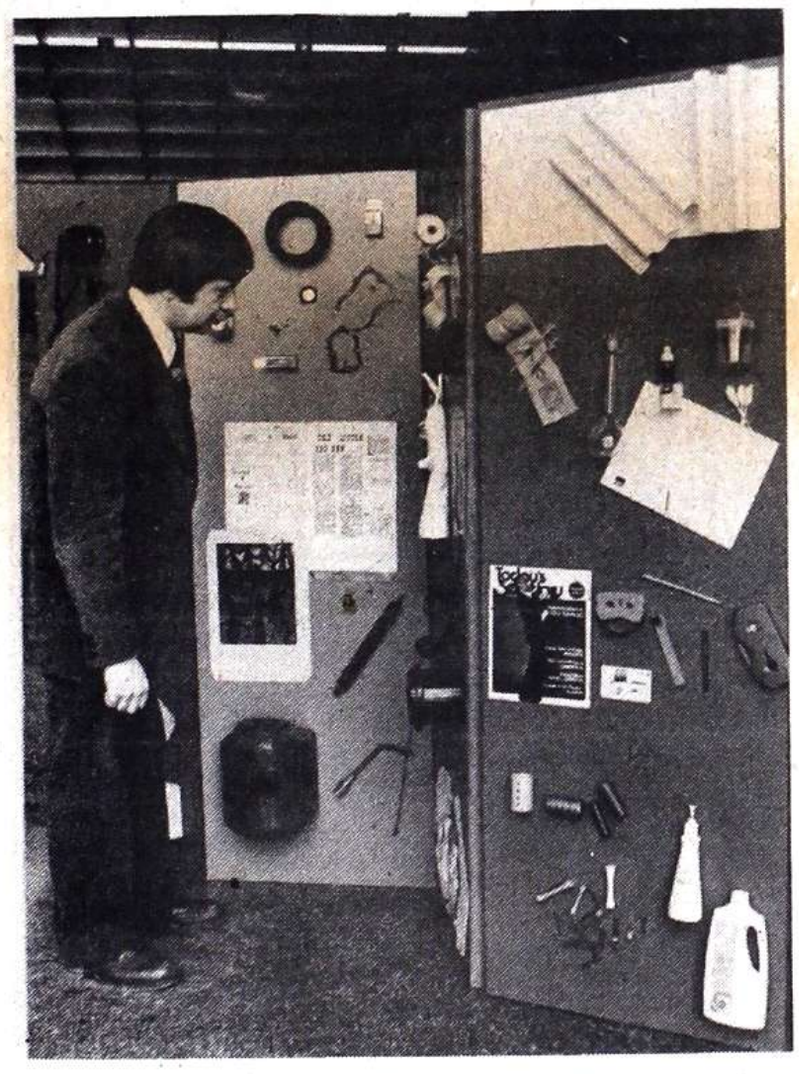
My job

Everybody's got a job, and fourth grader Mark Holderby is in charge of "holes for hooks," whatever that means. Mark is part of an assembly production line, where each person does his own separate part in putting together the final product. Students at Merriman Elementary School in Romulus participated in the production line system as part of a career education program at school. And they learned, if everybody does his or her job, the product turns out just right — ANP Photo by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.



Part of the job

Romulus High School's vocational education program has been called the best in the area by members of the Compensatory Education Parent Advisory Council. A great variety of vocations and interesting careers were displayed in the lobby during the recent vocational education week and Director E. L. Sheffield studied some of them on a folding wall in the school's lobby. Some of the displays dealt with welding, hair dressing, nursing, automotive repair, stage careers as well as a host of other equally interesting pursuits. —ANP photo.

Cawthorne hails decisions favoring property taxpayer

House Republican Leader Dennis O. Cawthorne of Muskegon has hailed two recent attorney general's opinions, he sought and received, as "good news for property taxpayers".

The first opinion upholds the constitutionality of a 1976 state law exempting certain home improvements from increased assessments. The second opinion appears to give assessors new latitude in dealing with farmland assessments.

Of the home improvement opinion, Cawthorne said: "This is the assurance which property owners need so they can go ahead and fix up and paint up this spring. This should enable the law to function as intended—that is, to encourage owners to keep their properties attractive and in good repair."

Cawthorne explained: "The Constitution gives the legislature power to define 'true cash value' as the basis for property valuations. In passing this act, the legislature decided that true cash value should not include up to $4,000 in normal repairs and maintenance. The problem arose when the State Tax Commission apparently decided on its own that this violates the constitutional requirement for uniform assessments. I would expect now that new orders would be issued to assessors to follow the law."

Of the farm assessment opinion, Cawthorne said: "The opinion clearly states that income from farmland is a factor in determining valuation. This should be good news for farmers because farm income has been declining while farm assessments are rising."

"The attorney general has reached a conclusion similar to my interpretation and that is that sales prices alone cannot be used to set valuation," Cawthorne added. "Hopefully, this will encourage local assessors to put more emphasis on income. It should cause the State Tax Commission to pay more attention to the relationship between income and value."

Cawthorne asked for the opinion last month because "the State Tax Commission seems to take the position that only sales prices of comparable properties should be used in assessing farms." The law says income is to be considered along with comparable sales, but Cawthorne contended that, "even when local assessors do attempt to allow for income, the State Tax Commission and county equalization departments override this in the equalization process."

The attorney general told Cawthorne that "a knowledgeable assessor would consider not only the sales of farmland but also would be aware of the income earned on income-producing farms. In short, no single factor is controlling in the assessing of property. Proper assessment of taxable property requires consideration of all relevant elements and factors."

As proof that income has not been fairly considered, Cawthorne cited sharply rising farm assessments in recent years on the face of declining farm income. Net cash farm income in Michigan declined 51 percent, from $429.5 million to $295.9 million, from 1973 to 1975, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service. Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

Meanwhile, state equalized valuation of the state's farmland increased 24 percent, from $2.966 billion to $3.681 billion, over the same period. Statistics for 1976 are not available.

Night creatures studied

A special evening program featuring "Creatures of the Night" will be featured at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The program is free, however, advanced registration is required.

School districts share $1,667,768

Some $16,167,768 in state school aid payments will be divided among the 15 school district in Senate Majority Leader William Faust's 13th Senate District.

The payments were sent April 1 and will be followed by similar state aid funds in June, August, October and December.

"Because state revenues are reaching anticipated levels, we have been able to make the April state aid payment with no delay," Faust said. "If the economy continues to move upward in Michigan we should experience little or no delay in any of the 1977 payments.

The $16,167,768 represents $15,420,720 in regular state aid to schools along with $664,620 and $26,396 provided by Titles I and II respectively of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. Another $56,032 from the Vocational Education Act of 1963 also is included in the total figure.

Western Wayne County school districts and what they will receive from the state are:

—Cherry Hill School District, $501,950 is state aid, $60,558 in Title I, $4,500 in Title II and $1,410 in vocational funds:

—Inkster School District, $690,750 in state aid, $232,461 in Title I and $7,385 in vocation education funds;

—Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $1,027,210 in state aid;

—Romulus Community Schools, $588,800 in state aid and $58,419 in Title I funds;

—Wayne-Westland Community School, $3,125,460 in state aid, $130,336 in Title I, $9,828 in Title III and $14,296 in vocational education funds.

—Huron School District, $420,480 in state aid and $23,000 in Title I funds; and —Van Buren School District, $788,540 in state aid and $10,000 in Title I funds.

Nonsmokers have rights

State law 'minds very much if you smoke'

By MAUREEN RADEMACHER
ANP Staff Writer

It's no longer "just" a matter of life and breath — it's against the law to ignore the rights of nonsmokers.

Four state laws that went into effect April 1, and a Nonsmoker's Bill of Rights adopted in 1974 by the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health, are giving that silent majority of persons who do not smoke the right to object to "second-hand smoke."

Nonsmokers outnumber tobacco smokers by two to one in this country, and some statistics say three to one, according to the American Lung Association. But nonsmokers for years have been subjected to the pollutants and harmful chemical produced by burning tobacco.

One of the primary laws recently enacted that will immediately affect most of us is the mandate that all restaurants with seating capacity for more than 50 patrons must have a designated nonsmoking section.

The restaurants must post a sign at the entrance of the dining area indicating that the no smoking area is available. If a patron requests it, he must be seated in that clearly marked area.

Another new law prohibits smoking in supermarkets, although the store may have a designated smoking area for employees and the public. The store must put a sign at each entrance stating that smoking is prohibited.

The other two laws affect nursing homes and hospitals. Hospital staff must ask a patient, as he is admitted, if he prefers to be put in a nonsmoking room.

Patients then may smoke only if they are in a room with other smokers. Visitors, too, are subject to the rules, and connot smoke if they are in a nonsmoking room.

In addition to these laws, there is a growing trend of voluntary smoking restrictions. Many doctor's offices have no smoking sighs in waiting rooms. Meeting rooms of public bodies (city councils, school boards) often are declared off limits to smokers to accommodate non-smokers who must sit through meetings and share the air.

Individual homeowners, too, are beginning to throw away their ashtrays, and insist that visiting friends wait until they go home to light up.

The facts cited by the American Lung Association on the effects of "second-hand smoke" are startling.

They point out that cigar, cigarette and pipe smokers fill the air with smoke in two ways.

The most important for nonsmokers are the fumes called "sidestream" smoke, which goes directly into the air from the burning end, while the cigarette is "idling".

Mainstream smoke is the smoke inhaled then exhaled by the smoker.

"The fascinating fact is that sidestream smoke — the smoke from the burning end — has higher concentrations of noxious compoinds than the mainstream smoke inhaled by the smoker," the Lung Association points out.

Their pamphlets cite studies indicating that sidestream smoke contains twice as much tar and nicotine as mainstream smoke, and five times as much carbon monoxide, which robs the blood of oxygen when inhaled.

In industry, the maximum concentration of carbon monoxide in the air must not exceed 50 ppm (parts per million), a level that some environmentalists are trying to lower to 25 ppm.

"Researchers have found that smoking seven cigarettes in one hour — even in a ventilated room — created carbon monoxide levels of 20 ppm. In the seat next to the smoker, the level shot up to 90 ppm," the Lung Association said.

"Smoking 10 cigarettes in an enclosed car also produced carbon monoxide levels up to 90 ppm.

Therefore the levels of the gas fill the bloodstream of the non-smoker in the room as well as the smoker.

Persons can suffer eye irritation, nasal symptoms, headache, cough, sore throat and other effects from such exposure. Persons already ill with emphysema, bronchitis, lung or heart disease can be aggravated.

As many nonsmokers have realized for years, tobacco odors cling to body and clothes. Research has shown that the human body attracts tobacco smoke.

The nonsmokeers Bill of Rights states that: "Nonsmokers have the right to breathe clean air, free from harmful and irritating tobacco smoke. This right supersedes the right to smoke when the two conflict."

Elizabeth Loosley, president of American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, stated: "These non-smoking laws emphasize that non-smokers do have rights, and the habit of smoking is fast becoming a privilege.

"It's no longer just a matter of life and breath, it's the law.

"We're not trying to legislate morality. We're not trying to legislate personal habits. We're just trying to protect the health of the public."

The Episcopal Church Women of Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville are getting ready for their annual Spring Luncheon and Card Party, to be held April 27 at the Church, located on Belleville Road at Venetian. Cost of the 12 p.m. luncheon is $2.50, and door prizes will be awarded. A special feature of the luncheon will be a dessert buffet, where guests will be able to select a luncheon "topper" from a wide variety of pastries. Helping to promote the luncheon, at which potted geraniums will be used as centerpieces and table prizes and be available by the pot or plant, are Church Women Diane Wilson (from left), Norine Jones and Betty Thom, who is co-chairing the event with Jeane Wilson. — ANP photo.

Workshop helps parents to cope

Parents frequently are in need of information, psychological support or both in dealing with the many problems that occur when working with their handicapped child, since the first two decades of life are crucial years for attaining and coordination, as well as emotional and social development for the child.

With that in mind, the Wayne County Easter Seal Society is offering a workshop experience, "Parenting Children with Handicaps" at the society's center on Hyde Park Drive in Inkster on Saturday and on May 21.

The workshop will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Parents who have questions they would like answered or who would like to become aware of the many services available to their child are invited to attend.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Kay Thompson at 722-3055, or by writing the Easter Seal Society at P.O. Box 101, Inkster 48141.

Garden Club 'tours' Russia

Associated Newspapers' chief photographer, Lothar Konietzko, was the recent guest speaker at the April meeting of the Van Buren Garden Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prais.

Konietzko discussed Russia, showing Garden Club members and their guests slides and crafts from the Communist country. Among the items he displayed before club members was a decorated wooden egg, which concealed five dolls; assorted Russian candy; a stamp collection and coins; keychain; metalic emblems and a Moscow newspaper, as well as recorded Russian music.

Konietzko also showed off several large posters including one of a train and young man, saying "You are the main (or trunk) line in this country". Another was a picture of factories, which read: "Socialists compete for higher standards or goal's". And a compelling poster of Lenin read: "Foward towards victory with Communism".

Two other posters include slogans of "Our strength is in Unity and Friendship" and "Women's work and love of family and children has the respect of all of us. 1975 will be Women's Day".

According to the professional photographer, women are being asked to be more active in that country and to work harder.

Other interesting facts brought out during the meeting were that Russian youngsters are fond of, and beg for, American chewing gum, and that Russians like American Jazz and Levi blue jeans.

Konietzko also told club members that the Russians have many good apartment houses and good architecture, however, it is inferior to American standards because of a lack of skilled labor.

He also said Russians are allowed to own only one-third acre of land around their home and only one car, and they are not permitted to sell either for more than what they paid for it. There also is no private business; everything is state-owned.

Club members also were shown the guarded mausoleum where Lenin is buried, and slides of interesting buildings, churches, parks and the City of Leningrad.

During the meeting, the minutes of the previous gathering were read by Winifred Gault, and it was announced that a donation will be made to Project Wildflower to enhance the beauty of Michigan's roadsides.

Ada Posthumus also commented on the outstanding flower arrangements contributed by members of the Garden Clubs for the spring meeting in Plymouth, and Mrs. William Hermann conducted a successful bake and plant sale.

On tap in the coming weeks for club members is a visit to the Azalea Gardens on Grosse Ile.

125 fathers, sons attend annual meal

More than 125 fathers and sons were on hand April 2 for the annual Fathers and Sons Banquet at Community United Methodist Church of Romulus.

The gathering dined on a roast beef dinner, prepared by Arabelle Longan and served by the United Methodist Women and the girls of the United Methodist Youth Fellowship.

The program theme was the American Indians and included devotion by The Rev. Paul Greer, and the Indian moccasin ceremony when each person present was presented with a tiny pair of mocassins, which the pinned on as a symbol of not to judge a man until you have walked two moons in his moccasins.

The main program featured was presented by the Huron District Order of the Arrow Boy Scouts, under the direction of its dance advisor, Charles Scott of Taylor. The Scouts performed a number of Indian dances of the Menominee Indians and presented several games the young sons participated in. The Scouts wore authentic colored Indian costumes for the program.

Willie T. Clown also entertained the youngsters by creating balloon animals.

Honored with gifts during the program were E.L. Wooll as the oldest father, Ed Carpenter as the youngest father, Hal Savage and Joe Sevell as the fathers with the most sons present and Ed Joel Carpenter II as the youngest son. Honorable mention was given to Bernard Bird, George Carpenter, Ben Scott, Bill Kreuger, Fred Hay, Elwood McCuiag and E.L. Wooll for having three family generations present.

Special thanks also was extended to Barbara Wahrman, Dorothy Greer and their committee for the unusual decorations, Tony Giamanco, the accompanist, Thelbert Thompson for the group singing, The Rev. Greer and Nancy Paul for the printing and making of the tickets and programs, Carl Morris, program chairman, Bill Oakley, toastmaster, Clair Holland for the gifts, and the Huron District of the Arrow Scouts and their advisors for an interesting program.

Thank yous also were extended to the women who baked pies for the dinner and all those who helped with the event.

BELLEVILLE—A field representative of the Inkster office of Social Security will be at the Belleville Municipal Building from 9 to 11:30 a.m. April 28. The representative will be there to help residents apply for benefits or answer any questions about Social Security. Further information can be obtained by calling 493-1111.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL KAMIN

The couple observed the milestone occasion April 9, with their four children and spouses, 14 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren, enjoying dinner together at the Harbor House.

The Kamins have lived in the Belleville community all their lives. They were married in 1917 by a Justice of the Peace in Detroit.

A 60th wedding anniversary cake was shared by the family, and table was accented with a centerpiece of carnations, mums and gladiolus. Mrs. Kamin wore a blue dress and a corsage of pink carnations.

Kamin worked for 39 years at Ford Motor Co., before retiring in 1964. The couple attend St. Paul's Lutheran Church of New Boston.

They enjoy outdoor summer hobbies, Mrs. Kamin working on gardening and raising flowers, and her husband doing the vegetable gardening.

Also attending the dinner party was Mrs. Earl Biard of Romulus, who was an attendant at the wedding 60 years ago.

Children of the couple are Alice Prakapas of Belleville, Clarence, who lives in Romulus, Laurence, another Romulus resident, and Flourence McCary of Carleton, Mich. Another son, Leroy, was killed in World War II.

3 couples plan spring nuptials

Wedding bells will be chiming for three Belleville women planning marriages this spring and next.

SMITH—WAGNER

May 14 is the date that has been set by Ruthann A. Smith and her fiance, James H. Wagner.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royce E. Smith of 210 W. Columbia, Belleville. The bride-to-be is a Belleville High School graduate and now attends Eastern Michigan University. She is in her senior year, studying music education.

Wagner is an Ypsilanti resident, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Wagner of Grosse Pointe Woods.

He has a bachelor's degree in music from Eastern Michigan University, as well as a master's degree in Piano and composition.

The couple will be wed at Apostolic Faith Church in Ypsilanti.

MEYER—GIRARD

Belleville resident Donna Jean Meyer will be wed on May 21 to Gary W. Girard, also of Belleville.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Meyer of Madelon Street is Belleville. She is a senior at Belleville High School and works as a phone operator at Meijer's Thrifty Acres in Canton Township.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Girard of Mobil Home Park Drive in Belleville, is a 1975 graduate of Lincoln High School, and works as a computer operator at R. R. Polk Co.

HENRY—GUZOWSKI

Miss Henry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Henry, of Lauren Court, Belleville. Their daughter is a 1973 graduate of Belleville High School. Miss Henry currently attends Eastern Michigan University, where she is in her sophomore year.

She also is employed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guzowski of Pardo Street, Garden City.

MISS HENRY

He is a 1967 graduate of Garden City West High School, and has an associates degree in mechanical technology from Schoolcraft College.

The groom-to-be works at Ex-Cell-O Aerospace Development Center in Walled Lake.

The couple will be wed at St. Anthony's Church of Belleville.

Mulls' first child is Mark Edward

Mark Edward is the name chosen by Edward and Patricia Mull of Belleville for their first child, a son, born April 4.

The infant made his "debut" at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, weighing in at 6 lbs., 12 ozs. He measured 19½ inches.

Young Mark is the newest grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parent of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Mull of Hillsdale.

The younger Mulls live on Willis Road in Belleville.

Katherine Agnes Schultz, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schultz of Belleville was baptized recently at St. Anthony's Church of Belleville.

Sponsoring the infant were Sue Pawloski and Bill Finch.

Guests for the ceremony then shared in a turkey dinner, with guests including (Boka) Frances Korgal, the Pete Korgal family, the Frank Korgals, Joan Schultz, great-grandfather Edward Pawlowski and the Bob Pawlowski family.

Pre-planning and CHOOSING YOUR CEMETERY LOT
We plan our futures with such care. Yet our futures must include a final resting place — and that frequently receives little or no planning. Sparing the bereaved this emotional detail and the anxieties with which it is associated, this is a wise thing you can do ahead of time.
Presented here, then, are several questions often asked about the early selection of a cemetery lot. You might well ask them of yourself:
A. Which cemetery and location of plot?
B. How many spaces and what's the cost?
C. If we move away from here, will the cemetery buy the lots back?
D. Can I sell my lots to someone else?
E. Is the cemetery properly funded for Perpetual Care?
Some of these questions can't be answered without some action on your part. You should investigate and discuss them with representatives of cemeteries under consideration.
If you have specific questions, feel free to call on us. We'll try to help you find the answers.

Gobles spend 17 days on Hawaiian Islands

Mr. and Mrs. James Goble of Wabash Street just returned home from a 17-day trip to Hawaii, which was in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. They are members of the Senior Citizens Society of Michigan, the group that sponsored the trip. The Gobles were the only ones from the Belleville group.

They landed on the island of Maui and visited the islands of Hilo, Kona, Kauai and Oahu. They spent a week in Honolulu and saw the National Cementery where so many servicemen were buried during the Korean War. They described the trip as wonderful and the islands beautiful.

Harry Wilkinson of Costa Rica recently spent four days with his mother, Mrs. Sybil Wilkinson of Liberty Street.

The Reginald Atyeos of Church Street were visited by the former's daughter, Mrs. Jean Booth of Athens, Ga., for 10 days over the Easter holidays. On April 8 they entertained for dinner, Mrs. Booth, and cousins from Basin, Wy., and cousins Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tonah of Detroit. On Easter Sunday dinner guests were Mrs. Booth, and Mrs. Atyeo's daughters and husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nichols of Allen Park and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lent-Koop of Dearborn.

Miss Aldine Potter who has resided in White Cloud for the past few months has returned to Belleville and now is living at 104 High St.

On April 10 Mr. and Mrs. Ed Quinley of Sumpter Road returned home after a vacation in some southern States. They visited Mrs. Quinley's father in Corbin, Ky., and aunt in Hamilton, Ohio, and an uncle in Jonesville, Va. At one place in Virginia they ended up in the flooded area and had to spend a night there.

Dinner guests on Easter Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller of Second Street were their daughter, Aileen Mengel of Ann Arbor, and son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Miller of Garden City. Afternoon callers were Mrs. Solinger and daughter Marie Beach of Dearborn.

Recent callers at the home of Mrs. Howard McQuaid of Second Street were her son and his wife, The Rev. and Mrs. Robert McQuaid and sons Jim and John of Lansing, and grandson and wife Mr. and Mrs. David Adams of Belleville and a granddaughter, Miss. Linda Adams of Ann Arbor. They were there to help Mrs. McQuaid celebrate her 80th birthday. The family drove to Bill Knapps Restaurant on Carpenter Road for dinner. A daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Adams had planned on being present, too, but due to sudden illness in the family they were called to Kentucky.

Mrs. Henry Potter of Liberty Street and Miss Aldine Potter of High Street spent this April 7 at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Richard LeMoyne of Livonia.

Mrs. Mayme Block of Eureka Road, Romulus, has returned to her home after a stay at Annapolis Hospital. She is now able to have visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carver of Carmille were visited for a few days this past week by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dickey of Poland, Ind. Mrs. Dickey is the sister of Carver.

Mrs. Pat Priebe of Columbia Avenue recently gave a birthday party for her son Jody who celebrated his 5th birthday. There were many small guests and relatives present. Jody was remembered with many lovely gifts.

The welcome mat was out for Mr. and Mrs. David Wertz when they returned home after a 4-month vacation in Naples, Fla. They were greeted by their family, Mr. and Mrs. David Wertz and their daughter, Mrs. Janice Lembright of Wisconsin.

Sheldon Harrison of Chaney Street has returned home after spending two weeks in Outer Drive Hospital for surgery. Harrison and his mother, Mrs. Rosetta Harrison are being visited by the latter's sister, Mrs. Mayo from Milwaukee, Wis.

Paula Dolph of Pittsburg, Penna., was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dolph over the Easter weekend.

Phyliss Stickney of Detroit spent Easter Sunday with her Mother, Mrs. Harold Leschinske of Columbia Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carnahan of Huron River Drive were dinner guests on Easter Sunday of their son Bernard and family of Ypsilanti, their other son Donald and his family were also dinner guests.

Bunny Business

A giant Easter Bunny last week paid a visit to students at Norris School, accompanied by Westland John Glenn High School Co-Op Club students, who brought entertainment and Easter baskets. Five-year-old Todd Ney of Romulus got the seat of honor on Peter Rabbit's lap as he examined his Easter basket, and 15-year-old Mary Rehak watched. Actually, there's a person under that white bunny suit — co-op student Cindy Taylor, a senior at John Glenn. — Photo by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

HV Business women chapter observe second anniversary

A luncheon meeting, featuring two guest speakers, a recognition ceremony for members with perfect attendance, and drawing of winners' names from a recent scholarship fund drive contest, were among the ways that the American Business Women's Association, Huron Valley Charter Chapter, recently celebrated its second anniversary.

The club observed its anniversary by having a luncheon meeting at the Tin Lizzie Restaurant in Belleville on April 7.

Guest speaker was Julie Chambers, field director for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. She described the benefits of Scouting for young girls, calling the organization a "values-rooted organization and people-centered movement."

She added that Scouting teaches the girls to develop an awareness of themselves, giving them an opportunity to "stretch and grow" Young Scouts learn to lead and follow, learn to live with others in this world and gain understanding and responsibility.

Another speaker for the women's club was Nancy Landi, branch manager of Sarah Coventry jewelry. As vocational speaker, she described her work, which is putting on jewelry shows at homes from Saline to Westland. Currently, she has 14 women working with her, giving jewelry demonstrations.

Ms. Landi and her staff sold $8,000 worth of jewelry in January, making her tops in the nation, she said. The Sarah Coventry Co. also awards incentives to employees in the form of trips, and she said that one of her demonstrators won a trip in March.

Sarah Coventry also provides scholarships for the employees' children who have been employed for three years, she told club members.

Other club activities of the American Business Women's Association was recognition of 12 members who had perfect attendance at the monthly meetings for the whole preceding year. They were awarded perfect attendance certificates and charms.

The chapter also is planning a "boss night" dinner meeting May 18. At that time, each member may express her appreciation to her employer or co-worker by bringing them to the festive dinner meeting, where the aims, purposes and accomplishments of the chapter will be demonstrated.

At the meeting, special honor is given to the individual who is chosen Boss of the Year.

Club officers also told the group that the recent scholarship fund drive was a success. A drawing for the prizes in the fund-raiser was held by Willene Taylor, Wayne and means chairperson.

The winner of the first prize of an afghan was Odalee Hoeft of Belleville. Nine other names were drawn and prizes given, ranging from lap robes, hand-made table mates, to jewelry and plant arrangements.

The other winners were Mazie Isaacson of Belleville, Elton Ahles of Ypsilanti, Naty Boyer of Ypsilanti, Dorothy King of Belleville, John Spencer of Ypsilanti, Edgar Hardy of Canton, Woody Batson of Ypsilanti, M. Griffin of Ypsilanti and Jackie Johnson of Ypsilanti.

Here's how to bid to win in Channel 56 TV Auction

Friday through April 30 more than 7,000 items, including a 1977 Plymouth Volare, a catered Souvalki party for 80 people and a trip for two to Las Vegas will be on the auction block as Detroit's alternative broadcasting station stages its annual Great TV Auction.

And as the auction start draws near, Chanel 59 is offering tips for potential bidders on how to get the items they want during the 9-day sellathon for public television.

To bid, viewers should keep these steps in mind:

(1) Keep a pencil, paper and phone close to the television set.

(2) Spot a desired item and jot down its board and item numbers.

(3) Grab the phone and the dial number shown on the television screen as quickly as possible. It's important to bid fast and high. The higher the bid, the greater the chances of success.

(4) Once you've place your bid, keep watching and keep cool.

(5) The highest bid will be announced on the air and the highest bidder will receive a confirming phone call. Instructions for pickups are given at the time of the call-back.

"It's just that easy and fun to bid on auction items," said auction general chairman Ilene Gold.

Local celebrities who will act as auctioneers and emcees during the event will include Bob Talbert, Pete Waldmeir, Jackie Gordon, Dick Purtan, Deanno Day, Shirley Eder, Tom Shannon, Al Ackerman and J.P. McCarthy.

One million viewers are expected to tune in Channel 56 during Auction Week, based on estimates from previous years. The telecast schedule will be 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. Friday, 12 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday, 2 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Sunday through next Thursday, 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. next Friday and 12 p.m. until everything's gone on April 30.

Channel 56 Auction ranks fifth nationally out of 65 public television stations which telecast auctions, falling in line behind New York, Boston, San Francisco and Chicago in terms of money raised, and first among UHF stations. Last year's auction raised $511,893, or 25 percent of the station's budget for the year. Channel 56 hopes to surpass that amount this year.

The station still is accepting donations of merchandise and even while the auction is on the air. The station asks that brand, new, saleable items worth $35 or more be brought directly to its studios, located at the corner of Second and Bethune, one block north of the Fisher Building in Detroit.

Metroparks prepare for spring visitors

Why not try some fishing or boating?

With the advent of warm weather erasing any traces of the worse winter in some 100 years, the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority's metroparks are gearing up for a busy spring and summer.

Although swimming facilities at the metroparks won't open until the weekend on May 27, boat launching sites are in operation at specific parks, however, boat launching permits — $5 annually, $1 for senior citizens and $1 daily — are required now through October.

Also required at all nine of the parks are vehicle entry permits which cost $5 annually, $1 for senior citizens and $1 daily.

Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens covers some 550 acres and has more than 1¼ miles of frontage on Lake St. Clair. Now open daily at the park are the food bar, an 18-hole Par 3 golf course, tennis and shuffleboard courts, special games area, tot lot and adjoining play areas and boardwalk.

Small craft can be launched from ramps along Black Creek, which provides access to Lake St. Clair, one of the state's favorite fishing and boating areas.

Metro Beach park hours are from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. For further information, contact the beach at 963-3022 (Detroit line) or 463-4581 (Mt. Clemens).

In the Rochester-Utica area, the authority maintains the Stony Creek Metropark, which covers 4,000 acres of rolling countryside, wooded areas and a 600-acre manmade lake.

Facilities now open at the park included fishing and boating on Stony Creek Lake, playfields, picnic areas, nature trails and the nature study center.

Pike, small-mouth bass, perch, bluegills and crappies inhabit the lake. The facility's large boat launching ramp can accommodate up to 10 launchings simultaneously.

Park hours are 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. daily, and beer, wine or other alcoholic beverages are prohibited at the site through June 11. For further information contact the park at 781-4242 (Washington).

One of Southeastern Michigan's most popular playgrounds, Kensington Metropark, occupies 4,350 acres near Milford. Currently open at the park are such facilities as fishing and boating on the 1,200-acre Kent Lake, playfields, picnic areas, 18-hole golf course, nature trails and nature center plus miles of roadways for scenic drives.

Pike, small-mouth bass, perch bluegills and crappies inhabit Kent Lake, popular with fishermen, and two boat ramps provide access to the lake.

Canoeing is popular along the Huron River and through Kent Lake, however, the park does not rent canoes.

Park hours are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., and beer, wine and other alchoholic beverages are prohibited from the "Playfield" and "Possum Hollow" picnic areas and at the beach sites. For further information call 685-1561 (Milford).

Three are three metroparks — Hudson Mills, Dexter-Huron and Delhi — in Washtenaw County, all located along the Huron River from five to 12 miles northwest of Ann Arbor.

Each park has playground facilities, picnic areas, shelters, stoves and shore fishing, while Hudson Mills, which occupies 1,050 acres, has a scenic lagoon, canoe campsite and nature trails for self-guided hikes. Delhi is best known for its attractive rapids along the river.

Hours at the three parks are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and for further information contact the Hudson Mills Metropark at 426-8211 (Dexter).

There also are three metroparks located in Western Wayne County, Lower Huron—1,200 acres near Belleville— Willow — 1,500 acres — and Oakwoods — 1,171 acres — both between Belleville and Flat Rock. All three parks are located along the Huron River.

Lower Huron Metropark has a scenic parkway, and several picnic-playfield areas, as well as an 18-hole Par 3 golf course, children's play areas and shuffleboard courts. No food service, however, is available during this month.

Willow Metropark has more than two miles of interior park road, wooded areas, several picnic-playfields areas, large tot lot and tennis and basketball courts.

Oakwoods Metropark, primarily is a nature interpretive area, with a large nature center and several trails marked for self-guided hikes. There is a 2½-mile drive back to the nature center, and the park has few picnic areas and comfort stations.

The park hours are from sunrise to 10 p.m. For details contact the Lower Huron Metropark at 697-9181 (Belleville) or Oakwoods Metropark at 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

CB World

Breaker, breaker This is Nightbird

By JANICE PLESIEWICZ
Nightbird KNN 5032

Breakers, 10-4s, keep your shiny side up and your greasy side down, super slab, 10-36s, smokey bears and Nightbird. What does it all mean?

To most CBers this is all a part of their own special language. Where does Nightbird fit in? I would like to take the time to introduce you to her personally. I am Nightbird, sometimes better known as Janice Plesiewicz. I will be here with you weekly with CB World, passing on to you any information, answering your questions and letting you know what's happening on the airwaves.

I've been residing in the Romulus area for the past nine years. Formerly, I lived in the northwest section of Detroit. I have been a CBer for a little over a year. Now, I realize one year does not exactly qualify me as an "old veteran" in CB radio, but in the past year I can't begin to tell you the experiences I have had on the frequencies. Some of my experiences have been funny, some sad and some just plain aggravating, but most have all been worthwhile.

As far as knowing about the different types of equipment used in CB, I have seen several different units in various sizes, shapes and colors. I have been through a barrage of bad connectors, pinched coax, lost antennas, squealing mikes, antennas blown off of houses — including my own — channel wash and TVI problems. I have experienced many headaches and many pleasures with CB, and I'm sure I will run into a lot more as times goes on. As I run into these pleasures and problems, I would like to share them with you through this column.

How did Nightbird get involved with CB radio? My first experience came about quite suddenly. I was shopping one day and happened to hear a CB radio that was on display in the store. I listened to it for awhile, and then decided to try one. I figured if I didn't like it I could always sell it. After having it installed in my car I sat back and just listened to it for about a week. What I heard was totally beyond my comprehension. It was mass confusion as far as I was concerned. My next step was to pick a handle, if I was ever going to talk on that radio. I decided on the handle I wanted to use and the transformation began, I was no longer an ordinary person, I was "NIGHTBIRD".

Needless to say, I picked up that mike and said, "Go ahead, lady, break channel 7". Everything I had planned to say was no longer with me, my mind went blank and I reached over and turned the radio off. It took another couple of days to rebuild the courage I had lost in my first attempt, but my next try was a success. I finally had asked for a 10-36 (the time).

After a few days of knowing what time it was continually I went on to bigger and better things — the almighty "RADIO CHECK". The next two weeks went smoothly. Everyone was more than willing to co-operate, and if nothing else I knew my radio was working just great.

Needless to say, it all came about gradually, but it happened, I became a CBer. It has all been worthwhile, because I have been able to have fun with the radio. I have been able to help people, and above all, I have met some of the nicest people you can imagine just by saying those two magic words, "Breaker, Breaker".

What else is Nightbird involved in? At the present time I am corresponding secretary and public relations for a CB organization called HELP (Highway Emergency Life Patrol). I also am chairman for the Romulus chapter of this same organization. The group consists of CBers involved in helping motorists on the highway. We monitor our bases and mobiles, being the eyes and ears of the roads. If there is an emergency we will then proceed to take the information and relay it to the local authorities. Presently, I am also a member of the Ford Motor Co. Gas Buggy CB club.

Mrs. Harrison is 'Senior of Month'

By MAUREEN BEATTY

Because we feel that the daily accomplishments of our senior citizens often are overlooked, and that the senior members of our community deserve more recognition, we are dedicating one week a month to a "Senior of the Month".

The senior of the month need not be an individual who has made him-or herself well known, but someone who, in his own quiet way, has bettered the lives of those around him. Someone whom you feel is nice to know.

We'll need your help. Send us the name and telephone number of your choice of "Senior of the Month", and they will be contacted. What a nice way to say, "I'm glad I know you".

EVA HARRISON

April's "Senior Citizen of the Month", is Eva Harrison, 65, of Romulus. In 1974 Eva, a full-time housewife for 30 years, returned to the working world. Initially employed by the Wayne County Office on Aging as an assistant in the nutrition program at the Methodist Church in Romulus, Eva was promoted to a part-time coordinator's position in April 1976. As a coordinator, Eva is responsible for the total operation of six nutrition sites. Her duties include interviewing, hiring and direct supervision of all personnel.

Fellow employees are impressed with Eva's dedication to her job. During last year's severe winter weather, she rarely missed work. She is a quiet woman, but always ready to lend an ear. She is not a complainer, even when the lines on her gently sculptured face show she has had a hard day.

Besides her busy work schedule, Eva is active in a number of clubs. She is a member of the Romulus Senior Citizens, the Wayne-Westland Senior Citizens, group, Detroit Citizens for Better Care and the National Council of Senior Citizens. She also is an associate member of the Retired UAW.

Eva maintains her own home, including caring for her lawn and still finds time occasionally for such hobbies as sewing and crocheting.

Born in Oklahoma, Eva became a Michigan resident in 1921. A widow for six years, Eva has one son, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, all residing in the Detroit area.

Minutes of the Board of Education
SPECIAL MEETING
March 21, 1977

A Special Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, March 21, 1977 at 7:00 p.m.

Members present: R. Lynne Hamilton, James Sayre, Richard Muse, Doris Roe, Elwood Bos, and William McCollum. Absent: Robert Cook. Also present were Superintendent Dale Kaulitz, Director of Instruction Douglas Brown, Director of Personnel Raymond Kohr, and Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer.

President Hamilton called the meeting to order at 7:05 p.m.

Discussion was held regarding the Tenure Hearing that was held on March 17, 1977 pertaining to dismissal charges against Mrs. Mary Winter, a tenure teacher in the Van Buren School District.

President Hamilton asked Secretary Bos to read the resolution recommending dismissal. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, the Board has held a hearing under the provisions of the Tenure Act in the case of Mrs. Mary Winter, which was a public hearing at the request of Mrs. Winter; and

Whereas, the Board members who heard the evidence are convinced that the Charges against Mrs. Winter are true, that she did in fact fail and refuse to perform her assigned teaching duties after being given clear directives to report for duty and ample warning of the consequences if she failed to do so, and that her conduct constitutes reasonable and just cause for discharge; Now, Therefore, it is resolved that Mrs. Mary Winter is hereby discharged from her employment by the Van Buren School District, and her tenure status and all other employment rights or benefits are hereby terminated, effective immediately;

Resolved Further, that the Superintendent or Director of Personnel shall promptly notify Mrs. Winter of this Board decision by providing her on her attorney with a true copy of this resolution;

Resolved Further, that the Superintendent or Director Personnel shall make appropriate arrangements for delivery to Mrs. Winter or her attorney of a copy of the transcript of the Tenure Act hearing as soon as the transcript is available.

Motion by Richard Muse, supported by Doris Roe, to adopt resolution as read. Roll call vote. Ayes: Hamilton, Muse, Sayre, and Roe. Abstained: McCollum and Bos. Nays: None. Motion carried.

President Hamilton read a letter of resignation from John Ford, Principal at Belleville High School. The letter was referred to the school attorneys for review.

President Hamilton called for an Executive Session at 7:45 p.m. The special meeting reconvened at 9:30 p.m. and adjourned at 9:35 p.m.

Restaurant Review

Ramada Inn's The Squire's Hearth

(ANP News Editor Sue McDonald fills in for a vacationing Lee Smith.

Although a part of the hustle and bustle that surrounds Detroit Metropolitan Airport, The Squire's Hearth has captured its own corner of peace and quiet.

With an English Tudor-style decor in subdued shades of red with dark wood accents, The Hearth has been a part of the airport scene since the opening of its companion facility, the Ramada Inn, six years ago. The inn is located on Merriman Road near I-94.

The restaurant has a quiet, leisurely aura, where diners are not rushed to order, eat and leave. Combined with excellent service and delicious food, The Hearth is a must for a special evening out.

Karen, our waitress and a 2-year employee of The Hearth, started us off with an appetizer of mushroom caps stuffed with seafood and served continental style with a cream sauce and on a strip of Canadian-style bacon ($2.95).

I nibbled my way through the four plump tidbits, while pondering the dinner menu, which included such entrees as dinners for two of Chateubriand Bouquetiere ($18.50) and Tenderloin of Beef Wellington ($19.50), classics like prime rib of beef au jus ($7.95) and chicken a la Kiev ($6.50), steaks and seafoods like Crab and Scallop Dauphine ($7.50), Alaskan King Crab legs ($7.95) and Stuffed Flounder ($6.95).

I settled for Shrimps a la Provencal ($6.95), while my husband opted for his favorite, New York Strip Steak ($8.50). On the side, we both selected salads with Italian dressing and compromised on Rose wine with dinner.

The salads were large, made up of fresh, crisp lettuce, tomato and something rarely found in such commercial vegetable plates, cucumbers. The dressing was made with a red wine vinegar and had a slightly tangy taste.

GENE CONOVER

We found we were in for a treat when dinner arrived. Billed as traditionally a man's favorite and for a hearty eater, the steak was just that. Broiled so the meat was pink inside, and tender and juicy and served with mushroom caps, it was a mouth-watering delight.

The shrimp dish was just as tempting. Five large shrimp, sauteed with garlic, lemon, white wine, mushrooms and fresh tomatoes, were served nestled between a hefty portion of rice pilaf. Mildly flavored, I found not only the shrimp, but the vegetable mixture fantastic, if not addictive. The pilaf was some of the best I've eaver eaten.

But eating isn't the only commodity that The Hearth has. For late evening diners, musical entertainment starts at about 8:30 p.m., with big name acts like The Crystals, well known in the 1960s, performing at 10 p.m. The later group completed their appearances at The Hearth last week.

According to Ramada Inn Manager Gene Conover, The Hearth also has its own version of "The Gong Show", with auditions on Monday evenings, and the actual show on Sunday evenings. Although no prizes will be awarded, participants will be given certificates for taking part in the amateur entertainment program. The Hearth's Gong Show will conclude in late May.

Another aspect of the Hearth I found interesting was the training program for its staff. According to Conover, the personnel monthly takes refresher instruction to keep service at its best. And it was as reflected in the efforts of our waitress, Karen.

So if you're thinking of a different sort of evening out, consider The Squire's Hearth, you'll find it a real treat.

Next week Lee Smith visits GOLDEN BOY

Centennial exhibit looks at changes in chemistry

A million-dollar centennial exhibit of the American Chemical Society, "Taking Things Apart and Putting Things Together", has opened at the Detroit Historical Museum on Woodward Avenue in Detroit.

The 5,000-square foot exhibit is filled with things to push, turn and touch that help make the role chemistry plays in our lives much more real and understandable.

Visitors can play a nutritional slot machine and find out if their diet is a winner or loser in the contest for good health. They also can test their knowledge of common materials and their chemical makeup.

Some of the dramatic advances that chemistry has made possible are in the field of health. The development of materials that the human body does not reject has made possible the replacement of heart valves and hip joints with artificial materials. Examples of these devices which allow tens of thousands of Americans to lead normal lives are included in the exhibit.

Supplementing the main exhibit is a display which illustrates the history of chemistry in Detroit and its current role in the areas' economy. Early in Detroit's chemical industry the production of brandy by French was a colorful if not important chemical process. As the city grew the fertilizer from Bison bones shipped from the West by the train lead was an important industry.

By the late 1800s Parke Davis was a major Detroit company, producing quality drugs for an international market.

The Historical Museum is open Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Wednesdays from 1 to 9 p.m.

Glenn hosts Elk Relays

Unold finishes 4th at Mansfield

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The last two of the 13 Elks Relays have been thrillers. Dearborn edged host Westland John Glenn by one points a year ago, avenging a one-point loss the previous year to Coach Barry Basel's Rockets.

Now the stage is set for the 14th annual Elks Relays which is sponsored by the Dearborn Elks but staged on the facilities of Westland John Glenn.

Competition will get underway at 11 a.m. Saturdav with the high jump and pole vault events, then, around noon the running events will be held.

"The last two meets have really been cliffhangers," said Basel, "and this year will be no exception. However, I feel Dearborn is the favorite. Coach Bridges (Bob) has an excellent team with a lot of holdovers from last year."

Among the teams that have accepted the invitation to compete include Bishop Borgess, Detroit Catholic Central, Cherry Hill, Hazel Park, Garden City West, Livonia Franklin, Royal Oak Dondero, Walled Lake Western, West Bloomfield along with Dearborn and the host, Glenn.

Meanwhile, Glenn's Ted Unold, fighting the flu, wound up fourth at the multi-state, international Mansfield Relays held over the weekend. The premier distance runner in the area was clocked in 4:18.8 in the mile.

Grosse Pointe North's Dan Wiedenbach won the mile with a 4:15.7 effort and it was the first time he had ever beaten Unold.

"Ted is suffering from a cold," Basel explained, "and I'm sure he'll be ready for this week."

Glenn's distance relay team made up of Mark Johnson, Dan Sitherman Cliff Williamson and Unold returned with fifth place medals as the foursome turned in a 7:38.8.

Wayne Memorial's Brett Hansen was the only Michigan hurdler to place in the meet. He was clocked in the sixth best ime for the highs (14.7) and also churned a 19.7 for the lows, good for another sixth place.

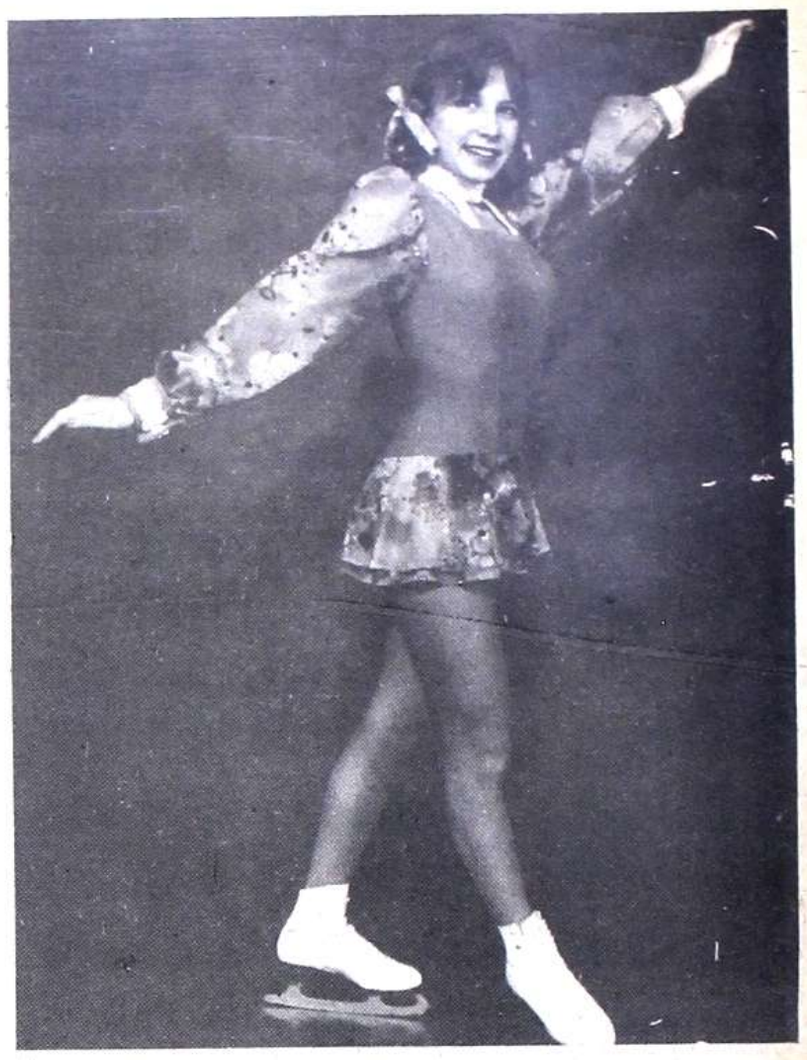
Miss Good wins skating title

With a near-perfect routine, Wayne's Gail Good recently captured top honors in tri-state competition of the United States Figure Skating Association, held at Lansing's Ice Arena.' Miss Good, competing in a field of 12 from Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Canada, finished first in the Preliminary Ladies Class. She performed a near-flawless two-minute routine which scores of perfect in all except one decision.

An eleventh-grade student at Wayne Memorial High School, Miss Good began her skating career two years ago in the Wayne Department of Parks and Recreation program.

For the USFSA tri-state competition, the 16-year-old skater was entered as a member of the Plymouth Skate Club.

Continuing to scale the plateau of skating proficiency, Miss Good divides her time betweeen USFSA meets with the Plymouth Club, and those sponsored by the International Ice Skating Institute of America of which the Wayne Department of Parks and Recreation club is affiliated.



Near perfect on ice

Wayne's Gail Good strikes up an excellent pose on the ice after capturing the Tri-State ice-skating competition held in Lansing. Miss Good beat out of a field of 12 skaters who represented Canada, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

Our dean of baseball retires

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

There are no great roars for the high school baseball coach.

Or many applauses — win or lose.

There are just innumerable memories. Ask Vitold Kaminskis, who for nearly three decades coached varsity baseball squads at Belleville High School.

The 57-year-old Kaminskis resigned prior to the 1977 season and two of his former players — Dan Fisher and Tom Fielder — have been named as varsity and junior varsity coaches, respectively.

When the then 30-year-old Kaminskis walked on to the diamond at Belleville in that year of 1949 after serving in the Air Force as a navigator who flew "The Hump" — Burma, India and China — during the World War, Harry S. Truman was still president of the United States.

And television was in its infancy, showing viewers healthy, wholesome family programs while Jackie Robinson, the first black to make it in the Major Leagues, led the Brooklyn Dodgers to the National League pennant and earned the league's MVP award.

People were still going to the movies and one of them, "All the King's Men", starring Broderick Crawford, was selected as the top movie of the year.

"It was a different time, almost a different place," reminisced Kaminskis. "It's no secret that baseball isn't as big as football or basketball in high school, but baseball had its unique place and the kids who came out for the sport respected what you attempted to do."

"Not it seems that all the kids want to work and get cars and that's not really conducive for sports."

There are also more "ego confrontations" in the schoolyard ball fields, and that also leads to a break-down in discipline. The "drug scene" — exaggerated or not — also creates problems.

"I'm happy to say that most of the kids who came out to play baseball were serious-minded youngsters who knew that they had to sacrifice to be where they were," Kaminskis.

"I've always tried to use the sport as a vehicle to instill positive attitudes in the players and teach them how to work and function as a team," Kaminskis added. "The won-lost record doesn't mean much if you produce a semi-illiterate athlete.

Vit said he was never what they would call an outstanding ball player. He earned a varsity stripe in baseball and basketball in the late thirties at Melvindale High School and the Second World War interrupted his and millions of other lives and careers. After serving with the 20th Air Force in the Pacific, he returned to Michigan after the war and attended Eastern Michigan University.

Vit married his high school sweetheart, Margie, and the marriage produced two sons: Roger, who is a captain in the Army stationed at Ford Carson, Colorado and Richard, who, after a stint with the Armed Services, decided to stay in Alaska to work on the oil line in Anchorage.

Both of his sons played for Kaminskis' teams at Belleville High. In fact, Rick was an All-Area candidate back in 1967.

Asked if he could name an 'all-time' team from the past 27 years, Kaminskis replied: "It's really difficult...we had so many good players."

But Vit gave it a try, and it went like this: pitchers — Bill Ray (1967) and Al Bara (1962); first baseman, Jerry Linderman (1958), second baseman Jim Backman (1959) and Rick Kaminskis (1967), shortstop Charlie Cabana (1963) and Ed Campbell (1959), third base Bill Osborne (1958).

For the outfielder, Kaminskis selected Ron Hunter (1952), Bruce Bara (1968), Bob Sharp (1960). Vern Gowen (1967) and John Duzan (1955) while behind the plate, three-time All-Area catcher Mike Dansard (1973), Frank Nunley (1963) and Gary Gentile (1968) were the selections.

Baseball just isn't going to be the same in these parts without the soft-spoken Kaminskis.

Glenn hosts GC East in opener

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

If Westland John Glenn loses any more ball games this season it won't be because the Rockets aren't scoring runs.

Coach Norm Hoenes' ball club has scored 47 runs in their seven appearances on the diamond thus far, but they also have committed 32 errors.

"Both stats are probably records," said Hoenes whose Rockets will begin the Northwest Suburban Conference phase of the season Friday at home to Garden City East.

"We're getting the run production and the pitching, if we can shore up our defense, I feel we will have an excellent team."

Glenn looked good Saturday against Plymouth Salem as the Westlanders swept a doubleheader, winning the night cap 5-1 behind Craig Duncan's three-hit pitching, after working nine innings to take the opener, 5-4.

Duncan fanned seven and walked one, while losing pitcher Barry Bruckner went the distance and was touched for six hits. He whiffed six and walked two.

Glenn took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Walker doubled with one away, stole third and scored on a pass ball. Salem tied it up in the bottom of the fifth as Tim Lilley singled, stole second and scored on an error.

The Westlanders put two runs on the board in the sixth when Linhoff and Walker were safe on errors. Mark Grabowski's sacrifice moved the baserunners up to second and third.

Mike Bednarski then put down a bunt that got enough flight into it that it went over the on-rushing pitcher's glove, scoring Linhoff and Walker.

The Rockets got a couple of insurance runs in the seventh on a two-out single by John Merwyn, a walk to Linhoff and run-scoring base hits by Walker and Grabowski.

In the opener, an unearned run in the ninth gave the Rockets the close 5-4 victory. In that inning Walker scored on a wild pitcher after Grabowski singled him to third.

Brian Martin pitched all nine innings, gave up eight hits into a second inning homer to Dick Beadburn to pick up the decision. Martin fanned four and walked an equal number. Callas was the loser in relief of Doug Holloway who lasted eight innings, struck out seven and walked three.

Pieces beginning to fall into place for Wayne '9'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Chronowski came to that conclusion over the weekend when his Zebras pounded always-respectable Ypsilanti 9-1 and 9-2 to sweep both ends of a nonleague doubleheader.

The two wins boosted Wayne's over-all record to 3-1 on the season. They opened up the Great Lakes 8 Conference league play Tuesday at home to Fordson and travel to Monroe, the defending champ, on Thursday.

"We're beginning to look like a team," Chronowski commented. "The pieces are starting to fall into places."

And one of the key pieces is senior pitcher Pat Bledsoe who looked in mid-season form as Saturday as he checked Ypsilanti on a four-hitter to chalk up the 9-1 victory. He notched six strikeouts and walked four in his second win of the campaign.

Ypsilanti scored an unearned run in the top of the fourth to spoil Bledsoe's bid for a shutout.

Bill Crews, who recently signed a letter of intent for Eastern Michigan University, drilled a bases-loaded triple in the sixth and also singled in three appearances at the plate.

Crews' blast came in the bottom of the sixth after Tim Clark singled, stole second and moved to third when sophomore Mark Korte, who is batting .500, grounded out. Roger Perkey's single scored the first run of the inning, then Jerry Smart singled and Doug McGill walked, loading the bases for Crews who belted losing pitcher Marty Jeppesen's fast ball for the three-bagger.

Wayne got on the scoreboard in the first inning, but the Braves tied it up at 1-all in the fouth. A three-run Wayne outburst in the fifth and the five runs in the sixth iced it for the Zebras.

In the nightcap, Jim Canfield made it two straight as he twirled a five-hitter to claim a 9-2 triumph over the Braves. He struck out three and walked none and was relieved in the fifth by Don Johnson who pitched the last two innings in a constant downpour of rain.

Crews also went two for three in the second game and finished the series with five runs batted in, two stolen bases and walked twice, once intentionally.

Don Johnson belted two hits, one a run-scoring triple, while Korte also accounted for two of the Zebras' total 11 hits.

Ypsilanti's Davis brothers — Scott and Jeff — picked up five of the nine hits the Braves had for the two games. Scott had three, including a triple, and Jeff drilled two, also a one going also going for three a three-bagger.

Sluggish Spartans start league play

If Cherry Hill isn't ready for the Tri-River Conference baseball campaign this week is won't be because of the lack of games.

Coach Ken Mientkiewicz' Spartans have played seven games in a span of eight days and have emerged with a 3-4-1 record. The "tie" waa a 1-1 affair at Woodhaven, called in the fifth due to darkness.

Mientkiewicz felt that the nightcap along with the opening game against Woodhaven should have been Cherry Hill victories.

"Our lackadaisical performance is costing us," the second year Spartan coach said. "We're good in the early innings, then there's a complete letdown in the final innings."

Mientkiewicz pointed to the opener against Woodhaven when Cherry Hill leaped to a 5-0 first inning lead then blew up in the seventh when Woodhaven tied it, and went on to win it in the eight, 9-8.

"No way should we have given them that game," Mietkiewicz pointed out. "It's just a lack of concentration."

Scotty Dawson was charged with the loss. He took over from Mark Lipinski who worked the first seven inning. Dawson, said Mientkiewicz, was the victim of his teammates' sluggish play.

Tim Hoffer led Cherry Hill's attack, swatting two hits in four appearances and also scoring twice.

The Spartans wasted Lipinski's three hits and two runs batted in in losing to Garden City East 8-6 last Thursday. Sander made his one hit count for two RBI's and Hoffer also doubled.

Cherry Hill began the 1977 season against Dundee, winning the first of a twin bill 8-7 but dropping the second game 11-3. In the opener Buck, in relieve of Lipinski was the winning pitcher. Mark lasted six innings and had a perfect 3 for 3 at the plate in the nightcap.

Mientkiewicz' Spartans managed a sweep over New Boston, winning 7-3 in the first game behind Lipinski's nine-hitter. He struck out 10 and walked one.

Doyle hammered two hits and two RBIs and catcher Larry Baker went two for two.

In the nightcap, Dawson sturuck out 12, walked none and scattered five hits to post a 10-0 shutout over the Chiefs. He got hitting support from Ron Sosnowski who picked up two hits while Lipinski scored three times and Doyle wound up with a perfect three for three.

Synder, who went two for three and two RBIs and Richard Rimmel, with two for three and one RBI, also figured in the rout.

The Spartans were scheduled to begin the Tri-River Conference season Wednesday at home against Melvindale. On Friday, they're at Riverside.

Weather wipes out Tiger opener

If the weatherman gives him some cooperation, Dan Fisher hopes to make his coaching debut in the Suburban 8 Conference baseball circuit this week.

Because of the inclement weather, Fisher and his minions were forced to postpone their opener against Edsel Ford. But the Tigers are scheduled to meet Trenton on Friday.

"We're very anxious to play," said Fisher who replaced the veteran Vit Kaminskis as head coach this season. "We haven't practiced a whole lot together during the Easter vacations because our seniors were in the Bahamas with their classmates."

Huron Valley wrestlers hold meet

The Huron Valley Wrestling Club will hold its inaugural wrestling tournament Friday and Saturday at Huron High School.

The meet is open to wrestlers 14-years-old and under who will be competing in the following age brackets: 13-14; 11-12; 9-10 and 8 and under.

Competition will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday and the finals on Saturday at 8 a.m. Medals will be awarded to the first, second and third place finishers in each weight class and there will also be a team trophy for each age group.

Further information about the tournament may be obtained by telephoning Bob Farrugia at 753-4151.

North sets baseball tryouts

Players 9-to-10 should appear on the diamond at 10 a.m., and 11-12 year-olds at noon.

Further information about the tryouts may be obtained by telephoning Wally Brown at 728-6912.

The league also needs officials for umpiring games, coaching and managing. Those interested should attend the tryouts Saturday or contact Brown.

A very good year

The Tiger Swim Club in Belleville finished a long and gruelling season last week by placing in nine events at the South Livonia Relays. Surrounding the trophies they won are members of Coach John Stosick's team.

Romulus sophomore jumps 6 feet, 4 inches

Romulus, struggling to field track teams in bygone years, has apparently solved its problems.

Coach Al Wilkerson's Eagles began the dual meet phase of the season with an impressive 119-39 victory over area rival, Willow Run.

"Our jumpers did very well, taking the first three positions and our vaulter nearly cleared 13 feet in his first attempt," Wilerson said."

Sophomore Donald Grandison won the high jump competition with a leap of 6 feet, 4 inches and vaulter Rodney Summers set a school record when he cleared 12 feet.

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

If you are thinking of buying a car with an air conditioner, remember that factory installation is preferable to an after-purchase addition. This is because the unit is built into the car, out of sight and out of the way. Furthermore, an air conditioner usually requires a larger engine and heavy-duty support from the cooling system, battery, alternator and suspension, and these should be factory-installed with it. A more sophisticated version, with automatic temperature control, can be set to maintain a preselected year-round temperature. There are a variety of air conditioning systems on the market, however, which can be installed satisfactorily in any car at any time in the future, should your car not have a factory installed unit.

Quality air conditioning units and auto accessories of all types for both foreign and domestic cars are available at KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster. Our knowledgable staff offers fast, friendly and expert counter service and will be happy to help you select the parts needed for your particular car. We also have a full inventory of automotive tools. Expert machinists in our shop turn brake drums, grind valves and rebuild engines. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m., and on Saturdays until 5 p.m. Bank Americard and Master Charge are accepted.

CAREER CORNER

High school seniors can help "guarantee the future" by enlisting in the United States Army under the Delayed Entry Program.

The program enables qualified people to go on active duty up to 270 days after the date of enlistment. Thus, a senior or recent graduate can enlist for the Army, be guaranteed a job skill and be free to complete academic requirements or fulfill other obligations.

The program is limited to high school graduates or those expected to graduate.

Information on this and other Army offers is available from local Army representatives. Telephone numbers can be found in the Yellow Pages under "Recruiting," or in the White Pages under "U.S. Government."

Righetti: 'Crucial meet for us'

Monroe blocks Wayne's title track

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

With Fordson behind them and defending champ awaiting them, Wayne Memorial's thinclads are preparing for a showdown with Monroe for the early Great Lakes 8 Conference lead.

"Monroe is a crucial test for our team," said Ernie Righetti, the Zebras' sophomore head track coach. "If we can get past them, we will have a clear road to the league championships."

The two teams will meet Thursday at Monroe.

Righetti figures a victory over the Trojans also will boost Wayne's stock for an undefeated dual meet conference season. Though Wayne has won the league title — in 1972 the first year of the league's inception — it has never had a perfect league season.

Glenn hosts East in opener

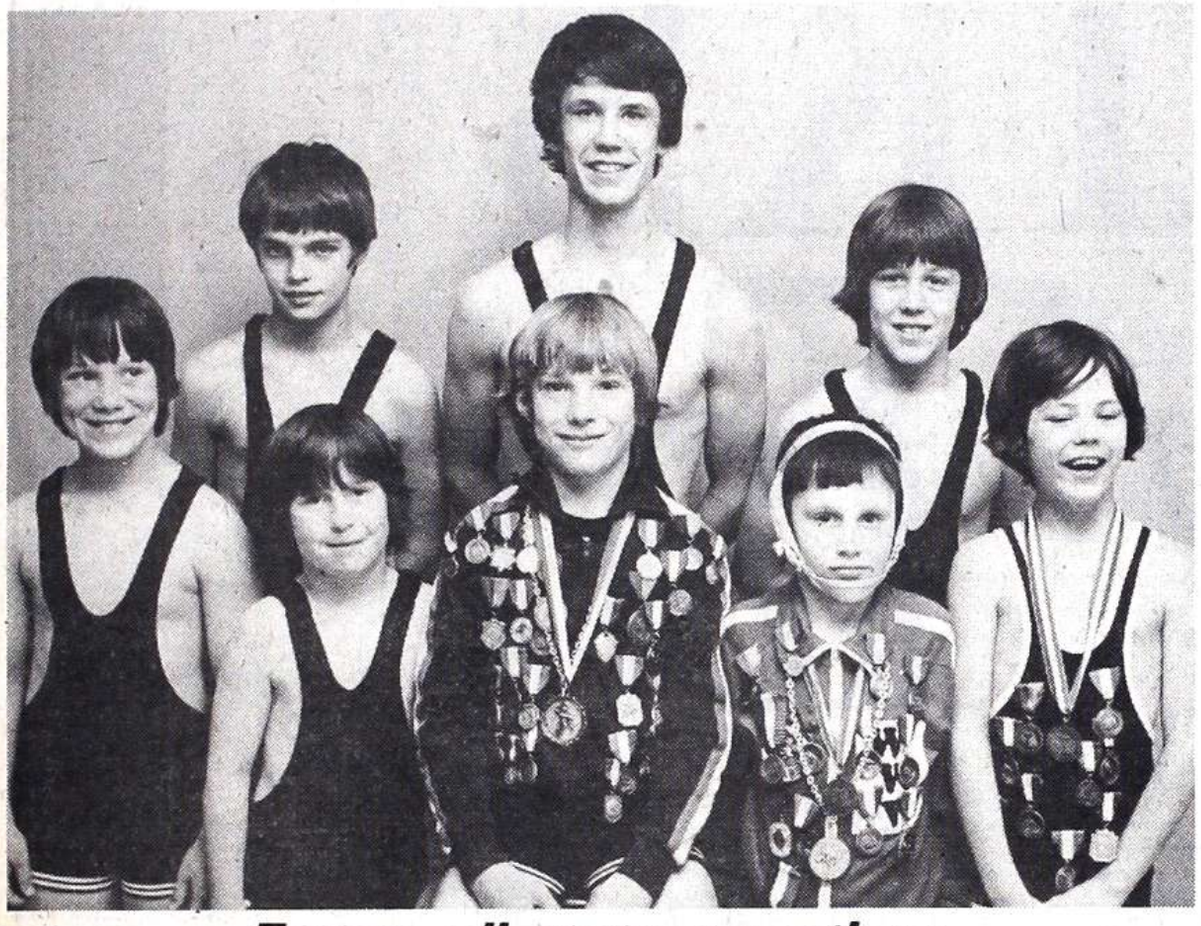
Glenn split with Ypsilanti last Tuesday, losing 8-6 in the opener but rallying to a 3-2 victory in the second game. Bednarski was tagged for the loss as he was charged with all eight runs. He also collected two for four — one a solo homer in the sixth. Martin chipped in two singles in three trips.

Bill Robertson went the distance in the nightcap, striking out eight and walking five.

Glenn scored one run in the fourth on Bednarski's single, an error and Borke's run-scoring hit. The Rockets went ahead 3-2 in the fifth as John Mervyn singled, was sacrificed to second by Dave Kay, then Linhoff singled, putting runners on second and third.

Grabowski's single chased home both baserunners.



Future all-state wrestlers

This motley crew of Wayne-Westland Wolverine Wrestling Club members have already carved out for themselves a reputation of being excellent wrestlers. The group recently competed in the U.S. Wrestling Kids' state tournament and returned with various medals. Look for them to also be tough when they reach the high school level. Members of the team include: (Front row, from left) Tom Forchione, Mike Conbiy, Robb Paciooco, John Godzina and Dan Schimansky; second row are Melvin Richendollar, Keith Zimmerman and Dan Forchione.

Romulus splits in first two games

Whether Romulus coach Dennis Stoh can come up with the right serum to isolate the Dr. Jekyll from the Mr. Hyde in his baseball team, it's going to be an "up-and-down year for the Eagles."

"We played like Jekyll and Hyde in our first two games," said Stoh. "One good game and one bad game."

The "good one" was a 6-3 victory over Cherry Hill in the season opener. Texas transfer student Bill Suggs went the distance and tossed a 7-hitter, striking out seven and walking two Spartan batters.

Mark Buck, who worked the last three innings in relieve of starter Mike Doyle, was charged with the loss. Doyle left the game in the fourth with the score tied at 1-all.

Mike Williams' two-run single in the fifth after Kelly Summerfield and Jeff Fraze had walked gave the Eagles a brief 3-1 cushion, however, Cherry Hill tied it up again in the sixth on a two-run single by Mark Snyder.

Suggs aided his own cause in the sixth as he sparked a three-run rally with a single, was sacrificed to second by Eric Moore and Summerfield's double chased home both runners.

Fraze then got an RBI when he singled home Summerfield.

Cherry Hill's Mark Lipinski had a perfect day at the plate as he drilled three hits and scored twice.

Ypsilanti exploded for seven runs in the second inning to build up a 9-0 lead against the Eagles and hand pitcher Mike Marsiglia his first loss of the campaign.

Four singles by Stan Venier, Summerfield, Fraze and Don McMann paved the way for Romulus' two runs in the third.

"Don't judge our team by its last performance," warned Stoh. "We're a much better team and Marsiglia is a better pitcher, however, we have four games this week and they will tell me a lot about this year's squad."

Romulus sets tourney date

Softball teams looking for some action can find it at the annual Romulus slow-pitch open tournament scheduled for May 20 through 30.

Any men's softball team presently registered in a league or any newly composed team, with a 20-player limit roster, is welcomed to compete.

Games will be held at the Elmer Johnson Park, Ozga Road, between Wick and McBride, in Romulus. There is a limit of 32 teams.

Registration fees are $75 per team which covers the costs of officials and purchasing of equipment. Deadline to enter is 4 p.m., Fri., May 6.

Further information may be obtained by calling the parks and recreation department at 941-0666, extension 67.

3 in row for Glenn net team

Crushing Garden City West 7-0 and earning a 5-2 decision over Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Westland John Glenn remained undefeated in three outings in tennis this season.

"We're looking good," said Don Alrich, Glenn's net mentor. "However, we have the league season ahead of us and I feel we'll see just what we're made of when we start the Northwest Suburban competition."

Franklin thinclads right on schedule

Taking 14 out of a possible 16 events against Garden City East, Livonia Franklin tossed its hat into the title rink last Thursday.

Holmes pointed out "that we received some excellent performances and we're right on schedule."

Grasley came to that conclusion Saturday when his team finished seventh in a field of 29 at the annual Detroit Country Day Track & Field Invitational.

"I felt we would have done better if our team was at full strength," Grasley commented. "We were without Bryan Coughenour and Mike Minor."

Coughenour, one of the top high jumpers in the area, and Minor, a vaulter, sidelined with an eye injury after his first vault Saturday, would have given the Spartans enough points to put the pressure on Benedictine.

Benedictine won the meet with 43 points — Cherry Hill had 21.

Clarence Guyton accounted for 13 of the Spartan points as he won the high hurdles in a record-setting Spartan time in 14.8. The winning time also established a Cherry Hill record for the event.

Guyton also took three fifth places, winning medals in the 330-yard low hurdles (41.5), in the 220-yard dash (23.9) and the long jump (20'11¼").

The Spartan 880-yard relay team of Ivy Gregory, Ken Wilson, Daryl Gallant and John Ireland finished fourth in 1:36.7, and the mile relay team also placed fourth thanks to Ireland, Gallant, Mark Hagedon and Charles Hodi who were clocked in 3:37.8.

Jerry Markley turned in the sixth best time for the 2-mile run (10:03.4) while Mark Hagedon hit the finish line sixth in the 880-yard run (2:06.7).

Cherry Hill, owner of the last four conference titles, launches the defense of its crown Thursday as host to Melvindale. The Spartans will compete in the Elks Relays Saturday at Glenn.

Glenn breezes past Robichaud

Westland John Glenn, the defending Northwest Suburban Conference champs and one of the area's top track powers, captured 11 events en route to a 105-53 nonleague victory over Robichaud, the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champ.

Jeff Preston, an all-area gridder, and Cliff Williamson accounted for four of the Rockets' first places. Preston won the 330-yard low hurdles in 31.2 and also leaped 5 feet, 6 inches to take the high jump.

Williamson's leap of 19 feet, 1 inch stood up as the top performance in the long jump and his 51.6 for the 440-yard dash was best time in the quarter-mile.

Meet results: Westland John Glenn 105, Robichaud 53

Merit Sparks Low Tar Boom!

Since its introduction, MERIT has become one of the most popular new cigarettes in twenty years.

The kind of flavor smokers can switch to—and stick with.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1977

Kings: 8 mg. "tar," 0.5 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Dec. '76
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

Tests Prove Taste

MERIT and MERIT 100's were both tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes. The results proved conclusively that 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco does boost taste without the usual increase in tar.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar! Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Home prices to drop?
In the last year, the median price of an existing home went up 6.6%. And, that was a small increase compared to the 10% increase of recent years. Remember, homes may seem high now, but they're an investment that will start appreciating for you immediately.

Mortgage interest rates to come down?
They might — but it's not likely. Even assuming a slight drop, your dollar savings could be wiped out by the increased cost of buying your home later.

More money in your savings account?
As long as inflation continues to surpass the interest paid out on savings, and you continue to pay tax on your earned interest, you'll come up a loser.

Your landlord to lower the rent?
Nice idea, but dream on!

If you truly want a home of your own — one that you can build equity in —

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY. DECIDE NOW!

AUTO CARE 77

Have a care free vacation in 77

Before leaving for your trip whether it will be long or short the following should be checked:

- BRAKES Pedal should be firm and cannot be pushed against the floor. Brake lights should light up when pressure has been applied to brake pedal.
- TIRES Tires should have good tread, no cuts, or imbedded objects in them. Tires should be properly balanced and have proper amount of air in them.
- LIGHTS Turn signals, instrument panel, parking, front and rear side markers, taillights, and license plate lights should all work. The highbeam on your headlights should work. Also make sure your hazard flashers work.
- HORN Make sure your horn works. When needed, your horn can help you avoid an accident.
- LOCKS Locks on your car should work.
- SEATBELTS Seatbelt latches should open and close easily and stay secure when closed.
- VISIBILITY All mirrors should be securely fastened in place and properly positioned. Windshield wipers should function properly. Make sure you have fluid in your washer reservior.

As a final precaution, check your emergency equipment such as sparetire and jack, road flares and first air kit.

Spring-summer—time to put car in tune with world

If you are an astute observer of the car care picture, you realize that there are no wrong answers to the question. For other than purchasing a newer car, there is no better way to improve your car's performance than getting a thorough, professional engine tune-up.

Up until recently, the tune-up was virtually a discretionary service or one to be performed when engine condition deteriorated so badly that the car couldn't start or continually stalled in traffic.

But unlike a disabled car, the world doesn't stand still.

We are quickly absorbing the painful lesson that the black liquid that flows from the Middle East and other locations is not as abundantly and cheaply available as it once was.

First, political instability in the world makes oil a fragile, black pawn in international conflict.

Secondly, even if there were no threatening crises on the threshold, the supply of oil is dwindling.

Therefore, if America and the rest of the industrial world wants to do business as usual, they have to pay close attention to ways of preserving the oil supply.

It is estimated that if all U.S. cars were tuned, 300,000 barrels of fuel could be saved daily.

This wasted fuel, incidentally, is costing you and your fellow U.S. car owners an additional two billion dollars a year.

Of comparable importance to the world's well-being is the role tune-up assumes in keeping the environment clean. Only a few years ago, the symbol of a flourishing society was the smoke stack, indicating busy industry. Now, we have learned of the dangers to human health and to natural and man-made assets that come from air pollution. Up until recently, the car has been a contributor to air pollution.

New systems minimize emissions

Lately, the car makers have devised systems to minimize harmful emissions. But these systems must be maintained to stay effective. And the engine tune-up, be it performed voluntarily or mandated by governmental agencies, is the least costly way to keep pollution levels manageable.

As previously stated, tune-up also makes "good citizens" out of cars and their owners in other ways.

With the added hours of pleasurable driving the upcoming spring and summer seasons offer, there is no better time than now to take your car in to your favorite service outlet for a tune-up.

So, do your car and yourself a service — a tune-up service.

Simple car care quiz reveals major need for engine tune-up

The chief benefit of a tune-up is:

A. Better gasoline mileage
B. Quicker, more trouble-free starting
C. Better pick-up and passing power
D. Fewer harmful pollutants emitted

A GRAPHIC CHANGE HAS TAKEN PLACE IN the old family buggy over the past 75-years. In the beginning the trip through town was frought with the peril of a motor car breakdown. As the industry evolved, breakdowns were reduced and the auto companies begain to place more emphasis on satisfying growing customer demand for personal comfort. Today's automobile represents just one more step along the road of continued improvement. In years to come, the autos of the '70's will appear to be just as primitive as those of the '50's do now.

MRS. CATHERINE "KAY" Butler makes an appointment to have a car brought in to her Tune-Up Experts service center in Portland, Ore. She started the business to cater to female car owners who felt uneasy when talking to mechanics about repair work.

Fleet owners also come to her for regular service

Two years ago, Catherine "Kay" Butler was just another housewife who dreaded taking her car in for service. Today, she is the owner of a successful tune-up center in Portland, Ore. that caters to female car owners.

"I knew other women felt as uneasy as I did talking to service managers and mechanics about repair work we didn't understand," Mrs. Butler states as the reason she went into business.

"That's why I wanted my service center to be a place where women could relax in pleasant surroundings while they wait, be confident the work was being done properly and feel free to ask questions." Her service center, Tune-Up Experts, is exactly that.

Every part of the facility reflects the woman's touch. In the spotless office, customers can sip coffee on the house, read the latest issue of Cosmopolitan or Ladies Home Journal while relaxing in soft,

Tune-up rated as tops on car care list

Elements, benefits of service told by veteran car mechanics

Most car owners know you must put in new spark plugs, says the expert.

But if the car isn't running right, most people don't know what of several things is causing the trouble.

That's when it takes somebody who knows what he is doing to tell exactly what's wrong.

Spark plugs are only the beginning of what should be included in a standard minor tune-up.

This article is all about the why, how and importance of tune-ups on modern, good automobile performance.

The mechanic, his once-blue uniform smeared with grease and faded from countless bleached washings, comes through the garage door, chomping simultaneously on a cigar butt and a toothpick as he ambles in your direction. He draws nearer and you can almost read a name encircled in red over his left shirt pocket, but by then your heart is beating so fast you can't put the individual letters together in your mind. He removes the cigar, shifts the toothpick with his tongue and leans down close to you, a small smile cracking the edges of his mouth as he pronounces sentence...

"YOUR CAR NEEDS A TUNEUP!!!"

It sounds like perfect material for a nightmare, and for many car owners it has become just that. The mere thought of a tuneup of that mysterious tinkering with the even more mysterious inner workings of the automobile, leaves many a motorist in panic.

Public lacks knowledge

The stereotypes, however, no longer fit the computerized mechanics' trade, and the panic is the result of a general lack of knowledge on the part of many car owners.

"You do get into a panic situation with a lot of people," admits Buster Birdsong, service manager at Richmond Chrysler-Plymouth Corp. "but it's because they don't understand the details of what it is and why it's needed. And then, when you try to explain what's involved, a lot of people still ask, 'can't you fix it without doing all that?' and things like that.

"A lot of it is that people don't want to get involved with it, some just don't want to understand," added Birdsong. "An owners' manual is given to them when they get the car, but most never read it or anything else to know how a car should work, or what should be done to it, or what kind of maintenance it needs, or anything."

Should read manuals

The tuneup goes right at the top of the list of automotive maintenance requirements. It is, by far, not the only periodic maintenance required, but it does rate as one of the most important for a

Your cooling system can make it hot for you

The car owner who neglects his cooling system is more vulnerable than ever to car trouble.

This statement from Car Care Council is based on a study by a major manufacturer of car coolants involving about 1,200 cars. The results showed more than a third of the three-year-old models checked had products of corrosion in their coolants.

The percentages were: One year old: 22 percent; two years old; 32 percent; three years old: 36 percent. None of the cars checked was an "old" car.

The same survey showed that, on average, nearly half the cars checked needed some kind of cooling-system service: One year old: 35 percent; two years old: 49 percent; three years old: 53 percent. What has been happening is a fairly simple story: the need for smaller more efficient cars has imposed a need for smaller engines.

To achieve performance comparable with that offered by the "standard" car of the past, designers have had to make today's engines work harder. And when an engine works harder, it generates more heat.

About a third of the heat produced by today's internal-combustion engine must be taken away from the engine block and transferred safely to the outer air...this is the function of the cooling system.

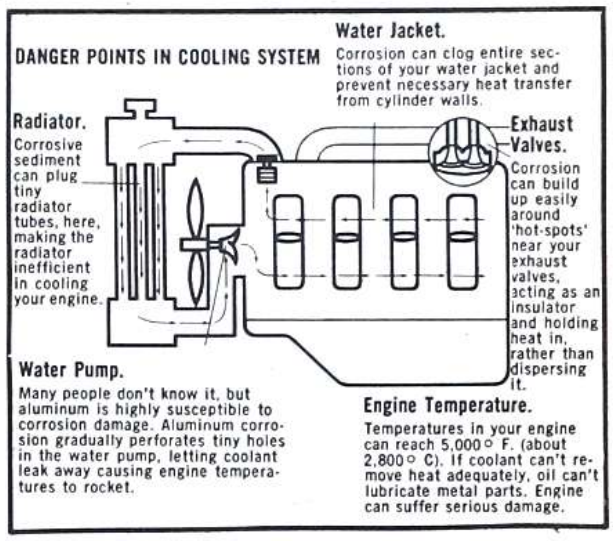
Since engines work more efficiently and give more miles per gallon at higher rather than lower temperatures, designers have resorted to pressurized systems in which the radiator cap plays a major role. So, too, does the kind of coolant used to transfer heat from the engine to the radiator where it can be passed to the surrounding air.

A coolant with ethylene glycol as its base not only protects the engine against freezing but against boiling, too. In fact, what for years has been called "anti-freeze" now has to be an anti-surge, anti-foam, anti-steam, anti-corrosion, anti-boil "anti-freeze."

If a 50-50 mixture of water and a reliable brand of coolant is used in a system pressurized to about 15 pounds per square inch, the boiling point is raised to about 265 percent F (about 129 degrees C) and the freezing is lowered to about - 34 degrees F (about - 36 C).

Car Care Council points out that the old idea of a "permanent" coolant is obsolete. Certainly, a high quality coolant mixed with water in that 50-50 ratio will continue to provide protection against freezing year after year. However, the higher engine temperatures of the modern car will break down the corrosion inhibitors in the coolant much more quickly than in past years.

Consequently, the Council suggests you flush your car's cooling system and change your coolant once a year, preferably before that summer vacation trip.



The fresher your plugs the better your mileage and performance.

What do spark plugs have to do with mileage and performance? A spark plug is what starts the burn of gasoline in your car's engine. The better the spark, the better the burn, and that means better mileage and performance.

How can you tell when it's time for fresh plugs? A plug should be good for 10,000 to 12,000 miles. After that, it's probably time for a replacement.

Could you just clean your plugs? Cleaning helps, but will not restore a plug to its new condition. Your best bet for better mileage and performance is with a fresh set of Champion spark plugs.

Your auto's battery often winter's victim

Of all car components, the ravages of winter weather take their heaviest toll on the battery. While the battery is in no position to take a vacation during balmy spring and summer months, it should be given special treatment so that it might live to serve another winter.

Battery manufacturers give the following advice on determining how much life is left in your battery.

1. With the engine off and the ignition switch in the accessory position, press the turn signal lever. If the click you hear is slower than when the engine is operating, it's a sign your battery is below normal power. Dimming of lights also indicates problems.

2. Corrosion around the case and terminal may indicate possible battery trouble.

3. Water being required too frequently or one cell needing more water than the others may also be warning signals.

Original equipment batteries can be expected to last about 36 months or 36,000 miles of ordinary driving. Beyond that period, the battery may be living on borrowed time.

The most reliable method of determining a battery's condition is to give it a hydrometer test. The hydrometer reveals the concentration of sulphuric acid which affects the state of charge in each battery cell.

A fully charged battery will give a hydrometer reading of 1260 or higher specific gravity. A reading of 1210 or lower indicates the battery needs recharging. A reading which indicates a greater variance of more than 50 degrees between cells means a new battery is needed.

Do-it-yourself repairs

Do-it-yourself car repairs may be a worthwhile hobby. They may even save the car owner money. Yet, according to the National Safety Council, unless the amateur mechanic is careful, he can squander any savings on unexpected medical bills.

The Council warns:

You can be crushed, electrocuted, burned, bloodied, blinded or asphyxiated while working on a vehicle. To avoid such injuries, the Council advises:

•Never under any circumstances crawl under a car being supported by a bumper jack. Even when changing a tire, it is unwise to put an arm or leg under the vehicle.

•When working with an electric appliance such as a trouble light, make certain the appliance is sound and that no water or oil is in the work area.

•Be careful when working around a hot engine. When changing oil filters or spark plugs, wear protection for your hands and arms. Also refrain from using gasoline as a cleaner.

Professional tune-up ensures performance

For other than purchasing a newer car, there is no better way to improve your car's performance than getting a thorough, professional engine tune-up.

Up until recently, the tune-up was virtually a discretionary service or one to be performed when engine condition deteriorated so badly that the car couldn't start or continually stalled in traffic.

We are quickly absorbing the painful lesson that the black liquid that flows from the Middle East and other locations is not as abundantly and cheaply available as it once was.

First, political instability in the world makes oil a fragile, black pawn in international conflict.

Therefore, if America and the rest of the industrial world wants to do business as usual, they have to pay close attention to ways of preserving the oil supply.

It is estimated that if all U.S. cars were tuned, 300,000 barrels of fuel could be saved daily.

This wasted fuel, incidentally, is costing you and your fellow U.S. car owners an additional two billion dollars a year.

Of comparable importance to the world's well-being is the role tune-up assumes in keeping the environment clean. Only a few years ago, the symbol of a flourishing society was the smoke stack, indicating busy industry. Now, we have learned of the dangers to human health and to natural and man-made assets that come from air pollution. Up until recently, the car has been a contributor to air pollution.

New systems minimize emissions

Lately, the car makers have devised systems to minimize harmful emissions. But these systems must be maintained to stay effective. And the engine tune-up, be it performed voluntarily or mandated by governmental agencies, is the least costly way to keep pollution levels manageable.

As previously stated, tune-up also makes "good citizens" out of cars and their owners in other ways.

A car that bogs down on a busy freeway at rush hour due to ignition failure does not endear itself to the thousands of other owners it may inconvenience. And a car that lurches into the passing lane attempting to pass and not having the necessary power is more than a nuisance; it's a threat to life.

Time now for spring tune-up

With the added hours of pleasurable driving the upcoming spring and summer seasons offer, there is no better time than now to take your car in to your favorite service outlet for a tune-up.

So, do your car and yourself a service — a tune-up service.

CP 300
The CPI CB System

The philosophy underlying our entire CPI system was, building the most advanced and versatile CB equipment ever to be offered. Equipment and instruments that would find an enthusiastic reception among the growing number of truly serious CB users and enthusiasts, and that would reflect their technical know-how and on-air performance demands.

- Advanced technology RF pre-amp gives optimum db boost with exceptionally low 1.5db noise figure (same as our Range Plus, a 59.95 accessory).
- Exclusive CPI tuned RF-type noise blanker is a built-in standard, not an "extra".
- High power JFET mixer virtually wipes out cross-inter modulation.
- The best, most effective squelch available.
- Automatic receiver RF gain control uses a PIN diode attenuator for unequalled strong signal performance.
- Built-in logarithmic speech compressor.
- 8-pole crystal filter (-80db adjacent channel rejection) on both AM and SSB is an unequalled industry first.
- Superior, built-for-CPI TURNER microphone has built-in pre-amp with fingertip manual gain control operation.
- 100 percent American made.

AAA demonstrates driving

An economy driving demonstration conducted by Automobile Club of Michigan shows that motorists can stem what could be a record-setting gas consumption year by using conservative driving techniques and practicing good maintenance.

To help combat an alarming rise in gas consumption, Auto Club conducted a test with two identical cars that showed conservative versus jackrabbit driving can result in a 60 per cent increase in miles per gallon of gas.

The cars, 1977 Chevrolet Caprice Classics equipped with one-gallon test beakers, were driven over a 10-mile long freeway and city street course in the Detroit area.

One car was driven with jackrabbit techniques while the other, which started the course at the same time, was driven conservatively. The test was supervised for Auto Club by Detroit Testing Laboratory.

The poorly driven car finished the course only 25 seconds ahead and obtained 10.04 miles per gallon while the other vehicle obtained 16.3 miles per gallon. Over a 10,000-mile year, Auto Club projects that the good driver would save $222 in fuel costs compared with the bad driver.

Two persons car pooling to work daily would save 25 per cent on the fuel used

Car Care Quiz

There is an old joke definition that says: A camel is a horse that was designed by a committee. Perhaps the reason the modern automobile runs so well is that it was not designed by committees but by the ingenious pioneers who often worked alone.

The basics of car design are still pretty much the same today as they were over a half-century ago.

1. BRAKE SYSTEM. A spongy feeling when you apply the brake pedal could mean all but the following:
   - A. Air in the brake line.
   - B. Tires are underinflated.
   - C. Worn parts in the master cylinder.

2. IGNITION SYSTEM. Worn spark plugs can contribute to all but the following:
   - A. Oil contamination.
   - B. Hard starting.
   - C. Poor fuel consumption.

3. ELECTRICAL SYSTEM. You install a new battery but you continue to have starting problems. A likely reason is:
   - A. You haven't replaced cables and they are badly worn, dirty or poorly connected.
   - B. The new battery is for an eight cylinder car and you drive a six.
   - C. Your engine is low on oil.

4. COOLING SYSTEM. Your car is overheating. All but one of these is a probable cause:
   - A. Your thermostat is defective.
   - B. Your radiator hoses are deteriorated.
   - C. It's summer and you haven't replaced your anti-freeze with water.

5. SUSPENSION. Shock absorbers generally need replacement:
   - A. After 25,000 miles usage.
   - B. Every six months.
   - C. Only after an accident.

6. EXHAUST SYSTEM. Because of the new catalytic converter:
   - A. It is no longer necessary to worry about mufflers.
   - B. Only unleaded gasoline should be used.
   - C. The tail pipe has become obsolete.

7. TIRES. When buying new tires, which statement is true:
   - A. Never mount a steel belted radial tire on the same axle as a conventional tire.
   - B. Always mix a radial tire with another type for longer wear.
   - C. It doesn't matter.

8. LIGHTS. You notice your headlights are dimming. All but the following are possible causes:
   - A. The bulb is burning out.
   - B. The battery is weakening.
   - C. Alternator trouble.

9. DRIVE TRAIN. To protect critical engine parts, the oil filter should be changed:
   - A. Annually.
   - B. Weekly.
   - C. When oil is changed.

10. CARBURETION. According to the National Automotive Parts Association (NAPA), a carburetor should be cleaned:
    - A. With every car wash.
    - B. Every 5,000 miles.
    - C. Every 20,000 miles.

Faulty car brakes usually send warning signals

Unlike a tire that suddenly goes flat without a warning, your car's brake system often gives you ample notice that danger is imminent. Learning how to recognize those warning signals may give you time to correct the situation before a crisis occurs.

The action of your brake pedal is a good barometer of brake condition. A low brake pedal indicates need for fluid in the master cylinder or a brake adjustment.

Fading brake pedal action could mean badly worn or glazed lining or contaminated brake fluid. If extreme pressure is needed to stop, a sticky piston in the wheel cylinder or master cylinder, pinched brake hoses of lines may be suspected.

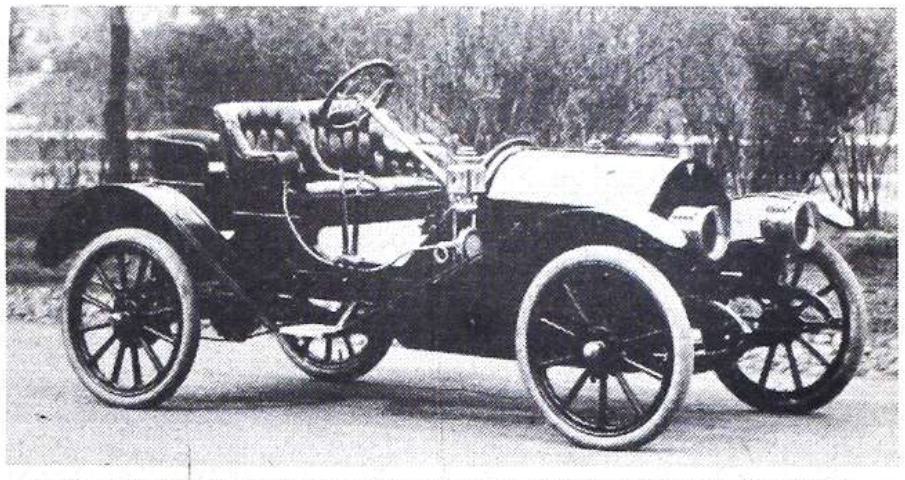
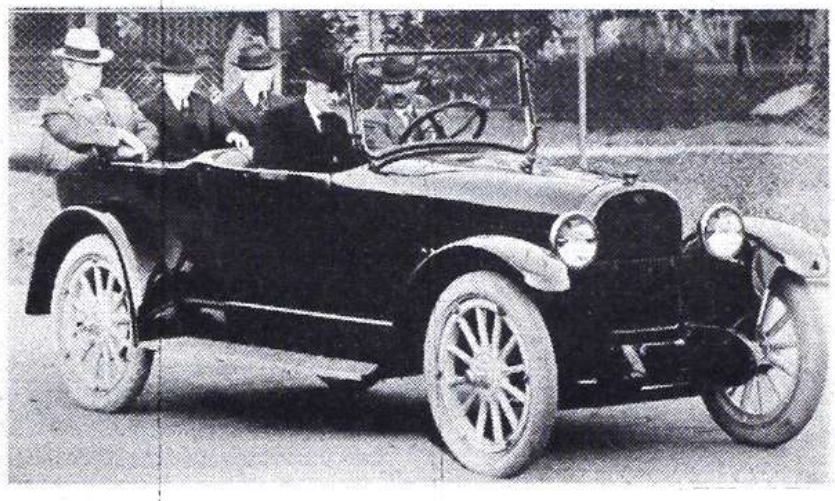
In any case, have your car's brakes checked every 10,000 miles.





The first Hudson (top), built in Detroit in 1909 by Hudson Motor Car Company, was an immediate success. A powerful car for its day, it sold for less than $1,000. From 1909 to 1954, Hudson produced more than 3.7 million cars. The first new model offered by the Nash Motors Company of Kenosha, Wisconsin (bottom) also was quickly accepted. Charles W. Nash, company president from 1916 to 1937, is shown at the wheel. From 1918 to 1957, nearly 3 million Nash cars were built. Nash and Hudson merged in 1954 to form American Motors.

Filters a must today for both coffee and cars

People who wouldn't think of smoking an unfiltered cigarette or drinking unfiltered coffee realize the benefits these filters can offer. Perhaps not as well known is the importance of the filters that help protect cars from premature wear and poor performance.

AIR FILTER — The role of the air filter is to keep abrasive dust and dirt out of the carburetor. When clogged with dirt or punctured, the result may be rough idle, poor gas mileage and producing excessive pollutants. Air filter should generally be changed as part of a tuneup every 10,000 miles.

OIL FILTERS — prevent sludge, metal particles and other contaminants from reaching critical engine parts. It is generally recommended that oil filters be replaced with every oil change.

GAS FILTERS — These keep water and foreign particles from reaching the fuel system. They usually require replacement at 12,000 miles.

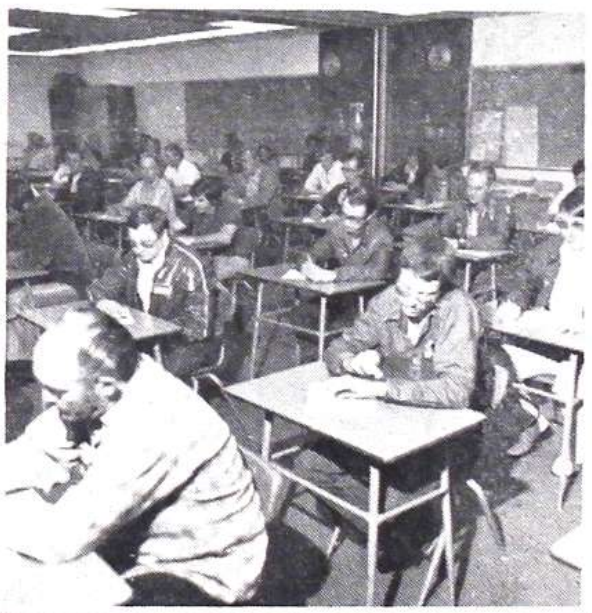
Use AC in winter

Keeping a car's air conditioner off in winter and during other times it's not needed may seem like just plain common sense. But an air conditioner should be run for a few minutes a month all year long. Doing so helps preserve the compressor which needs the "lubrication" from the freon gas coolant.

Better mechanics today

Today's motorists are the benefactors of state legislation requiring minimum standards in on-the-job knowledge by auto mechanics.

After years of howling over being gouged by some unscrupulous automobile repair garages, drivers are now being given more of a "fair shake" in their attempts to have whatever is wrong with their car properly repaired.



But, the new legislation also is a boon to the mechanics themselves. Not only will they become better prepared to fix customer cars, but the satisfaction derived from pleasing motorists who come to them will do much to earn those who do a good job a great measure of respect from the general public.

Although assailed in the beginning by some mechanics, the requirement of more strict education for auto mechanics is a two-way street which benefits both sides of the business transaction involved in getting an automobile repaired.

The goodwill generated by the "new image" attained by auto mechanics will have the added bonus of attracting more young men and women into following a career of repairing cars.

Thus, the new legislation hopefully is the first in a series of steps that will upgrade auto repair to such an exact science that customer complaints will become a thing of the past.

Playing the odds extend your car's life

You don't have to live in Las Vegas to benefit from playing the odds. The odds are great that any given car operating in today's complex driving situations needs some basic services.

Proof of this contention comes from results of a nationwide series of tests conducted by a leading spark plug company. More than 5,500 cars in 32 major cities from coast to coast have already been checked by engineers.

Primary purpose of the tests was to determine how maintenance or lack of same affects fuel economy and emissions. Visual and electronic checks were made on components such as spark plugs, contact points, condensers, secondary wiring, distributor caps, rotors, carburetors and PCV valves. Vacuum and mechanical advance also were inspected as basic timing voltage available and voltage required.

Three out of every four cars checked needed service for one or more of the above-stated items.

In addition to ignition, fuel, and engine related items, engineers examined condition of batteries, tires, belts, air filters, radiator hoses and oil levels.

Odds on needing service and-or replacement on these items are:

AIR FILTER — 1 to 2. Over 35 percent of all air filters examined were dirty.

OIL — 1 to 2. Almost one car out of three was at least one quart low on oil.

BATTERY — 1 to 5. Over 20 percent of all batteries checked needed attention such as dirty or corroded cables or terminals.

TIRES — 1 to 6. More than 14 percent of all cars checked had tires worn or otherwise damaged to apoint where replacement was indicated.

HOSES — 1 to 9. Over 10 percent of the radiator hoses checked were due for replacement.

AAA Economy driving

weekly by each person. Car pooling for other near-home travel, such as shopping, would save even more fuel.

Six steps to save fuel without cutting down on travel are suggested by Auto Club:

1. Drive at moderate speeds. Most cars get about 21 per cent more miles per gallon on the highway at 55 miles per hour than they do at 70 m.p.h.

2. Accelerate smoothly — save engines, tires and gasoline.

3. Drive at a steady pace — avoid stop-and-go traffic.

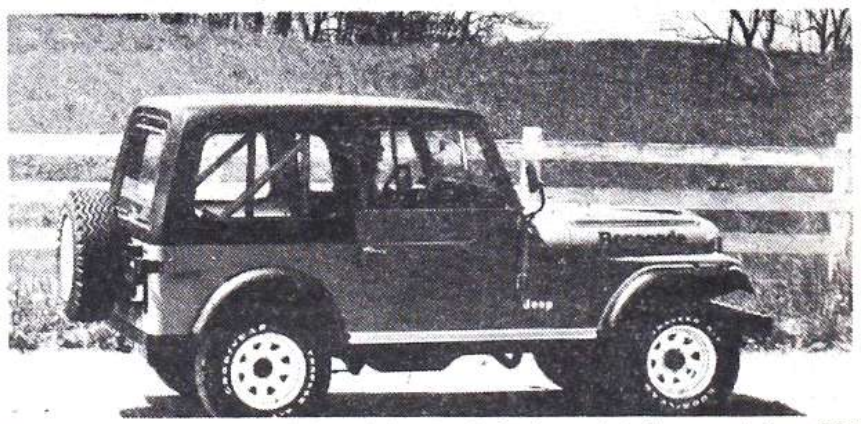
4. Minimize braking — anticipate speed changes. Release the accelerator as soon as a red light is visible ahead.

5. Don't weave in and out of traffic lanes.

6. Do not let the motor idle for more than a minute if temporarily stopped at a curb. Turn off the engine. It takes less gas to restart than to ide the engine more than a minute.

While both cars used in these tests were in similar mechanical condition, a number of studies indicates that maintenance is an important factor in fuel economy. For example, a previous AAA study reports a tune-up can result in an immediate nine to 15 per cent increase in gasoline mileage.

"Once you've had your car tuned, don't forget about it," AAA advises. Attention to proper tire pressure, radiator temperature and brake adjustment also helps save gasoline, AAA comments.



The ruggedness and dependability of the original Jeep that helped the allies win World War II are carried over in the modern versions produced by Jeep Corporation, which became part of American Motors in 1970. Those who remember the wartime version (top) will be glad to know that the current Jeep CJ-7 model (bottom) is available with all the comfort and convenience features of a passenger car, including automatic transmission, Quadra-Trac full-time four-wheel drive, power steering and power disc brakes—and hardtop.

Federal safety systems fully explained

Much of the safety equipment on your car was mandated by the Federal Government but it's up to you, the motorist, to make sure the devices continue to do their job.

Except for some exertion in fastening lap and shoulder belts, the safety features require little effort on your part. However, that doesn't mean that regular maintenance or inspection should be ignored.

The Automative Information Council consulted one of the auto industry's pioneers in the vehicle safety area for his recommendations. He is Roy Haeusler, who even has earned the plaudits of the industry's severest critics. Haeusler, who retired as a safety engineer, was wearing belts long before they become the law of the highway and always wears a safety helmet.

Seat and shoulder belts are one area you don't have to be concerned about.

"The belts on your car are good for the life of the car," Haeusler says. The webbing has been subjected to prolonged periods of artificial radiation to determine how they resist brilliant sunlight. The belts withstood all tests."

In the past year, seat belts used in the southwestern part of the country for many years were removed for inspection. They passed federal standards by a wide margin.

It's still a good idea to check the belt retractors, according to Haeusler. He cautions:

"You can't check shoulder belts on newer cars by tugging at them. You have to slam the brakes and that should lock the belt. A speed of 15 to 20 miles an hour would be enough for the test — but be sure nobody is driving in back of you."

He warned that seat belts with retractors should be examined to determine whether additional webbing can be pulled while the belt is being worn.

Some other safety device tips:

Steering column

Energy absorbing steering column: Even the slightest vertical movement in the column calls for a service check. Two small, hidden capsules hold the column rigid, but give way in the event of a crash.

Lights

Lights: It's a simple matter to see if they all glow but an owner frequently misses the flasher system that warns other traffic when a car is stalled. The flasher should be blinking half the time as opposed to an inconsistent pattern. This is especially important in daylight so the flasher can be seen. Inconsistency means the flasher is approaching its last blink.

Head rest

Head rest: Haeusler concedes this device has generated controversy over its merits but he favors it and urges front seat passengers to raise the head rest to the proper height. If the heat rest should come down when the car is driven over a bump or a railroad track, it obviously needs tightening.

Doors

Door latches: Their job is to keep the passengers from being thrown from the car in the event of a collision. Statistics prove the chances for survival are greater if the passenger remains in the car. Latches should keep the door closed even when the lock button is "up." Some latches, in time, become "hair-triggered" and even a slight bump against the door or the door handle can cause the door to fly open. The handle or lever should move at least a quarter of an inch before it releases the latch and opens the door.

Door locks: The lock buttons can become faulty and there may be times when you think the door is locked, but it isn't. This is particularly true of power door locks. Occasionally, check the doors on the outside to make certain they lock properly.

Seats

Seat latches: There are safety standards on seat strength but the latching mechanism should keep them firmly in place — enough to hold fast in a 30-mile-an-hour crash. Obviously, it can't be tested too easily. If you can move the seat by applying body pressure, it isn't latching and is dangerous if the car is moving.

Parking brake

Parking brake: Owners of cars with manual transmissions use this equipment, especially when parking on a slope. It can become "hair-triggered" in time and release when a passing car causes the parking vehicle to sway. Releasing the brake should require a firm effort.

Safety checks on tires, foot brakes, steering, etc., have been necessary since the first single-cylinder runabout made its American debut before the turn of this century.

Today, we have dual braking systems on all cars. If one system goes, you still have sufficient braking to bring your car to a halt.

Finally, the safety expert notes the growing popularity of sun roofs and warns owners to make sure the roof is properly latched — especially if you don't wear seat belts.

Winter-ravaged auto deserves spring clean-up

The car that weathered the big winter storms of '77 deserves a spring clean-up and some cosmetic pampering to help preserve its beautiful body and interior.

To guide owners with an automotive beauty treatment in mind, here are 13 tips, starting with the interior:

1. Most car upholstery fabrics are treated with soil-resistant finishes that make dirt sit on the surface. Prevent loose dirt from working into the fabric by frequently vacuuming. Or keep a whisk broom in the glove compartment and brush frequently, unless fabric has raised tapestry threads that brushing could damage.

2. To clean the new velours and other fabric upholstery or auto carpeting, vacuum loose dirt and treat stains. Then use foam cleaner or a mild detergent or soap. Apply suds first to an inconspicuous area to be certain it won't damage color or finish. Rub sparingly with a sponge into small area at a time. Wipe off excess suds and moisture, first with a damp cloth, then a clean, dry cloth.

3. Clean vinyl or leather upholstery with suds from a bar of mild, nonalkaline

Belts and hoses need your attention

Neglected belts and hose can cause a lot of trouble if they are allowed to deteriorate. A loose V-Belt can cause your engine to overheat, your battery to run down and accessories such as air conditioning and power steering to malfunction.

A burst or leaking coolant hose will cause the loss of expensive coolant or possible destruction of your engine due to overheating.

Most belts look fine on the top even when they are in terrible condition. So when you check your car's V-Belts, make sure you look at the belt sides and bottom. Here's what to look for:

1. Cracks on the underside of the belt can enlarge as the belt flexes. Cracked belts can break without warning.

2. Glazed belt sidewalls may slip and fail to grip the pulley properly. This can cause a discharged battery, engine overheating and premature belt failure.

3. A grease- or oil-softened belt with slick sides increases wear and slippage.

4. A belt that is frayed or peeling at bottom corners can cause rough running. The belt may break or flip off without warning.

5. Split belt — the top may look good but the under sections of the belt have separated. The belt may soon fail.

While you are checking the condition of your belts, make sure they are correctly tensioned. A loose belt will cause slipping and slippage causes key components — fans, alternator, water pump, etc. — to slow down thereby affecting their performance. Checking belt tension is relatively easy. As a "rule of thumb", tension is considered sufficient if the belt cannot be pushed down (deflected) more than about ¼" with your thumb placed on the belt midway between the pulleys.

Heed red lights!

Whenever any red light lights up on your auto's dashboard, don't hesitate. Go to the nearest car dealer, private garage or gasoline service station.

These lights are included in your car as a preventitive to serious damage happening to any of its hundreds of parts. Paying attention to these warning lights can save you possibly hundreds of dollars in repair bills.

So, don't be a know-it-all by putting it off for a couple of days or waiting until you happen to be in the vicinity of a car repair facility. Those lights are there for a reason and that reason is not to be argued with!

Check those brakes

Any time your car brakes fail to function properly, better stop at the first available service station and have the system's fluid level checked. Operation of your hydraulic braking system is absolutely dependent on a proper fluid level in the master cylinder.

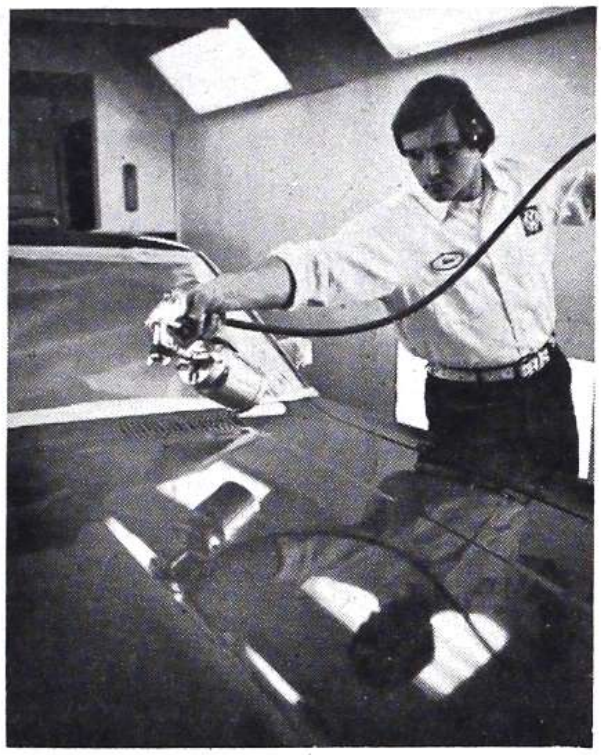
New York survey indicates



QUALITY PAYS — A fresh coat of paint applied by a well-equipped and experienced body shop can renew most vehicles to near new condition for extra years of pleasurable use. It will likely pay for itself at trade-in time too. Whether it be a complete refinishing job, or repair of accident damage or rust look for cleanliness, up-to-date equipment and professionalism in the shop you choose. Ask to see previous work. Quality work costs more, but is well worth the investment. (Photo courtesy of The DeVilbiss Company.)

Wide-spread needless auto polution exists

State-wide auto emissions tests show that 45 percent of New York State automobile owners are needlessly polluting the air and wasting gasoline, according to Commissioner Peter A. A. Berle of the Department of Environmental Conservation.

"Some 80-85 percent of the polluters could meet State standards for auto emissions and save money by simple, inexpensive carburetor adjustments," Commissioner Berle said. "Any garage can test a car at idle to check the carburetor."

Tire specs confusing

Knowing the correct tire size used to be the only criterion for purchasing new rubber for a car. But the wide variety in tire construction, designation and ratings has made tire shopping somewhat more complicated.

Therefore, the Rubber Manufacturers Association (RMA) offers some tips on buying tires.

Never select a size smaller than those which came with the car. Tires of different size designations, construction and stages of wear may adversely affect handling and road stability.

For best all-around car handling performance, tires of the same type of construction should be used on all four wheel positions unless designed to serve a special function such as snow tires.

Save fuel
By the numbers

Six steps to save fuel without cutting down on travel are suggested by Auto Club:

1. Drive at moderate speeds. Most cars get about 21 per cent more miles per gallon on the highway at 55 miles per hour than they do at 70 m.p.h.

2. Accelerate smoothly — save engines, tires and gasoline.

3. Drive at a steady pace — avoid stop-and-go traffic.

4. Minimize braking — anticipate speed changes. Release the accelerator as soon as a red light is visible ahead.

5. Don't weave in and out of traffic lanes.

6. Do not let the motor idle for more than a minute if temporarily stopped at a curb. Turn off the engine. It takes less gas to restart than to idle the engine more than a minute.

Periodic lube job essential to car health

"For the want of a nail..." begins an old saying that traces the fall of the kingdom to a missing horseshoe nail. Substitute the word lubricant for nail and your car could be immobilized.

While car makers recommend chassis lubrication at differing periods, the service should not be neglected. Lubrication and periodic alignment are virtually the only services required by your car's steering system, which includes the steering linkage, steering arms and ball joints.

TELLTALE LEAKS MAY SPELL TROUBLE

WITH HALF A DOZEN FLUIDS AFFECTING THE SAFETY AND DEPENDABILITY OF YOUR CAR, A LEAK CAN MEAN TROUBLE.

WHAT'S THE BEST WAY TO FIND OUT IF AN OMINOUS DRIP IS SERIOUS? SLIDE A NEWSPAPER UNDER THE AREA OF THE CAR WHERE YOU'VE DISCOVERED THE LEAK AND LEAVE IT THERE OVERNIGHT.

TAKE THE PAPER TO YOUR MECHANIC. AFTER EXAMINING THE FLUID, HE PROBABLY CAN TELL YOU IF THE LEAK IS COMING FROM THE TRANSMISSION, ENGINE, RADIATOR, BRAKES, POWER STEERING, REAR AXLE OR GAS TANK.

Here are a few tips from professional drivers that can greatly increase your gasoline mileage:

- Avoid prolonged idling such as at a railroad crossing. It's far more economical to shut off the engine.
- Slow down from your usual speed, keeping a light, steady foot on the gas pedal.
- Check tire pressure regularly. Underinflation especially hurts fuel economy.
- Avoid jackrabbit starts. Do the same for sudden acceleration while driving.

Receiver interference provides clues

If you prefer your snap, crackle and pop with breakfast cereal rather than your CB radio receiver, then listen to this advice. The condition of your car can affect the quality of CB reception.

According to David L. Walker, Champion Spark Plug Company technical services director, the type of interference you hear on the receiver gives a clue to its source by its characteristic sound.

A popping sound which increases in tempo with higher engine speeds and stops instantly when the ignition key is shut off at fast idle originates from the ignition system.

+++

High pitched, musical whine that increases in frequency with higher engine speeds and does not stop instantly when the ignition key is shut off at fast idle has as its source the generator or alternator.

+++

A ragged, rasping sound that occurs at an irregular rate, usually heard in conjunction with the generator or alternator whine, is caused by the vibrator type voltage regulator. It does not stop instantly when the ignition is turned off at fast idle.

Hissing, crackling or clicking sounds that occur irregularly and are usually worse on rough roads usually stem from dash board instruments such as fuel gauges.

+++

An irregular popping or rushing sound occurring only in dry weather when driving at high speeds originates from the wheels or tires. The sound disappears when the brakes are lightly applied.

+++

To eliminate these RFI signals, a variety of suppressors are available. Also, good care of the components involved could eliminate the unwanted noise.

Air and water vital to your car

In these days of rising costs of buing and maintaining a car, two necessary items remain virtually free. The air and water for tires and cooling system respectively are still available at no cost.

While recognizing this fact, maintenance experts remind motorists that, even in year-round warm weather areas, water alone will not adequately cool your engine. Extra heat generated by more powerful engines, automatic transmissions and air conditioning requires a coolant with a higher boiling point than water.

A 50 per cent mixture of coolant anti-freeze and water is recommended for cooling systems in most areas.

To assure fire power

Making sure your car's battery is properly filled with water will go a long way toward prolonging its life and assuring trouble-free functioning for a multitude of modern accessories which depend upon electrical power.

Also of vital importance is cleaning battery terminals and cables at periodic intervals to ensure an uniterrupted flow of electrical voltage from the battery.

Tuning up a car takes half the time that it used to because of a computer designed by United Technology called Autosense.

Bringing this innovation to the Dearborn area is the A.B. Computer Tune-Up Inc., at 25325 Ford. The firm is headed by Othniel Bednarz, president, and Neil Bednarz, vice president and general manager.

Getting the check-up is easy. In the garage cables leading from the computer are hooked up to various parts of the car. Within 30 minutes the mechanic can tell what is not functioning well on the car or what parts will soon malfunction.

There are three main tests offered at the garage. They are: a general health test (32 tests), a tune up (48 tests) and a total check (60 tests). Customers can opt for the packages, or ask for any separate tests.

The procedure is to run tests and then try to repair what they can. "We're in the repair field, but we're also here to diagnose the car," Neial Bednarz said.

"This Autosense is the machine of the future," Bednarz said. "If I didn't believe in it, I wouldn't be doing this."

Checks can be run on any foreign or domestic ar, regardless of its age. Cost for the check is $14 for a general check and $20 for a tune-up, not including parts replacement.

A.B. Computer Tune-Up Inc. is open Monday through Sunday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. It is located on Ford, one block east of Gulley.

THE CHEVROLET CORVETTE, renowned as America's only authentic sports car, marked a historic milestone today as Corvette No. 500,000 came off the assembly line at the G.M. Assembly Division plant in St. Louis, Mo. The half millionth came some 23 years, eight months and 15 days from the day the first fiberglass bodied Corvette was built at Flint, Mich., on June 30, 1953. The contrast between that 1953 model (top) and the 1977 version (bottom) is evident in these photos.

soap or special leather or vinyl cleaner. (Some vinyl upholstery cleaners also clean vinyl tops).

4. To remove water-based stains (ketchup, milk, ice cream, coffee, some candies), use dull-edged knife to remove as much substance as possible. Wipe with a cloth dampened with warm water. If stain persists, rub lightly with cloth wet with cleaning fluid.

5. Scrape oil-based stains (butter, mayonnaise, grease, lipstick) with a dull knife. Use solvent-type spot cleaner. Start outside and work to center to avoid leaving ring. Blot up excess and loosened oils with clean white paper towel.

6. Chewing gum or tar should be hardened by chilling with a cube of ice. Then proceed as for oil-based stains (see tip No. 5 above).

6. White stains left on carpeting by salty snow and slush can be removed by vacuuming, then careful work with a stiff bristle wire brush. For stubborn stains, apply a solution made with one cup of table salt to a quart of water. Wash off with foam-type upholstery cleaner.

'Every one knows that a car runs better after it has been cleaned'

8. Vinegar cuts the film on inside and outside glass. Use two tablespoons to a pint of water.

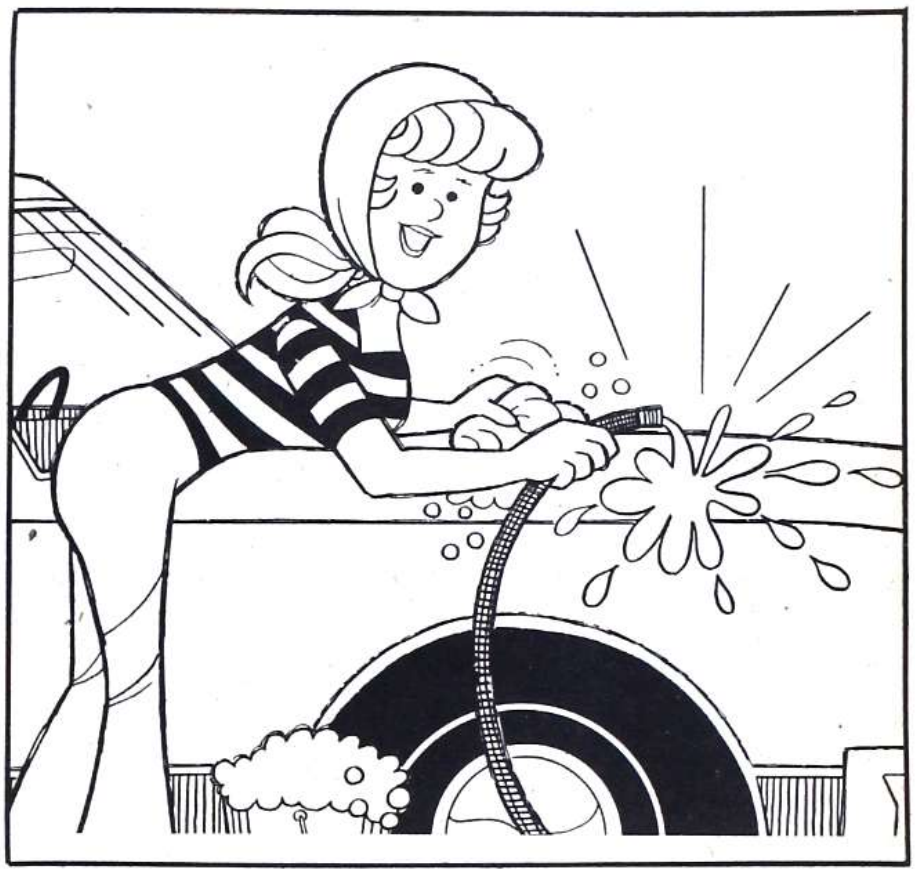
9. Mud and corroding road salts can be removed from unseen spots at a do-it-yourself car wash. Aim the warm, pressurized soap spray from the hose underneath the car, particularly at fender wells, rocker panels and inside surfaces of bumpers.

10. The liquid soap that relieves dishpan hands (not strong dishwashing machine soaps) helps the do-it-yourself car washer by preventing water spots.

11. Don't wash the car in the sun or when paint is hot. After soaping and rinsing, don't wipe with a dry cloth. It can scratch the paint surface. Use a damp towel or squeezed-out chamois.

12. To restore showroom shine to an older car, use a cleaning paste or liquid specifically recommended for deeply inbedded grime. Then apply polish. A one-step cleaner and polish will do for a newer car with only a mild coat of road film.

13. A daub of wax over a small break in paint stalls spread of rust. Better yet, treat with a touch-up paint coded to your car's color. Put a minimal amount of paint on the touch-up brush and stroke lightly.



YOUR PRIDE AND JOY not only looks better clean, it also seems to run better. There is no argueing with the fact that a clean car always seems to ride a little smoother, handle a little better, and feel a whole-lot better. Proper car care is essential for the long life that all of usewish for our Auto's. Take a few minutes each week and give your vehicle a new lease on life.

Tune-up tops list

The tuneup involves the two major areas — ignition and carburetion — that supply the impetus to make everything else in the automobile work. The carburetor supplies a mixture of gasoline and air, and the ignition supplies the electrical spark to ignite that mixture and begin the energy train that eventually turns the wheels and propels the car.

"I think the majority of car owners know that you have to put new spark plugs in, I think they know that," explains Clyde Griffin, service manager at Dick Strauss Ford, Inc. "But if the car isn't running right, of course most people don't know what's causing it, and there could be three of four things in the tuneup that could give the same signs. That's when it takes somebody who knows what he's doing to tell exactly what's wrong."

Here's the beginning

The spark plugs are only the beginning of what should be included in a standard minor tune-up. Distributor points and condenser, air filter, fuel filter and PCV (positive crankcase ventilation) valve should all be replaced, battery terminals cleaned, spark plug wires, ignition coil and distributor cap and rotor inspected (and replaced, when necessary), and the carburetor, choke and ignition timing adjusted.

"I'd say there is probably somewhere in the neighborhood of 50 or 60 percent of the cars on the road today need maintenance work on them, and almost all of it would be right in the tuneup area," explained Birdsong, who added that the motorists are only hurting themselves by not getting the proper maintenance.

Why the need

"You just don't have the power in today's cars like you once had," Birdsong added. "The octane on gas has been lowered, engine compression has been cut way back, rear ends are geared higher for better mileage, and it all means you need to keep a car really right to keep it running right."

In addition to running smoothness, accelaration and consistency, failure to have proper tune-ups can have drastic effects on pollution and gas mileage. Any misfiring in the ignition system (due to wear or carbon buildup) leads to an overabundance of fuel in the affected cylinders, and the fuel eventually finds its way into the exhaust discharge.

"There's always a question of just how often a car needs a tune-up, and you just can't draw a line at any certain amount of time," Griffin said. "A lot of people get them tuned up religiously, right according to the owners' manual every 10 or 12,000 miles, and then you have a lot of people who don't have them tuned up until they start running badly."

Time to tune-up

Generally, however, the 10- to 12,000-mile area seems the one most generally prescribed by manufacturers, but even these figures can be misleading.

While safety equipment on cars need maintenance, one item that requires no care is the seat belt assembly. Therefore, owners can always buckle up with assurance, according to safety engineering experts.

Housewife tune

"This is where I do my thing," Mrs. Butler says as she points to a "Sidewalk Superintendents Welcome" sign on the office wall. "I try to make our customers feel at home, answer their questions as best I can and explain what we're doing to their car."

She admits her mechanical knowledge is limited, but talks with pride about her chief mechanic, David Chun, "who is on a first-name basis with everything under the hood."

"I call David my resident genius," she says. "He does the actual work but is also very helpful in explaining to a customer what's wrong with the car and how it should be fixed."

Mrs. Butler's service center specializes in tune-ups and minor repairs but she has developed another business evaluating used cars for women who want to know more about a car before they but it.

"This is one thing I preach loud and long — have a qualified mechanic give any used car the once over before the deal is signed. Too often, women are more concerned about how a car looks rather than how it runs. Color is secondary. It's the motor that gets you around town."

She is also very specific when it comes to the value of periodic maintenance. "Just being a woman is no excuse for letting a car fall apart from neglect. Change parts at recommended intervals, keep the oil level full, use the proper fuel, check the brake pedal for fade, make sure the lights work properly and the battery cells are full, and check the pattern wear on the inside of the tires. These are all simple checks that anyone can make."

While a significant number of Tune-Up Experts' customers are women, Kay Butler does not discriminate. "Men customers with balky engines are welcome anytime. In fact, we have some fleet accounts and taxi cabs that come in for tune-ups and preventive maintenance on a regular basis."

Evaluating the success of her new business, Mrs. Butler says, "All in all, the first two years have been a lot of fun and an occasional headache. But one thing I know for certain: I don't have to worry where to take my car the next time it needs a tune-up."

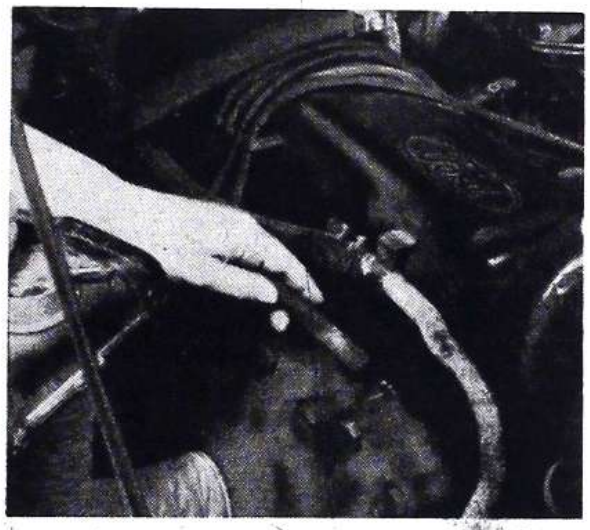
Six easy steps to change your spark plugs

STEP ONE — Basic tools required to change plugs are a flex-handle ratchet wrench with a spark plug socket (and possibly an extension for hard to reach plugs) and a gapping tool. It is also advisable when changing plugs to wear older clothes that are easily cleanable. Before changing the plug, you may want to remove the air cleaner assembly (on top of the carburetor) for unobstructed access to the spark plugs and wires.

STEP TWO — Before changing plugs, you must know where to find them. Follow the spark plug wires that lead from the distributor cap to the plugs themselves. (Again, there is one plug for every cylinder in your car. Do not confuse the wire that fits on the top center of the distributor for a plug wire. It is the coil wire.) Once you have identified the plug wires, remove one by grasping it gently at the boot (the point at which the wires attach to the plug). Never yank on the wire itself. Twist the boot and pull it off the plug. NOTE: Disconnect the wires one at a time when each individual plug is changed. This will help you avoid reconnecting a wire to the wrong spark plug.



STEP THREE — Before removing the spark plug, free the area around the plug of all dirt and debris. An effective way of accomplishing this is to take a small section of rubber hosing and blowing the dirt away. This step is extremely important since foreign matter entering the cylinder through the plug hole can do great damage to the engine.

STEP FOUR — To remove each spark plug, attach the socket to the wrench handle and place the socket firmly on the spark plug. NOTE: If you encounter great resistance when you attempt to loosen the plug, the reason may be the engine is too hot and the plug threads have expanded. It is always a good practice to work on a cool engine to avoid possible burns. Once the plug is nearly out, you can disengage the socket from the ratchet handle and finish removing by hand.

STEP FIVE — Before installing the new plug, make sure each is gapped correctly. Your owner's manual could tell you what the proper gap setting is. (A common setting is .035".) Take your gap feeler gauge and run it between the ground electrodes of the plug. The electrodes should neither be too tight nor too loose but should fit snugly at the right gap setting indicated on the gauge. The side electrode can be easily bent to create just the right cap opening.

STEP SIX — When replacing plugs, place the new plug in the socket and begin the reinstallation job with your finger. When the plug is in the hole securely, then re-attach the ratchet wrench and tighten. Do not tighten too snugly but merely to the point the plug is in so securely that it will not wobble. Re-attach the spark plug wire and repeat the process for the remaining plugs in the engine.

Quiz will test your auto knowledge

Questions are among the easiest selected from a sample text created by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, the agency responsible for certification of automotive mechanics.

Incidentally, a list of men who know the answers to these questions may be found in the "Where to Find Certified Mechanics for Your Car" directory. It lists repairs establishments of technicians who meet NIASE standards. To order the directory, send $1.95 to NIASE, 1825 K Street, Suite 515, Washington, D.C. 20006.

See correct answers at the bottom.

1. AN ENGINE IS USING TOO MUCH OIL.

Mechanic A says that worn valve guides could be the cause.

Mechanic B says that tapered cylindered walls could be the cause.

Who is right?

(A) A only.
(B) B only.
(C) Both A and B.
(D) Neither A nor B.

2. WHICH OF THESE STATEMENTS IS (ARE) TRUE ABOUT A LIQUID COOLING SYSTEM?

(1) A thermostat that is installed backwards will cause the engine to run at a lower temperature than normal.

(2) A radiator pressure cap that is not fully seated will cause the coolant to boil over at a higher temperature.

(A) 1 only.
(B) 2 only.
(C) Both 1 and 2.
(D) Neither 1 nor 2.

3. ALL OF THESE CAN CAUSE AN AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION TO SLIP EXCEPT:

(A) Hardened servo seals.
(B) Worn planetary gears.
(C) Plugged Sump filter.
(D) Faulty one-way clutch.

4. MECHANIC A SAYS too much clutch pedal free play may cause the clutch to drag when disengaged.

MECHANIC B SAYS not enough clutch pedal free play may cause the clutch to slip when engaged.

(A) A only.
(B) B only.
(C) Both A and B.
(D) Neither A nor B.

5. IN ROAD TESTING A VEHICLE YOU FIND THAT THE STEERING WHEEL SHAKES FROM SIDE TO SIDE AT HIGH SPEEDS.

Mechanic A says that static out-of-balance of the front wheels could be the cause.

Mechanic B says that dynamic out-of-balance of the front wheels could be the cause.

Who is right?

(A) A only.
(B) B only.
(C) Both A and B.
(D) Neither A nor B.

6. ALL OF THESE COULD CAUSE TIRE WEAR IF NOT WITHIN MANUFACTURER'S SPECS EXCEPT:

(A) Caster.
(B) Wheel balance.
(C) Toe-in.
(D) Camber.

7. A CAR LACKS STABILITY ON A LEVEL ROAD.

Mechanic A says that too much negative camber could be the cause.

Mechanic B says that too much positive camber could be the cause.

Who is right?

(A) A only.
(B) B only.
(C) Both A and B.
(D) Neither A nor B.

8. THE STEERING WHEEL OF A CAR IS NOT CENTERED WHEN TRAVELING STRAIGHT DOWN THE ROAD.

Mechanic A says that the steering wheel should be removed from the steering column and its position changed.

Mechanic B says that the steering wheel should be turned to center and the toe-in readjusted.

Who is right?

(A) A only.
(B) B only.
(C) Both A and B.
(D) Neither A nor B.

9. WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE MASTER CYLINDER CHECK VALVE(S) ON CARS EQUIPPED WITH DRUM BRAKES?

(B) To prevent air from entering the hydraulic system.

(D) To reduce pedal pulsation by controlling hydraulic pressure.

10. BOTH HEADLIGHTS ON A CAR ARE DIM IN HIGH BEAM AND NORMAL IN LOW BEAM. WHICH OF THESE COULD BE THE CAUSE?

(1) A poor headlamp ground.

(2) A shorted headlamp switch.

(A) 1 only.
(B) 2 only.
(C) Both 1 and 2.
(D) Neither 1 nor 2.

We have considered the cost of fast food restaurant condiments to be minimal. In each instance the cost of the frozen or deli supermarket items is less. It is virtually impossible to estimate the cooking time on the given items in relation to individual family size, but all of the items listed are the traditional convenience foods and therefore you would want to consider how much time you want to expend in relation to savings you would realize by eating at home.

PRICES EFFECTIVE APRIL 20-APRIL 26 1977. WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES.
